...ours the raid occurred. This bootlegger came in with a sack, then ran out empty handed just before Leavitt was taken at the back door."

Leavitt formerly operated a plumbing shop at Sawtelle, a suburb of Santa Monica. He retired from his shop some years ago but has worked for occasional stretches as a journeyman plumber since then. The Leavitts have a son 22 years old.

President Says Nothing.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Neither President Hoover nor prohibition headquarters had any comment to make today on dispatches from Santa Monica, Cal., telling of the arrest of C. Van Ness Leavitt, brother-in-law of the President, on a charge of possessing nineteen pints of liquor.

Theodore Joslin, secretary to the President, told newspaper reporters that so far as he knew the White House had not been informed of the arrest. Later, however, he called in representatives of the press and asked them for details regarding the seizure of Leavitt. Whether the President had been in communication with his brother-in-law was a question not answered.

Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition director, expressed surprise when informed that his men had arrested the President's relative. He denied knowledge of the arrest.

About the time President Hoover was being informed of the arrest, Edwin Dinwiddie, head of the national prohibition board of strategy, arrived at the White House for a conference on prohibition matters with Walter Newton, the President's political secretary.

FORMER ACTIVE RAIDER FINED FOR SELLING LIQUOR

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Adolph Michaux, once an active dry raider, who fined $200 in federal court today on charges of selling and possessing liquor. Michaux, who as a member of the prohibition brewery squad made many raids, later left the government service and entered the liquor business himself, running a speakeasy on the west side. Two years ago he was arrested in a raid on his place. He jumped $1,000 bail and disappeared. Recently he was located in Sandusky, O., and brought back here by federal deputy marshals.

Arrested in Rôle of "Fixer."

Dubuque, Ia., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Connie Wenner, 25, former undercover agent for Iowa prohibition forces, was jailed here today as a result of posing as a federal agent seeking to sell protection to bootleggers. Wenner several years ago served part of a ten year term for a roadhouse robbery and was later paroled. He is being held under $2,000 bonds.

U. S. HOTEL MEN CALL FOR REPEAL OF THE DRY LAW

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment was favored by 90 per cent of the members of the American Hotel association, who have replied to a questionnaire on prohibition, Frank Beland, president of the association, told members of the New York State Hotel association at the forty-fifth annual convention, held today at the Hotel Commodore.

Philip E. Rice, reelected president of the state association for the third year, pointed out that speakeasies have taken away more business from hotels than did saloons in the pre-prohibition era, partly because there are more speakeasies. Mrs. Mabel Jacques Eichel, representing the women's organization for national prohibition reform, urged the hotel groups to take a definite stand for repeal "in the interest of decency and sobriety."

ROTARY CLUB IS GIVEN PORTRAIT OF ITS FOUNDER

An oil painting of Paul P. Harris, founder of Rotary International, was presented to the Rotary club of Chicago by members of the club at the Armistice day luncheon yesterday in the Hotel Sherman. Mr. Harris, a Chicago attorney, who founded the Rotary organization on Feb. 23, 1905, and which has since grown to a membership of 3,500 clubs, was present at the meeting.

The portrait, which will be hung in the Veterans' room in the organization's headquarters in the hotel, was accepted by John N. Van der Vries, past president of the first Chicago chapter. The portrait was painted by John Doctoroff of Chicago.

Patriotic ceremonies were held after the presentation. Sydney W. Pascall of London, England, president of the international organization, spoke on "Rotary's International Efforts Towards World Peace." The international board of directors and presidents of the local clubs were guests of honor. More than 750 Rotarians attended the luncheon.

HUNTING HURTS FATAL TO MAYOR OF GOSHEN, N. Y.

Port Jarvis, N. Y., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Fred J. Strack, the mayor of Goshen, N. Y., died in St. Francis hospital here today of wounds received while hunting at Oakland Valley yesterday afternoon.

Mayor Strack was found lying in a road, partly conscious. In some manner he had discharged his gun as it was pointed at his side, and a gaping wound was found.

JUDGE DIGS INTO MYSTERIES OF LOST BAIN CASH

Vanished 'Brown Package' Interests Court Crowd.

The Bain bank inquiry took on all the features of a mystery melodrama yesterday. Two Pullman porters, mysterious witnesses, sat in the jury box. On orders of Judge Michael Feinberg they inspected all who testified, while the judge inquired concerning an undercover trip to Massilon, O., said to have been made by a principal in the case.

HARRY LIPPINCOTT

Throughout the day Judge Feinberg sought to trace the phantom "brown package" containing valuable securities which vanished last June 24 when John Bain, president of the closed twelve banks, walked out of his downtown office carrying the package under his arm.

Clews Elude the Judge.

The judge found no clews to the package. Neither did he discover any trace of the $1,600,490 which Bain was reported to have possessed eight days before his banks failed last June 9.

Among the disclosures at the hearing regarded as significant was the fact that Bain took a trip to Halifax several months before the bank failures. This journey, denied by members of his family at previous hearings, was readily admitted by them when the matter had been aired.

A "messenger boy" 50 years old provided the humorous element at the hearing. Attorney Harry Lippincott, representing the Bains, and Judge Feinberg engaged in two sharp clashes in one of which the name of former Senator Charles S. Deneen was introduced as a partner of Bain in a number of real estate transactions.

Listening breathlessly as these incidents were rapidly unfolded was a crowd which packed the courtroom to suffocation. The spectators were massed up to the rail guarding the attorneys' tables. At least 200 men and women stood all day, never leaving the courtroom for fear that they would not be readmitted. Outside in the corridor a long line waited.

Spike O'Donnell Faces Quiz.

The grand jury investigation of the Bain banks continued at the Criminal courts building. Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers said that he had called Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, south side gangster, for questioning. This action was taken despite O'Donnell's declaration, telephoned to the prosecutor, that he was opposed to "being dragged into" Bain bank matters and that he had no bank books.

A report was circulated at the Judge Feinberg hearing some days ago that O'Donnell had wrung an amount of money from Bain after the Bain banks closed. From other sources yesterday came the report that O'Donnell had several accounts in the Bain banks, some of which were closed before the banks failed.

The Pullman porters in the jury box before Judge Feinberg were not identified, but were asked to return for the next hearing tomorrow. They were first noticed at the afternoon session when John H. Bain, eldest son of John Bain, against whom true bills charging fraud are reported to have been voted by the grand jury, was called to the witness stand.

"Does the town of Massillon, O., suggest anything to you?" Judge Feinberg asked the younger Bain.

The witness seemed taken aback. He stared at the judge, then said:

"Not a thing. I've never been there."

Q.—I didn't ask you if you had been there. Have you any relatives or friends down there? A.—Not that I know of.

Q.—Look at those two gentlemen in the jury box [pointing at the two Negroes]. Do you recognize them? A.—I don't know as I do.

Inquires into New York Trip.

Judge Feinberg then inquired into a trip to New York made by John H. Bain last January. The witness said he had gone there in an attempt to get a position as manager of the Prudential Insurance company in Newark, N. J. He said he had not visited any bank in New York while on the trip nor visited any safe deposit boxes.

Q.—Did your father ever talk to you about the brown package? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Has your father in the last year taken any trip east? A.—No, sir.

Judge Feinberg repeated this question several times and the son answered in the negative. Then Attorney Lippincott stood up and said to the witness:

"Go ahead and tell him about that trip. Tell him all about it."

Still hesitant, young Bain complied. He admitted that the elder Bain had gone to Atlantic City "some time in March or April" to attend a Masonic convention. From there he had gone to Boston and then to Halifax. This statement was in direct opposition to previous testimony of John H. Bain, his brother, Robert, Miss Anna Eunson, former personal secretary to John Bain, and others.

"As a matter of fact, that trip was in the latter part of June, wasn't it?" asked Judge Feinberg.

Young Bain said he was certain the trip had been taken before the banks closed.

Q.—Did your father have $20,000 stock in the First National bank of Boston? A.—I have no knowledge at all of my father's financial affairs.

It was at this point that Attorney Lippincott had his first clash with Judge Feinberg. He interrupted the questioning to exclaim:

"What is this all about, your honor? These airplane trips, this talk of a brown package—secret railroad trips—I don't know where you get all these things."

"It's surprising where I get some of them," commented the judge, "but I am going to follow down every clew I get."

Robert Bain, younger brother of John H. Bain, was the next witness. He was asked the same questions concerning a trip to Massillon, and gave the same negative answers. He inspected the Pullman porters and was inspected by them. He said he had never seen them before. W. Marie Fisher, son-in-law of John Bain, was put through the same process.

Miss Eunson Recalls Trip.

Miss Eunson, summoned to the stand, said she now remembered the Halifax trip, but declared it was taken in September of 1929 or 1930. She also was positive that Bain had taken no trip out of town last June.

Robert Leslie, 6222 South Troy street, a man about 50 years old and six feet tall, who referred to another messenger in the Bain offices as "the other little messenger boy" gave the crowd a few laughs. He testified that he procured transportation for Mr. and Mrs. John Bain to Biloxi, Miss., last winter and also that he got a ticket to New York for John H. Bain last January.

Running through the list of securities reported to have been in John Bain's personal safety deposit box, to which Miss Eunson had access, Judge Feinberg came across a notation of Bain's automobile, value $3,100.

"I want that car for these depositors," said the judge to Attorney Lippincott. "How about turning it over?"

"No, sir," said the attorney. "There are a lot of other creditors entitled to it, too."

"I don't think it wise for Mr. Bain to be riding around in an expensive car under the circumstances," said the judge.

Deneen's Name Mentioned.

There followed immediately another clash between the lawyer and Judge Feinberg. The judge pointed to a notation of property owned by Bain at 63d street and Crawford avenue. There was the name "Deneen" written in after this notation.

"Is that the only real estate Senator Deneen had in partnership with Mr. Bain?" asked the judge of Miss Eunson, the witness, after she had declared the notation meant the former senator.

"I don't see why all this should be dragged in," protested Attorney Lippincott.

"If you press me for a reason, I'll give it," said the judge.

"I'm not pressing you but you can give your reason if you want to," said the lawyer.

"Well, you've forced the issue and you can blame yourself for it," said the judge. "I want to know if there is any more property that Senator Deneen and Mr. Bain were jointly interested in."

"Well, there is some more if you want to kno wabout it," retorted the attorney.

"I knew there was," responded the judge. "I didn't want to bring Senator Deneen's name in but you forced me to."

Ferd A. Kerbs, who had been trust officer at the West Englewood Trust and Savings bank [a closed Bain bank] was questioned extensively concering Bain's conveyance out of trust in the bank of two real estate mortgages worth $175,000. Evidence at the hearings has shown that these mortgages were pledged, by Bain, at the Continental-Illinois Bank and Trust company as security for a personal loan.

"Did John Bain pay anything to the [West Englewood] bank after he had conveyed those properties out of trust?" Judge Feinberg asked Kerbs.

"No," said the witness, "but he did take up about $90,000 worth of collateral bonds which had been outstanding as liabilities against the trust."

Obeys Orders, Right or Wrong.

Q.—You are a licensed attorney, are you not? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Yet you executed that deed and did not trouble yourself to find if you had the right to do so? A.—Yes.

Q.—You did what Bain told you to do, is that right? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Even though his request might be in violation of a trust? A.—Yes, sir. He was my superior.

John F. Nell, who had been the general auditor of the Bain banks until Aug. 31, 1930, was asked by Judge Feinberg to produce his records showing the financial condition of the banks from time to time. He was shown one of the "gold notes" of the John Bain, Inc., which have been declared worthless. He said he had only seen a few of them before.

Q.—In your audit of the Bain banks did you observe that second mortgages were often sold as first mortgages? A.—In a couple of minor instances. We attributed them to clerical errors.

Q.—The trifling error I'm referring to is a matter of $375,000. A.—I never noticed it.

THE MORNING SESSION

Long and persistent questioning by Judge Feinberg concerning the whereabouts of the "mysterious brown package" featured the morning session. All that could be elicited from the witnesses was that Bain had been seen to depart from his downtown office at 1 North La Salle street with the package of securities under his arm. He was alone. The time was 3 p. m. and the date last June 24.

In addition, each witness was asked if he had ever delivered a package for Bain at any time previous to the closing of the banks or had left town on an errand for him. All answers were in the negative.

John McCrimmon, the soft spoken "confidential man" to Bain, was the first witness on the stand at the opening of the morning session. He had testified previously that he had access to the safe deposit vault used by John Bain, Inc., and the judge asked him to prepare a list of securities which had been in the vault at the time the company went into receivership.

"Nothing Taken Away."

"Between the time that the Bain banks closed [June 9] and the failure of John Bain, Inc. [Aug. 7], were any securities removed from the safe deposit box?" the judge asked.

"Nothing was taken away," said McCrimmon.

Q.—Now, the brown package of securities removed from the downtown vault, so far as you know, it never went down to the West Englewood safe deposit box? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Can you give me any clew at all, any suspicion of where Mr. Bain took that package? A.—I haven't, unless it might be locked up in a steel cabinet in his south side office.

Answers Usual Questions.

Judge Feinberg did not pay much attention to this "clew." He asked the witness the usual questions, whether he had taken any trip out of town with Bain, whether he had delivered any packages for Bain shortly before the banks closed. He received the usual negative answers.

Mutters came from the depositors in the courtroom when McCrimmon admitted that he had drawn all his money out of the Bain banks "four or five days" before they closed. His balance at times had amounted to thousands of dollars, he said.

"What intuition led you to do that?" asked the judge.

"I needed the money," said McCrimmon.

"And you didn't suspect that the banks might be near to closing?"

"O, no!" exclaimed the witness. His expression indicated that he was shocked at this insinuation.

Miss Eunson Questioned.

Miss Eunson was called to the stand. She was first asked by the judge if she wanted to change her previous testimony. She said she did not wish to do so.

Then Miss Eunson caused the crowd to gasp when she revealed that she owed three Bain banks a total of $25,700 when they closed. She said she borrowed the money on her personal note and bought Bain bank stock, paying as high as $350 a share for some of the stock, which is now worthless. Her salary was $250 a month at the time of the bank failures, she testified.

Q.—Who advised you to buy that stock? A.—Mr. Bain, mostly.

Q.—You had no means outside of your salary, did you? With Mr. Bain's knowledge and sanction, you speculated in that stock, paying a top price for it in at least one instance? A.—Yes, sir.

GEORGIA METHODIST GROUP CALLS UPON CANNON TO RESIGN

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Resolutions calling upon Bishop James Cannon Jr. to resign his official connection with the church and calling upon the south Georgia conference, meeting next week, to "use its best efforts in bringing about" Cannon's resignation, have been adopted by the officers of St. Paul's Methodist church, one of the largest in Georgia, located at Columbus.

"We earnestly and strongly urge," the resolution said, "in the interest of Christian religion and the progress of the Methodist church for the church officials, bishops, presiding elders and ministers of the gospel to refrain from prostituting the pulpit by injecting politics therein in a political campaign."

U. S. GUARDS WOMAN WITNESS IN LIQUOR CASE AFTER THREAT

Assistant United States Attorney Edward A. Fisher last night requested that deputy marshals be assigned to guard the Glenview home of Mrs. Amelie Seifert, 40 years old, who testified yesterday against three Capone henchmen on trial before Federal Judge John P. Barnes charged with dry law violations. The three defendants are Martin Accardo, John Matteis, and Leo Shaffer. Following Mrs. Seifert's appearance in court she received an anonymous telephone call threatening her life, it was learned. Two deputy marshals were sent to her home.

Mrs. Seifert identified Matteis as one of the men who appeared regularly at the Sunnyside inn, on Waukegan road in Glenview, and forced her and her husband, owners of the inn, to accept consignments of liquor.

...LONE BLAMES ...MERSON F-OR ...OK TAX MUDDLE

...es Chicago Campaign for Governor.

...m H. Malone, former chair-... of the state tax commission, ...ses his campaign in Chicago for ... Republican nomination for gov-... but night, laid the tax muddle ...k county at the doors of Gov. ...erson and the boards of assess-... and review.

He charged that the two boards ...ded Chicago and Cook county into ... financial morass and that the ...ernor, "for political expediency," ...wrapped his arm around them and ...ed to make the old state tax com-...sion the scapegoat.

...Samuel R. Lifsinger and Charles ...A. Revell, reviewers, and Charles ...Crisdell and Charles Ringer, for-...er assessors whom Gov. Emmerson ...ousted to the state tax commis-...on last winter, were embraced in ...Malone's general onslaught, who ...included the legislature for ...failing its oath of office in the mat-...ter of reapportionment.

...After reviewing the 1927 reassess-...ment Malone referred to his resig-...nation last Jan. 7, an hour after he ...had listened to the reading of the ...governor's message to the assembly ...in which he failed to hear any mention ...of the state tax commission's recom-...mendations.

Tells Why He Resigned.

..."The 1927 assessment roll was ...given out by the courts as being ...permeated with corruption," he said. ..."I went to Gov. Emmerson with the ...recommendations of the state tax com-...mission calling for the abolition of ...the board of assessors and board of ...review in Cook county, who noto-...rious maladministration brought about ...the complete breakdown of the taxing ...machinery through tax fixing, favor-...itism, and fraud.

..."In his message he ignored the rec-...ommendations, and that day I handed ...in my resignation as chairman and ...said I would take it to the people ...as a candidate for governor.

..."Do you know what the gentleman ...did? He took two members of the ...board of assessors of Cook county, ...which had made the assessment of ...1927 which the Supreme court said ...was permeated with corruption, and ...reappointed them to the new state ...tax commission. He promoted them ...to the position of controlling the tax-...ation of the entire state."

Collect Hording Property, Charge.

..."Their names," replied Mr. Malone, ...are Charles Erutchoff and Charles ...Singer and they come from George ...Harding's district on the south side ...and the man they represent has 4,000 ...pieces of property to be protected ...while the colored people are stacked."

...Mr. Malone said his friends tell him ...his planks for reapportionment and ...abolishing the boards of assessors ...and review are not popular with the ...politicians.

..."I've been asked," he said, "what ...political leaders are with me. Well, ...would it be Fars Litsinger and Char-...ley Barrett, both of whom are re-...movers I had to take to the Supreme ...court. If Malone made any political ...deal with the board of review he ...would be unfit to be governor.

..."Is it only the Barretts and Crowes ...and Cuppos who can organize? Can't ...the people organize? I believe they ...can.

..."But we cannot have harmony in ...the Republican party and win in No-...vember by a combination of politicians ...who have been caught betraying pub-...lic trusts."

Opposes New Taxes.

...Charges in the taxing system which ...he has urged for years, he declared, ...are included in the recommendations ...of the governor's revenue commission ...in the special session of the legisla-...ture. "But the commission asks a lot ...of things I don't advocate," he said. ..."They want to find new means of ...collecting money from you. What we ...need, though, is honesty, economy, ...and efficiency, and not more money ...for the tax spenders to squander."

...In reapportionment Mr. Malone laid ...it down that the governor could solve ...the question which the legislature has ...obstructed for twenty years.

TRICK SUICIDE UNAVAILING TO DOCTOR DEBTOR

Dies, but Detectives Are Undeceived.

North Attleboro, Mass., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Dr. Frederick J. Carley, 53, received a call at 4:30 this morning to usher a baby into the world. He appeared cheerful as his wife made him a hot cup of coffee and he departed.

Four hours later his body was found in the garage which adjoins the basement of his pretentious residence. A single bullet, fired at so close a range that his clothes were burned by the powder flash, had pierced his heart. The lights of the car and of the garage were blazing.

No revolver was seen. His billfold, empty, and his checkbook, torn and crumpled, were on the floor. The pockets of his clothes were turned inside out, as if by a hurried searcher.

Murder, Police Said.

Police and coroner's officers pronounced it murder for the purpose of robbery.

But state detectives were not satisfied. On the farther side of the residence basement, hidden in a closed paper cone and lying in a hole in a rubbish heap, they found the revolver.

Dr. Carley, apparently after many experiments, had fastened the revolver to a long elastic cord, the other end of which was fastened to the basement wall.

Ingenuity All for Naught.

When Dr. Carley fired the fatal shot, the revolver left his hand, was jerked out of the garage by the elastic and across the basement into the cone. The impact closed the cone and dropped it and the revolver into the rubbish heap.

The door between garage and basement had been arranged to close automatically.

Investigation showed Dr. Carley was heavily in debt; mortgages which he could not meet were due and he carried $75,000 life insurance.

BROADWAY SEES 25 SAVED FROM BUILDING BLAZE

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Fire late this afternoon in the Lincoln Square Theater building, 66th street and Broadway, drove about 500 spectators out of the theater and gave the firemen a stubborn battle in the course of which about twenty-five persons were carried down ladders from offices above.

Traffic on Broadway and Columbus avenue, which come together at that point, was tied up. A crowd of thousands gathered to watch the spectacle. This was the second large fire in the same building within the year.

FIND LONG DEAD BODY OF MISSING PAL OF POWERS

Bluebeard Is Indicted for Five Slayings.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The body of a short, stocky man, believed to have been the sixth victim of Harry F. Powers, West Virginia's Bluebeard, was found in an isolated spot, one mile from Pinninnick mine, near this city, this afternoon. He has been dead many weeks. Friends of Stamatias Sfikas, 40, who is missing, after viewing the clothing and gold filled teeth, declared that it was Sfikas, and finding of a lodge card corroborated this identification.

HARRY F. POWERS.

At the same time a grand jury was bringing in five first degree murder charges against Powers, charged with the staying of two women and three children.

The body was discovered this afternoon by two Negro hunters. A canopy of vine and brush shrouded the grave. A .38 caliber revolver was found beside the body. There was a bullet in his head and Coroner Le Roy Goff declared it a murder.

Disappeared June 10.

Sfikas disappeared from his home here June 10, exactly five months ago. He told his wife he was going to post a letter and never returned. An exhaustive search was started several weeks later, and when Powers was arrested in the latter part of August, friends of the missing man accused Powers.

Sfikas was a close friend of Powers, who is accused of slaying Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher, Park Ridge, Ill., widow, and her three children, and Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke of Northboro, Mass., whose bodies were found near a garage owned by Powers at Quiet Dell, a suburb. Powers is now held in the state penitentiary at Moundsville for safekeeping following an unsuccessful attempt to lynch him here on Sept. 22 when he was a prisoner in the Harrison county jail.

Last Seen with Powers.

Sfikas was last seen in company with Powers, it was stated, by friends, as the pair was walking down a local street on the night of June 10. James Lover, Glen Elk, informed officers that he had seen Powers and Sfikas together several times a few days before his disappearance.

Sfikas was supposed to have had two $100 Liberty bonds and $30 in cash in his possession when he disappeared. On the body was found $85 and a check for $100, payable to Sfikas.

HELD ON SLAYING CHARGE.

Elmer Hess, 28 years old, of Highland, Ind., was held on a charge of manslaughter at the Homewood county highway police station last night in connection with the death of Thomas Hansen, 40 years old, of Valparaiso, Ind., who died last week in St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond, as the result of a fight at a drinking party.

MARRIED AGAIN

MRS. F. A. GUDGER.
(Marjorie Rambeau.)

Yuma, Ariz., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Marjorie Rambeau, stage and motion picture actress, made her third matrimonial venture here today when she married Francis A. Gudger, retired business man of Sebring, Fla.

Miss Rambeau gave her age as 39 and Mr. Gudger said he was 54. They left immediately after the ceremony for the coast.

The couple was married by Earl E. Freeman, justice of the peace, who yesterday performed the marriage ceremony for Gloria Swanson and Michael Farmer, Irish sportsman.

Mrs. Gudger's first husband was Willard Mack, actor and playwright, with whom she made her first appearance in New York in 1913 in "Merely Mary Ann." Her second was Hugh Dillman, an actor.

Last year she figured in a divorce suit filed by Mrs. Mabel Manton against William Kevitt Manton of New York. A suit for $100,000 against the actress resulted in a jury disagreement.

Mr. Gudger was an official of the Du Pont company and at one time served in the consular service in Panama. His first wife was killed in an automobile accident two years ago.

ELOPING PRINCE SPURNS KING CAROL'S SUMMONS

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Spurning the summons of King Carol, Prince Nicholas of Rumania and his new bride, Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj, were understood in court circles today to be staying at a villa near Bucharest, where they have been since their elopement.

King Carol, brother of the prince, was said to have requested Nicholas to come to the palace in Bucharest, but the latter sent his regrets. He refused to risk his brother's displeasure at being defied. Court circles now believe that the next move is up to Carol, who, of course, could order the prince's arrest or take even more drastic measures. He is not expected to act harshly, for his affection for his younger brother is proverbial and he has often said, "I owe the throne to him."

INDICT DREISER AND COMPANION FOR ADULTERY

Face a $50 Fine if They Return to Kentucky.

Pineville, Ky., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Theodore Dreiser, novelist, and Marie Pergain today were named in indictments returned by the Bell county grand jury, charging adultery at a hotel here during the novelist's investigation of coal mining conditions. The offense, a misdemeanor under Kentucky law, carries a fine of from $20 to $50 on conviction.

THEODORE DREISER.

The offense is not extraditable and authorities indicated no attempt would be made to serve warrants against the two unless they return to the state. Bonds were set at $200.

Dreiser, whose investigation was sponsored by the New York office of the National Committee for the Defense of Political Prisoners, issued a statement last night denying the charges and charging the indictment was a frameup to fight probable exposures to be made by Dreiser's committee.

AIRPLANE SIGHTS WOMAN AMONG 13 SEA CASTAWAYS

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—A new and touching picture of ten persons—one apparently a woman—drifting in a lifeboat, two men clinging to a makeshift raft, and another floating on a fuel drum in the storm whipped Caribbean sea while an airplane circled helplessly overhead was radioed here tonight.

The revised information was given Pan-American airways by its pilot, Capt. Frank Ormsbee, who sighted the castaways yesterday as he flew from Cristobal, Canal Zone, to Barranquilla, Colombia.

A rag fashioned into a distress signal flew from an oar held aloft in the lifeboat. A ship's hatchway converted into a raft carried the two men just behind the boat. Another lifeboat—empty—was nearby. From 50 to 100 fuel drums littered the vicinity. On one was perched the 13th castaway. A 25 mile wind, the tail of a Panama storm, tossed all the objects about at will.

The late Charles Netcher, president of the Boston Store, left his $250,000 estate to his widow, Mrs. Gladys Oliver Netcher of 40 East Burton place. This was revealed yesterday when his will, disposing of his property, was admitted to probate by Assistant Probate Judge Oscar S. Caplan. Mr. Netcher died at the Michael Reese hospital on Nov. 3. He was 39 years old.

Son of the late Charles Netcher Sr., founder of the Boston Store, Mr. Netcher was educated in Chicago schools and later at the Sheffield scientific school of Yale university. Besides his widow, he is survived by two children, Francice, 12 years old, and Mollie, 8 years old.

GREEK AND TURK EXILES TO VISIT LONG LOST HOMES

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 10.—(AP)—An unexpected day of freedom is opening for the Turkish and Greek refugees who were torn from their homes by the exchange of populations under the terms of the Lausanne treaty of 1923. The million Greeks who were shipped from Anatolia to Greece and the 700,000 Turks who were sent from Greece to Anatolia are at last to be allowed to revisit their lost homes, relatives, and friends by the permission of each government.

The consummation of Turco-Greek friendship with Premier Ismet Pasha's recent visit to Athens brought this development. Both governments agreed that restrictions against travel should be abolished for the exiles.

13TH ARMISTICE DAY FINDS ARMY WITH SAME GUNS

Wartime Equipment Is Still Being Used.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Thirteen years after the armistice finds the United States army struggling along with the same fighting equipment with which it ended the world war.

Inquiry today disclosed that with the exception of the air arm the combat branches are still utilizing the war time rifle, the out of date artillery of world war days, and the snail speed tanks rendered obsolete years ago by the development of speedy modern fighting machines.

Caught between the upper millstone of economy and the lower millstone of official inability to take newly developed weapons out of the experimental stage and put them into production, the army has not been able to purchase sufficient new equipment annually to prevent a gradual decline in modern combat efficiency as ageing weapons grow older and more obsolete.

Plenty of Models Available.

scores of models of new and improved weapons have been built, tested, replaced by still newer experimental models and retested. In some cases new artillery weapons and even tanks and armored cars, semi-automatic shoulder rifles and machines for use with mechanized forces have approached the standardization stage during the last thirteen years, but with few exceptions new models have not been purchased in quantity for army service use.

Because of the budgetary difficulties no move is under way for rearming the army at the present time. Officers checking up on the proposed armaments building truce found the army was building so little it would not be affected. The feeling throughout the war department is that the next war will be entered with the weapons left over from the last one.

The army today has on hand depots filled with wartime artillery weapons, wartime tanks, wartime rifles and obsolete equipment.

Old Equipment in Storage.

It has 800 wartime light tanks and 200 heavier machines ageing and running up maintainance charges. Other government warehouses and depots contain 4,700 wartime "75's" and 3,100 155 millimeter howitzers and guns, as well as large quantities of Springfield service rifles and wartime machine guns.

New material purchased over the last ten years includes thirty new 75 millimeter pack howitzers, thirty 3 inch anti-aircraft mobile guns of a new type, twelve 37 millimeter guns, sixteen 75 millimeter mortars, four improved type 75 millimeter field guns of far greater range and fire power than the ones in storage, fourteen 105 millimeter howitzers, forty semi-automatic experimental model shoulder rifles, twelve sound locaters, thirty armored cars described as more or less experimental, ten armored cars in production, and three 37 millimeter mobile anti-aircraft weapons. About a dozen experimental tanks have been purchased. Seven new Christie tanks are now being delivered.

HOOVER'S ARMISTICE DAY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—President Hoover will lead the nation in the Armistice day ceremonies which he has by proclamation asked the nation to observe.

Accompanied by Gen. John J. Pershing, Secretary of War Hurley, and Secretary of the Navy Adams, Mr. Hoover will make a pilgrimage to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington cemetery and lay a wreath there.

At 11 o'clock, an hour made symbolic by the closing of the world war thirteen years ago, the President will dedicate the temple of marble which Washington citizens have erected in West Potomac park in memory of their veterans of the war.

In the afternoon Mr. Hoover will go to the Washington navy yard to visit the frigate "Constitution," known for nearly 130 years as "Old Ironsides." Coincident with this White House announcement today came the statement that the frigate may be continued on its cruise next spring.

The national observance will conclude tomorrow evening when Gen. Pershing and American Legion officials will broadcast a commemorative program. The Carnegie endowment for international peace will hold an evening mass meeting to be addressed by Houston Thompson, former member of the federal trade commission and by Frederic R. Coudert of New York City.

Rail Shopmen in South to Go on Five Day Week

Richmond, Va., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Negotiations for establishment of a temporary five day week for shopmen on the Chesapeake and Ohio railway have been started by labor leaders and the plan has met with cordial reception from company officials, it was learned here today. It is expected that the plan will be made effective Dec. 1. Approximately 80 men would be given employment here under the plan while the number to be added in the entire system would approximate 1,000.

SEAWAY GROUPS OF 2 STATES HEAR PLAN FOR HARBOR

Representatives of the Chicago regional port commission, the Mississippi Valley association, and the Grand Calumet River Improvement association sat down together last night for a friendly and cooperative discussion of waterway projects. The meeting was held in East Chicago, Ind. The attendance was 260 and enthusiasm prevailed on the prospects of completing the lakes to the gulf waterway and the Calumet river project that affects northern Indiana.

The mayors of Hammond, Whiting, Gary, East Chicago, Crown Point, all in Indiana, and Calumet City, Ill., were present to hear William R. Dawes, chairman of the regional port commission and of the Mississippi Valley association, tell what is being done by the port commission. Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] represented Mayor Cermak and gave warning of opposition by the railroads to the waterway projects and he urged that the war be carried to the railroads.

BROTHERS AWAIT THIEVES; SHOOT AND KILL ONE

James Petrowski, 22 years old, and his brother, Alex, 20 years old, have been sleeping for a week in the rear of a haberdashery store at 3312 South Halsted street. Their father, James Sr., who owns the store, put them there because burglars had raided it twice in the previous month.

Last night, shortly after the brothers retired, another burglar arrived. He broke a front window and entered. James, in his night attire, took his pistol, crawled forward, and fired several times at the intruder. The man was killed by his bullets. The brothers summoned the Deering street police. No identification was made of the burglar.

ENATOR WALSH SSAILS WAR AS ORAL CALAMITY

raises Pacifists Before Peace Alliance.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Mon- on last night told the members of e good will congress of the World Alliance for International Friendship rough the Churches that the moral ilure of nations resulting from war s war's most calamitous contribu- on to humanity. He spoke at the ecedine banquet at the Palmer ouse.

The senator criticized opponents of e world court and league of na- ions, and applauded President over's campaign for reduction of rmaments. He said the spiritual ame in war were a heavier burden n civilization than the $35,000,000,000 ost the world war cost.

"A nation cannot lie, cheat, kill, nd to overcome the enemy without uffering a general moral decay," said enator Walsh, "and when the whole orld or all the principal powers of e world at once defy elemental rinciples of morality, into which it as been the task of the ages to in- ill vigor, the result is calamitous."

Attack on Politicians.

The senator blamed "plotting poli- icians" for America's failure to ter the world court.

The speaker assailed the conten- on of a "widely read columnist, in isagreeing with the policy of the papers n which he writes," that "fewer ense committees, less meddling in hina and Asia, more airships and ewspapers, would be our best peace rogram." Senator Walsh said this as "the peace program of the cave- an."

"That was also the the peace pro- ram of Bismark and the Kaiser," enator Walsh continued. "The whole ecord of history demonstrates the utility of that program for insuring eace. The very day after the piece of political wisdom just quoted was ublished, the press carried the news hat Japan had cordially acquiesced n the plan of joint action on the art of the United States and the eague."

He commended all international ef- orts to avoid war.

Ruth Bryan Owen, congresswoman f Florida, and Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan also addressed the convention banquet. About 1,000 persons were present.

General Sees War Perils.

In an address to the congress earlier in the day, Gen. O'Ryan de- lared that modern war generally rises from propaganda, that the asses rarely have roused warlike emotions within themselves. The stimulation of this spirit, he said, has always been accomplished by the lead- ership of the interested minorities. He urged American entry into the league of nations.

"As Lord Roberts warned the Brit- ish people in 1908 that armaments and rivalries were leading straight to war, I warn my hearers now that what is going on in the world today is leading straight to war," Gen. O'Ryan de- clared.

The congress unanimously approved President Hoover's "efforts in safe- guarding the peace of the world."

FAILS TO SAVE LIFE

MISS MILDRED M'CLELLAN.

A verdict of suicide while tempora- rily insane was returned by a coro- ner's jury yesterday in an inquest into the death of Curtis G. Dunham, 37 years old, of Detroit, an investment broker who is reported to have lost $2,000,000 in the 1929 market crash. Dunham killed himself by leaping from the twelfth story window of his room in the Congress hotel yesterday morning.

The inquest was conducted by Dep- uty Coroner E. F. Ingles in the un- dertaking parlor at 425 Plymouth court. One of the witnesses called to the stand was Miss Mildred Mc- Clellan, 24 years old, 4168 Clarendon avenue, a nurse who was assigned to watch Dunham after he had made a previous attempt to jump from the window.

Miss McClellan testified that about 3 a. m. Dunham awoke and began to talk irrationally about gangsters who wanted to "get" him. Then he started for the window, she said. When Miss McClellan, a small woman, tried to stop him, Dunham flung her against a dresser and leaped out the window.

McLEAN REACHES LATVIA ON HUNT FOR A DIVORCE

Establishes Residence in Riga; Hires Lawyer.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 10.—Edward B. McLean, millionaire publisher of the Washington Post, arrived in Riga last week and is said to have established a residence here in order to take ad- vantage of Latvia's lenient divorce laws. Attempts to learn when and if the publisher intends filing a suit against his wife, Evelyn Walsh Mc- Lean, have proved futile.

Charles Huberich, international di- vorce lawyer, is representing McLean and has leased an apartment for the publisher. McLean, it is learned, left for Paris on Sunday after registering his passport with the local police and the American consulate.

Latvian Divorces Law Easy.

Considerable secrecy surrounds Mc- Lean's trip to Riga. Attorneys, re- ported to be associated with Attorney Huberich in McLean's effort to win a divorce, have refused to divulge any information on the matter.

Under the Latvian law a divorce is granted upon establishing proof that a husband and wife have been sep- arated for more than three years.

Attorney Huberich is formerly of New York, but within the past several months has turned Riga into the "Reno of Europe." Among his clients who have established residences here are Alice Astor, who is reported to be seeking a divorce from her husband, Prince Obelenski; Eugene de Albert, famous German composer, who has been married six times, and Jacob Waserman, German author.

WIFE CHARGES ADULTERY.

Two sensational suits were filed against McLean by his wife in the District Supreme court at Washing- ton Oct. 7. One of the petitions was for a limited divorce on grounds of adultery, while the other asked that the publisher be removed as co-trustee of his father's estate on the grounds that he has "grossly neglected" the affairs of the Washington Post.

These actions marked the second time within a year that the marital and business difficulties existing be- tween the McLeans had been aired in court. In November, 1930, Mrs. McLean sued her husband for mainte- nance of herself and their three chil- dren. The publisher retaliated by fil- ing suit for divorce in Mexico, but was restrained from proceeding with the suit by a permanent injunction grant- ed Mrs. McLean in Washington.

Wife Seeks Restraining Order.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—(Spe- cial.)—Frank J. Hogan, counsel for Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, wife of the publisher of the Washington Post, said tonight that the McLean in Riga is the publisher of the Post, and that he, Hogan, is aware of his intention to sue for divorce there.

Attorney Hogan said he intends to present a petition in the District Su- preme court on Friday asking that McLean be restrained from filing di- vorce proceedings in Latvia. Accord- ing to the lawyer, McLean left Wash- ington two hours after the suit for divorce was brought by his wife here.

Students Bar Jews at University Gates; 1 Slain

VILNA, Poland, Nov. 10.—(AP)—One student was killed today in an anti- semitic riot at the local university and it was expected that the school would be closed tonight. Despite the rector's warning yesterday that classes would be suspended unless the dis- turbances cease, a group stood at the gates today to prevent the entry of Jewish students. A fight ensued and several were seriously hurt.

Higher Grain Prices Fail to Aid Rails, Gorman Says

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 10.—(AP)—High- er grain prices so far have failed to bring an increase in grain movements over the Rock Island lines, James B. Gorman, president of the railroad sys- tem, said today. The farmers, Gor- man said, would hold their wheat in the expectation of still higher prices.

"When the proper level is reached," he said, "they will sell."

As to when farmers should sell the rail executive said he had no desire to "tell people what to do."

"That's what's wrong today," he commented. "People have been doing too many things they have been told by people who thought they knew what ought to be done."

Escapes as Victim Takes Him to Police Station

Cary Moonjian, 19 years old, 2020 Lake street, Evanston, driver of the De Luxe laundry in Niles Center, was attacked yesterday by two gunmen. They ordered him to drive into the country after beating him, but Moon- jian, with one of the pair beside him in the truck, drove to the Niles Center police station. There the man who was with him leaped out and fled with his companion in an automobile. The police failed to catch them. The beat- ing was attributed to labor troubles, the laundry employing only nonunion labor.

LAUD POLICEMAN FOR SLAYING OF POLICEMAN'S SON

A coroner's jury yesterday com- mended Marvin Holden, Lincoln park policeman, for killing Robert Zabel, 27 years old, when Zabel resisted cap- ture following a holdup attempt on Monday night. Police Sergeant Otto Zabel, father of the dead man, sat silent through the inquest.

Young Zabel was killed after an unsuccessful effort to rob the tailor shop of Albert Kaplan at 4551 Sheri- dan road. Witnesses testified that as Policeman Holden pursued him, Zabel reached for his hip pocket and cried, "I'll get you." He was armed.

After the inquest, Sergt. Zabel, once winner of THE TRIBUNE'S police hero award, said:

"I have no animosity for Holden. I brought the boy up as well as I could and tried to keep him straight."

The younger Zabel was once con- victed for robbery, and placed on pro- bation.

WOMAN KILLED AS AUTO UPSETS.

Centralia, Ill., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Estella Robinson, 50, of Roanoke, Ill., was killed last night when the automobile in which she was riding overturned at a curve on highway No. 2, two miles south of Patoka. Her daughter, Esther Robinson, and Till- man Thomason, 22, a friend, were slightly injured.

GUN TOTERS COME OUT AHEAD OF LAW IN DAY OF TRIALS

Stanton and Another Are Turned Loose.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Julius Nichols, murder, sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary; Frank Jackson and Edward Edwards, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Rudolph Desort.

The gun toting hoodlums had the better of the fight yesterday with the law enforcing authorities in the various courts in the criminal courts building. When the day ended the score stood two acquittals in favor of the gun toters as against one six months' sentence for the law enforcers.

Danny Stanton, one of the best known of the labor racketeers and accused of engineering the murder of Jack Zuta, west side vice lord and gangland leader, and Frank Leino, alias Frank Lanie, reported chauffeur and bodyguard for Lawrence [Dago] Mangano, public enemy and now west side gang leader, were the men who walked to freedom from the criminal court building.

Hadad Sentenced to 6 Months.

Joseph Hadad, an ex-convict, who served more than eight years in the penitentiary on a robbery charge and who was arrested in the company of Morris Bogoslowski, once accused of murder and last week sentenced to the penitentiary for extortion, was the only man convicted of gun toting. Hadad although convicted escaped with only half of the possible maximum sentence for gun toting. He was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell.

Stanton, perhaps the best known hoodlum in court yesterday, won his acquittal through the argument of Attorney James McDermott in Judge Philip Sullivan's court. The attorney said the Supreme court in the extradition proceding against Stanton had ruled that the state had failed to show Stanton in exclusive possession of the revolver found in an automobile. The attorney argued that Stanton could not be found guilty of carrying concealed weapons if he could not be extradited to Wisconsin for the murder of Zuta. The Supreme court ruled against extradition. The gun was part of the evidence against Stanton in the Zuta case.

State Opposes Contention.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles Bellows argued that the decision in the murder case did not apply to the gun toting case. He admitted that the state had failed to show that Stanton had possession of the gun from the time of the murder until the arrest a few weeks later, but said when arrested the gun was in the automobile in which Stanton was riding. He argued that this was sufficient to establish an "iron clad" gun toting case. Stanton made no defense, but depended on the argument of his attorney. Edgar Smith, Stanton's bodyguard and chauffeur, since murdered, was his companion at the time of the arrest in September, 1930. The gun was in the pocket of the automobile.

Leino escaped through a motion to suppress the evidence. His attorney argued to Judge Altar Eberhardt in the Felony court that the police had no search warrant when they arrested him and found a loaded revolver in Leino's car. The police testified that they recognized Leino when they stopped him as a man who previously had been sentenced to Pontiac on a robbery charge. His attorney simply cited the gun toting case of "Machine Gun Jack" McGurn, which was reversed by the Supreme court, and the judge suppressed the evidence and ended the case. Florence Purvea, his blond companion, was freed on a disorderly conduct charge and she walked arm in arm with Leino from the courtroom.

Acting First Assistant State's Attorney William A. Rittenhouse, however, promised to investigate the gun toting case and may submit it to the grand jury for direct action despite the Felony court ruling.

Cites Successful Case.

"The police must certainly have some reason for suspecting a man when they arrest him and in their search find a revolver, still they will not testify to this fact when the case comes up in court," said State's Attorney Swanson in commenting on the failure in gun toting cases.

Assistant State's Attorney Abe Marowitz, who last week successfully prosecuted Jack Kral on a gun toting charge, pointed out how easy it is to make a case even under the technical rulings of search and seizure by the Supreme court. In this case Policemen Hugh English and Earl Jansen of the Oak Park police department testified that they suspected Kral of carrying concealed weapons when they saw him early in the morning of Sept. 4 in Oak Park. Judge Rudolph Desort ruled that this was sufficient for a search and found Kral, also an ex-convict, guilty of carrying concealed weapons and having a revolver with obliterated numbers, a new crime under a law passed by the last legislature. Sentence is to be imposed Friday.

It was pointed out by attaches of the criminal court that the statutes prohibiting a former convict from carrying a revolver for any purpose within five or ten years of his conviction is never used by the authorities. Under the five year statute the punishment is a penitentiary sentence, and under the ten year law the punishment is one year in jail. This law has been used only once in the last few years.

Release Suspect Seized in Slaying of Union Leader

James Tirrocco, 114 North 23d avenue, Melrose Park, who was arrested yesterday as a suspect in the murder of Timothy J. Lynch, was released early this morning when he convinced Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne and the police he had no connection with the crime.

MARCUS LOONEY.

Lynch, labor leader in the western suburbs and a power in teaming unions, was shot down in the rear of his home in Maywood Monday evening.

Tirrocco was taken into custody after it was recalled that his brother Paul, a teamster, was killed in an automobile accident several months ago. At the time Lynch refused to pay his widow a union death benefit, it was said, because Paul was in arrears with his union dues. James Tirrocco convinced the investigators he was in Elgin at the time of the killing of Lynch.

Questioned by Prosecutors.

After questioning him, assistant state's attorneys turned to an examination of the part Lynch played in union affairs and were told that "something had gone wrong" recently to disturb the power he held for thirty years. There was talk of double-crossing and mention of Marcus A. [Studdy] Looney.

Looney is the czar of the Chicago teamsters, labor men said, although he is rarely in the foreground as a union official. Nevertheless, his word is law in the conduct of the all powerful Excavating, Grading, and Dump Drivers' union, the members of which do all hauling on excavating jobs.

Lynch was secretary of the General Teachers and Chauffeurs' union, and had for years controlled the territory west from Crawford avenue to the county line and about as far south as Chicago Heights. Excavating and building has not been flourishing in the territory east of this for several years and the effort was made to push Lynch's eastern boundary farther west, according to the labor men. He resisted this attempt.

Son Heard at Inquest.

None of this background was brought out at the Lynch inquest yesterday at the mortuary at 201 Lake street, Maywood. A son, Assistant State's Attorney General Richard P. Lynch, said his father was 60 years old, had received no threats to the son's knowledge, and never carried a gun in fear of his life.

Jack Robbins, 9 years old, 512 North 4th avenue, Maywood, said that about 7:20 p. m. he and his playmate saw a man lurking in the shrubbery behind Lynch's house. Then he heard shots and saw the man flee north on 4th avenue and board a waiting automobile at 5th avenue and Huron street. The car went south on 5th avenue.

COOL POLICEMAN SAVES WOMAN AT NIAGARA FALLS

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—A nervy policeman armed with a pike pole saved a woman from going to her death over the American cataract at Niagara falls, this afternoon.

A tourist told Patrolman Arthur E. Adriance of the reservation police that the woman was in the water. The policeman saw the woman's body bobbing in the current some fifty feet above the falls. He waded out into the stream. A rock temporarily stopped the woman's progress toward the death plunge. The policeman, reaching out with his pike pole, brought her to shore.

The woman, Mrs. Albert Pierce, 37 years old, of Niagara Falls, was still alive at a hospital tonight, but in a serious condition from the shock of her experience.

FOILS AS BEGGAR, ROBS WOMAN.

KIDNAP VICTIM FREED AS POLICE HOLD MANGANO

Wealthy Man Returns to Home in St. Louis.

While Chicago police were questioning "Dago Lawrence" Mangano, public enemy, and four followers last night on suspicion that they had kidnaped Alexander Berg, wealthy St. Louis furrier, Berg turned up unharmed at his home in St. Louis.

Some hours earlier Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, telephoned from Rockford that Ralph J. [Fuzzy] Pearce, kidnaped Rockford gambler, had been freed by his captors here upon payment of $6,000 ransom. Pearce's kidnapers originally had demanded $25,000. Roche supplied a detailed description of two cars used by the kidnapers and a city-wide hunt was immediately organized.

Lawyer Tells of Release.

Dispatches from St. Louis said Berg refused to talk to reporters. Morris G. Levinson, attorney for the Berg family, issued a statement to the effect that the captive's return was brought about through information supplied by a newspaper reporter without payment of a ransom, but gave no intimation as to where the had been held. Despite the statement of the attorney, there were reports in St. Louis that $20,000 ransom was paid.

Lacking definite knowledge of Berg's experience, Chicago police conjectured that he might have been held prisoner here and that his captors were compelled to release him by the knowledge that their leader, Mangano, was in custody.

The furrier was seized in St. Louis last Friday.

On Monday afternoon, 48 hours after Berg's disappearance, Louis Spinelli of New York arrived here and registered at a loop hotel. Alexander Jamie, chief of the Secret Six organization of the Association of Commerce, learned of his arrival and his mission. Sergt. Ernest Slooey and his detective squad seized Spinelli in his hotel room. Registered with him was Joseph Costello, also a New Yorker. Costello was absent when the squad arrived.

Spinelli later led the police to Harrison street and Wabash avenue, where he said he was to meet the kidnapers to negotiate for the release of the furrier for a $100,000 ransom. Parked at the southwest curb was a curtained sedan with no license plates.

The police drew pistols as Lieut. Robert Carr flung open the door. Inside were Mangano, Frank Chiavavolloti, 1130 South Elmwood avenue, Oak Park; Sylvester Agoglia, 1128 Newberry avenue; Angelo Caruso, New York City, and Paul Palmeri, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Kidnapers Free Gambler.

The chief said he had not determined whether a connection existed between the Berg abduction and the kidnaping of Pearce in Rockford. Both men disappeared on the same day.

The news of Pearce's release came from Roche at Rockford last evening. The victim, Roche said, had telephoned his sister from Chicago, saying that W. C. Ryan, whom the Pearce family had sent here with $6,000, had met the kidnapers and paid the cash. Roche said the kidnapers were riding in two cars, one with a District of Columbia license plate.

ENIES PETITION TO CHANGE PLEA OF HOME BREWER

Making Janitor Is Back in Cell.

Ludwik Lidikewicz, the home brew [illegible], went back to his county jail cell yesterday when Federal Judge Barnes denied a petition to allow the janitor to withdraw his previous plea of guilty. It was in this case that Charles L. Wiley, a business man and war veteran, was held for trial when he informed the court Lidikewicz did not sell beer but merely made it for his own consumption and for a gathering of Legionnaires.

Judge Barnes found two faults with the petition and he censured Attorney Stephen A. Day for having failed to ascertain the facts. The petition stated that Lidikewicz had not been represented by counsel at his trial, which resulted in a sentence of 60 days and a $50 fine, and that his plea of guilty was qualified with the words, "If it is wrong to make beer for myself then I am guilty."

Bring Janitor to Court.

Attorney Day, who said he was acting without pay for the janitor "in the interest of justice," said Lidikewicz had made the statements on which the petition was based. On presentation of the document the court ordered a writ of habeas corpus which resulted in Lidikewicz being brought to court.

Assistant United States Attorney Walter E. Wiles, who prosecuted Lidikewicz and who asked the court to fine Wiley on a conspiracy charge, said he had informed Attorney Day on Monday that Lidikewicz was represented by counsel and that his plea of guilty was unconditional. Wiles called two witnesses who said they heard him make that statement.

Janitor Placed on Stand.

Lidikewicz was put on the witness stand. He is a Lithuanian and he said he could not speak English very well or understand it, so Attorney Joseph W. Grigal was asked to act as interpreter. Through Grigal, the janitor said after his arrest he met his friend, Grigal, the lawyer, and told him he had no money to pay for an attorney. He said Grigal offered to represent him as a friend and that Grigal, as a friend, advised him to plead guilty.

Grigal was sworn as a witness and gave the same testimony. Attorney Day was called to the witness stand and questioned by the court and he said Lidikewicz told him he had no lawyer but that yesterday morning he recalled that Grigal had been in court as his friend. Prosecutor Wiles also was called as a witness and gave a review of the case.

Call Petition Outrage.

Judge Barnes made a finding that the allegations in the petition were not true, asking if it would not appear that the court would be subject to censure if they were true, and adding that the making of the allegations was an outrage. Lidikewicz had said he signed the petition without knowing its contents.

Judge Barnes said the question of whether the arrest of Lidikewicz on a search without a warrant was legal was not at issue. He reserved decision on this point in the event the case should ever be reopened.

In the prosecutor's office it was said no action had yet been taken to obtain the indictment of Wiley, whose defense has been undertaken by Attorney William C. Dunn, retained by the Crusaders.

"LIFE FOR PINT" VICTIM MUST SERVE OUT TERM

Michigan Supreme Court Rejects Palm's Plea.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The state Supreme court today decreed that Fred Palm, first victim of Michigan's old "life for a pint" law, must serve out the remainder of his seven and one-half to fifteen years, to which former Gov. Fred W. Green commuted his sentence.

The court, in an opinion written by Justice Howard Wiest, rejected as without merit arguments advanced by A. Stanley Copeland, Buffalo, N. Y., to the effect that Palm was illegally convicted and is entitled to immediate release under a writ of habeas corpus.

Justice Wiest discusses two contentions advanced by Copeland, finding both untenable.

The argument that Palm's conviction was secured by an unconstitutional procedure in that the early constitutions of Michigan provided that indictments be returned by grand juries is disposed of by citation of the dictum that "no part of an old constitution survives adoption of a new one."

"The constitution operates in limiting and not in granting legislative power," the opinion further states.

"The legislature rightly provided for criminal prosecution by information."

Answering the contention that the prohibition law was rendered ex post facto by its amendment making possession of liquor a felony, the opinion states that "an act innocent when done cannot be punished as crime by subsequent legislation, but acts formerly innocent may be interdicted and made criminal if committed after legislation to that effect."

Aviation Notes

United Air Lines officials yesterday met the boast of Imperial Airways, Great Britain's largest air line, that it had nine veteran pilots who have been flying 12 years, and who have an average of 8,655 hours each, with the records of nine United Air Lines pilots who have an average of 8,000 hours each. The 150 pilots on United Air Lines have an average of more than 4,000 hours' flying time each, including several with 10,000 hours, six with 8,000, twelve with 7,000, eighteen with 6,000, and forty with 5,000.

The airport two and one-half miles north of Aurora is now an L-shaped field, the north-south area on the west side having been increased to 3,250 feet.

Union Agent Freed in Furnishings Store Bombing

Harry Winnick, business agent for the Retail Clerks' union, was discharged for lack of evidence in a bombing when he was arraigned before Judge Alfar M. Eberhardt in the Felony court yesterday. The complainant was Jack Fagman, who said that his men's furnishings store at 3451 Roosevelt road was bombed when he failed to abide by Winnick's command that his store be closed at 6 p. m. as other stores in the neighborhood.

"...guards the glamour of my loveliest possessions," says
Mrs. Otto W. Lehmann

So beautiful! So exquisite in every detail—her home and her wardrobe! By what miracle do her flower-colored linens and damasks never pale, her gowns and lingerie never look faded or worn, but always smart as a Paris shop?

"It's all in the laundering," explains Mrs. Lehmann. "I cannot endure washed-out colors or wilted looking fabrics, so I had to find a perfect laundry soap. And it proved to be American Family Flakes.

"Our guest rooms are named for their colors... the blue room... lavender room... yellow room. Imagine how much their beauty depends on the color of hangings and coverlets. Yet they are all laundered in American Family Flakes without fear of colors running or even the slightest change in tint.

"And I'm really proud of the way our things iron. Just look at these table linens." Drawersful that look as though they had never been laundered, so shop-new they seem. And lingerie! A veritable annex to Grande Maison de Blanc—these shimmering coral heaps of costly French silks and laces.

There are many soaps. But in 4 out of 5 of Chicagoland's wealthy homes no soap but American Family Flakes is considered safe enough and fast enough. Its pure double-suds are the reason. They will save you both clothes-dollars and cleaning-hours. And the sooner you start, the more you'll save.

Mrs. Otto W. Lehmann

Her husband is president of Arlington Race Track. Her home, Chesney Farm, is one of the most beautiful estates in the millionaire Libertyville section. Acres of formal gardens—fifty thousand peonies in bloom at once. Picturesque Swiss riding academy, and stables of blooded horses. Large house with wide verandas, half surrounded by blue lake. One of the finest early American furniture collections in this country (discovering antiques is Mrs. Lehmann's hobby). Continuous week-end parties, at which Mrs. Lehmann is a carefree, gracious hostess, for she runs her vast domain on American Family Flakes efficiency. "We buy this soap by the case. It keeps things forever flower-fresh," she says. "And why shouldn't it? It's as pure and fine as any good toilet soap."

The Flakes—double-sudsing—the only soap trusted with the costly laundry of 4 out of 5 Gold Coast women.

The Cake Soap—double-sudsing—for 90 years used by more Chicago women than all other laundry soaps combined.

REPORT ON IDLE COURTS BEFORE COUNTY BOARD

Survey Given Both Praise and Criticism.

The county commissioners yesterday alternated in praising and censuring Efficiency Expert J. L. Jacobs for his report on the use of the courtrooms in the county building by Circuit and Superior court judges. However, the commissioners finally agreed to provide an extra courtroom for Judge Ross Hall.

The attendance record, compiled by Jacobs at the request of the court-house committee of the county board and delivered last Thursday, disclosed that an average of 24.7 per cent of the courtrooms in the Circuit court and 19.5 per cent in the Superior court are unused each day. It was made after Judge Hall, who has no permanent courtroom, had demanded that he be supplied with one. At present Judge Hall is hearing cases in an 11th floor courtroom.

Committee Hears Report.

The report was brought before the commissioners in committee meeting yesterday. Jacobs explained that he had intended no criticism of the judges but merely was determining the extent of space available for court hearings. The report, he said, was based upon the conditions exactly as found.

The expressions of opinion by the commissioners during the next few minutes of discussion were:

WILLIAM MILLER—That report was valueless. We as commissioners and Jacobs as efficiency expert have no jurisdiction over those courtrooms.

MAURICE KAVANAUGH—You're wrong. That report was just what we needed. We all know that some judges keep their courtrooms here locked while they occupy courts in the Criminal courts building. There's no necessity for that. It would cost at least $25,000 to fix up a new courtroom. We should have that money.

HOMER J. BYRD—I think it is outside our judgment to investigate the judges. Most of them, anyway, have said the report was erroneous. They said it was a peek hole affair. They said they were in chambers studying law or something.

Urges Economy Action.

AMELIA SEARS—We've heard that the adult probation offices on the eleventh floor were going to move. To move those offices and to rehabilitate the courtroom would cost $100,000. I think the board did the proper thing in making this survey. Now we are facing a great need for economy. Certainly we can expect the judges to cooperate with us in this necessity.

Just here Frank A. Chambers, superintendent of public service, interrupted the discussion to ask for instructions. The probation office, he said, had considered moving one department to the police building at 1123 South State street and a second to the Criminal courts building. The commissioners then decided to defer action.

But shortly after they had reached the decision Judge Hall appeared and asked the commissioners to order the probation office out of the county building at once. The heads of the department, he said, had prepared to move immediately. The commissioners agreed and a motion rescinding the earlier vote was passed.

RESUME HEARING ON LAKE SHORE TRAVEL REMOVAL

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday resumed hearings on the Lincoln park petition seeking removal of street car tracks in Lake Shore drive with evidence being presented as to the number of persons using the service. Assistant Corporation Counsels James Breen and Joseph Grossman, representing the city, presented figures to show that some street railway service to the Navy pier is needed. Residents of the west and northwest side districts also presented traffic figures. The hearing will be resumed today.

Traps Husband, Loses Divorce

Aids Deputies

In helping deputy sheriffs trap her estranged husband on a charge of contempt of court, Mrs. Anna Williams forfeited her grounds for divorce, she learned yesterday when she went before Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court.

An attachment for the arrest of the husband, Sidney J. Williams, on the contempt charge was issued eight months ago, when he kidnaped his 12 year old child, custody of whom had been awarded to the wife pending hearing of her divorce bill. In escaping from deputy sheriffs who sought to arrest him Williams ran his automobile over Deputy William Reddel and broke his leg.

Recently, Mrs. Williams told Judge Sabath, she pretended to effect a reconciliation with her husband, and went back to live with him at 2618 South Ridgeway avenue. Then she called up the deputies. They arrested Williams Monday night, after firing several shots to halt his flight.

Judge Sabath said that by returning to her husband she condoned his conduct and sacrificed her ground for divorce. However, he gave Williams until Dec. 8 to show why he should not be punished for contempt. He will face charges of assault with a deadly weapon, resisting arrest, and leaving the scene of an accident today in the Felony court, but by returning to him Mrs. Williams forfeited her divorce grounds.

TWO ROBBERS CONVICTED OF MURDER; TO DIE

After deliberating 45 minutes a jury in Judge George Fred Rush's court yesterday convicted John Reed, 19 years old, and Ben Norsinger, 26 years old, both colored, of murder and fixed their penalty at death in the electric chair. A motion for a new trial was made and will be heard on Nov. 18. The entire trial lasted less than a day.

Reed and Norsinger were convicted of the murder on Aug. 3 of John Martin, 45 years old, manager of a General Market store at 4271 Drexel boulevard, during a holdup. Martin had been spending half his weekly salary to provide food for needy Negroes. The neighborhood was aroused over the murder and aided in tracing the slayers. Norsinger was captured at his home in Dallas, Tex., where he confessed and implicated Reed, who fired the fatal shot.

RULES ON PLAN TO CLOSE HOTEL USED BY CAPONE

An action by the city to close the Lexington hotel, headquarters for the Capone gang, must be based on evidence that prostitution, assignation or violations of the prohibition law have been permited there, Commissioner of Police Allman was informed yesterday in an opinion from Corporation Counsel Sexton.

Commissioner Allman had requested a definition of his authority to proceed against the hotel after receiving a letter from Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime commission, in which the latter called attention to the remarks of Federal Judge Wilkerson in sentencing Philip D'Andrea for contempt of court.

Judge Wilkerson had referred to the Capone gang as an "organized body of men whose outlaw camp is at the Lexington hotel." He remarked that witnesses for Capone and Capone's counsel were summoned there and that from that "camp" had come that "array of shocking perjury with which the court was confronted during the closing days of the trial [Capone's]."

A. J. BIDDLE JR. ORDERED TO JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

Balks at Answering in Bankruptcy Quiz.

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Adjudged guilty of contempt of federal court, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr. was sentenced to the New York county jail today until he shall have cleared himself by answering questions concerning the affairs of the bankrupt Sonora Products Corporation of America, of which he was a director.

The order was signed by Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey, who, however, also signed a stay until Nov. 20 to enable Mr. Biddle to appeal. Mr. Biddle was not in court when the order was signed, and it was considered certain that he would appeal to the United States Circuit court.

Mr. Biddle was held in contempt on the citation of Harold P. Coffin, referee in bankruptcy for the Sonora company, by Judge Caffey on Nov. 4. He was given until today to answer the questions asked by Referee Coffin pertaining to the resale of De Forest Radio company stock by officials of the company.

Mr. Biddle has declined to answer on advice of his attorney and on the ground that to do so would reveal his defense in a pending suit brought by the Irving Trust company as trustees in bankruptcy against him and a group of officers of the bankrupt concern for the recovery of $3,000,000.

In the suit it is charged that the bankrupt company had a contract to buy 200,000 shares of De Forest Radio company stock at 50 cents a share, but that instead of the company Mr. Biddle and six other officers and directors profited by the contract as individuals and pocketed $1,500,000.

M. C. Bernays, attorney for the Irving Trust company, charged that Mr. Biddle had made a clear profit for himself of $100,000 in that transaction.

NEW YORK DEFERS GREETING GRANDI TILL HE LEAVES HOOVER

New York, Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Yielding to the desire of the state department Mayor James J. Walker today consented to forego the official reception of the City of New York to Signor Dino Grandi, Italian minister for foreign affairs, on his arrival here next Monday until after the Italian statesman finishes his conferences with President Hoover in Washington.

It was agreed, the mayor declared, that this city should pay full honors to the Italian minister at a later date, including a march up Broadway under the usual shower of ticker tape and a reception in the city hall.

The mayor said there was no basis for the reports that Signor Grandi feared an anti-Fascist demonstration in New York.

TISH HOUSE ENS AMID CRY OR A TARIFF

ier Urges Caution by New Parliament.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Great Britain got down to business today to put its parliament house in order. Prime Minister MacDonald, supported by an unprecedented majority, told the house of commons that he and his national government would do everything possible to produce remedies to cure the nation's ills.

The business of opening the session of commons developed into a row over protective tariffs, and the prime minister gave both the opposition and his own supporters to understand that the government is his government and that he will not be rushed into anything.

The tariff dispute started when Geoffrey Lloyd, youngest Conservative member in the house, moved the acceptance of the king's speech, which had been delivered a few moments before to parliament in the house of lords. Lloyd was bound by tradition to deliver an address. He was decked out in full court dress, including knee breeches, buckles, and a tiny sword. It was his first speech in parliament.

Demands Action on Tariff.

Lloyd, who was elected over a sitting member from Industrial Birmingham, told the government that the young blood in the Conservative camp were impatient at the accusations of rashness, but nevertheless, they wanted action.

Tariff action, he said, was tariffs primarily, and afterward empire unity. The speaker who seconded the motion of the king's speech carried on in the same strain, but all they got out of Mr. MacDonald was that "nothing ought to be done without an intelligent and careful investigation first."

The house was packed to the rafters when the speaker took his seat, but actual business was delayed while new members were being sworn in.

George Lansbury, 62 year old veteran parliamentarian and leader of the new Labor opposition, then startled his colleagues by jumping to his feet and waving a copy of the king's speech in the members' faces.

"This innocuous document," he cried, "is full of nothing from beginning to end."

Lansbury continued his tirade with an attack on Philip Snowden, who will soon be offered a title in the house of lords. He precipitated a storm of ministerial jeers and cries of "Withdraw!" He was reprimanded by the speaker.

The fiery Laborite concluded by asking Mr. MacDonald what the British government intends to do about Manchuria, inasmuch as it is a member of the league of nations, how the Indian round table conference was getting on and what about tariffs.

Vague as to Tariff Question.

Prime Minister MacDonald replied that information about the Chinese situation was vague, but that he still had hopes of the round table conference producing something. Then he turned to the question looming largest in the house of commons—tariffs.

"We will not use blind and fumbling methods to produce cures to balance trade," he said.

The hue and cry in the Conservative press against "dumping" by foreign importers alleged to be racing to beat the anticipated duties was definitely turned down as not proved until the present government's investigation of it has completed. He said he hoped this will be finished before the close of the present session, which he asserted he expected would be short, and that powers to deal with the situation would be acted in accordance with the investigators' findings.

A Conservative member wanted to know whether this would be a government bill, but he withheld even that answer.

Hints Solution for Europe.

The prime minister declared that the real problem was a solution to the European crisis, the extenuation of which had brought down the pound sterling. He claimed that collaboration was necessary to solve the problem. In this connection he welcomed French Premier Laval's visit to President Hoover.

Mr. MacDonald's speech concluded with a tilt with Lady Astor, who wanted to know why women, who had won so well in the election, had not been given a place in the government. Mr. MacDonald replied that he would be glad to have half a dozen, but since it was not so, he added, "I hope she won't blame me."

Lady Astor protested that she did not understand Mr. MacDonald's reply.

"I did not mean the noble lady should understand," the prime minister added.

Just a few hours before parliament got down to actual work Great Britain had enjoyed its second day of pageantry when the king, wearing the crown of the empire and ermine robes over the uniform of an admiral, opened parliament. Last night the king's crown, which he only wears on special occasions and which is kept locked up in a safe in the Tower of London, was brought to Buckingham palace. Today the crown, reposing in a regal coach and, escorted by horse guards, was conveyed to the house of lords ahead of the king.

The traditional pomp and glitter began shortly before noon when the king and queen climbed into an old gold coach for the procession to parliament. The day was cold and wet and the king was wrapped in a gray tweed overcoat. The queen wore a fur coat.

Wave to Crowds.

Sitting bareheaded in the coach, the windows of which were closed to keep out the rain, the royal couple nodded their heads and waved their hands in response to cheers from the crowd.

At Westminster King George donned his royal robes and crown and, preceded by heralds, marched through the corridors of parliament to the house of lords where a brilliant assembly of peers, clad in robes of state, on the floor, and peeresses in flaming gowns, in the galleries, were awaiting him. The king mounted the golden throne. The queen, also wearing a crown, sat on his left, and the prince of Wales, in scarlet and ermine, on his right.

The black and white of evening dress worn by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes was in striking contrast to the blazing uniforms of other ambassadors.

When the glittering procession had settled down, King George arose and read his speech. It is known as the "king's speech," but it was written by Prime Minister MacDonald and is his declaration of the government's policy. The speech indicated that the prime minister was assuming for himself dictatorial powers.

MacDonald Gets Free Hand.

It outlined no legislation, but emphasized that the government had been given a free hand to clear up the mess into which the nation had gotten herself, and also that the government intended to exercise this same free hand.

After the reading of the speech the king and queen and the prince of Wales left the chamber. The king removed his crown and robes, put on his overcoat, and drove to his palace amid cheering multitudes.

As the king departed, members of the house of commons, who had been standing outside of the bar of the house of lords to hear the speech, trooped back to their own house to begin the real business of parliament.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Because he shouted what the crowd thought was an insulting remark as the prince of Wales drove past on his way to the opening of parliament today, Walter Brown Wilson, an unemployed laborer, was roughly handled. To save him from injury at the hands of the furious spectators, the police took him to the Bow street police station, where the magistrate held him for "mental report."

GANDHI DECIDES TO REMAIN IN LONDON; SEES HOPE FOR INDIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Mahatma Gandhi, India's Nationalist leader, having been urged to come home at once by the All-India congress, today replied that he is now hopeful of a "decent settlement" at the round table conference and one which he can accept as an installment of liberty "on account." He announced that he will remain until the end of the conference.

Prime Minister MacDonald plans to meet the minorities committee tomorrow. He is expected to tell the delegates what Great Britain proposes to do about the Indian communal quarrel, which has been holding up a settlement ever since the negotiations for self-government opened.

The Hindu delegates, headed by Dr. Moonj and Pandit Malaviya, have protested to the prime minister against the agreement reached by the minorities committee, demanding that the communal difficulties be referred to the league of nations for settlement. They fear Gandhi may accept the agreement. There is no likelihood that this suggestion will be accepted, as Great Britain has always taken the attitude that Indian affairs are domestic and cannot be arbitrated by the league.

NUN IS FATALLY INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Sister Accompanying Her Is Slightly Hurt.

Sister Marcia, 40 years old, of the St. Catherine of Genoa convent at 11740 Lowe avenue, was fatally injured last night evening when she was struck at 118th street and Parnell avenue by an automobile driven by Roy Rosner, 551 West 115th street. She died shortly afterward in the Little Company of Mary hospital in Evergreen Park.

With Sister Marcia at the time of the accident was Sister Lazerian, a member of the same convent. They were teachers in the St. Catherine Parochial school. Sister Lazerian was slightly injured.

John Koppers, 43 years old, employed at the Little Company of Mary hospital, was fatally injured late in the afternoon when he was struck at 95th street and Western avenue by an automobile driven by Dr. Paul Headland, 9331 South Hoyne avenue. He was taken to the hospital by Dr. Headland and died there.

These deaths and one other raised the toll for Cook county to 1,104 since Jan. 1. The victim:

Mrs. Ida Robert, 63 years old, 909 North Austin boulevard. Died in the Keystone hospital from injuries suffered earlier in the day when she was run down in the alley at the rear of her home. The driver was William Schroeder, 315 Madison street, Oak Park.

CHICAGO MAN DIES OF INJURIES.

Indianapolis, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Alonzo Wine, 60 years old, who said he was field supervisor for the Great Northern Life Insurance company, 110 South Dearborn street, Chicago, died in a local hotel last night, apparently from injuries in an automobile accident earlier in the day. He said he became confused at an intersection and drove his car into Fall creek. He said a son, Roscoe Wine, lived at 1008 Marion street, Oak Park, Ill.

FIVE LOSE LIVES IN BROOKLYN TENEMENT FIRE

New York, Nov. 11 (Wednesday).—[Special.]—Three persons were burned to death and a mother and her four months old baby were fatally injured in a leap from a third story window early this morning when fire destroyed a four story frame tenement building in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn. Four firemen were overcome.

The dead were Mrs. Esther Chudow, 36; Lawrence Chudow, 13, her son; Natalie Chudow, 3, her daughter; Mrs. Lena Webb, 35, and Ethel Webb, 4 months old, her baby.

Mrs. Webb jumped with the baby in her arms.

While the fire was at its height Morris Chudow, husband and father of those who were burned to death, rushed back into the building after he had reached the street when he learned his wife and children still were inside.

Trapped on the third floor, he jumped from a window and received a fractured ankle.

BUSINESS MEN ASK FOR RETURN OF DETECTIVES

A petition, signed by 300 business men with stores between 35th street and 53d street, requesting that detective bureau squads headed by Sergts. Frank Reynolds and Chris Callahan be returned to that district, was presented to Police Commissioner Allman last night by Asa Faust, 343 East 47th street.

These squads, recently transferred, worked in the petitioners' section for seven years and the signers declared they had effectively held down robberies and burglaries. The commanding sergeants each had won a TRIBUNE hero award. Reynolds has killed nine robbers and Callahan six.

France and Germany Choose Dec. 14 for Parley on Debts

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—The French and Germans have agreed that the world conference on reparations shall be held in Paris on Dec. 14, providing they reach a formula on how to introduce the question of Germany's private debt to the world into the conference agenda and still remain within the provisions of the Young plan, it was learned here tonight. The Germans insist that they will not attend the conference unless plans for the settlement of private debts are worked out simultaneously with reparations, since Germany is "determined not to default her private obligations."

French Demand New Probe.

The French, before agreeing fully to a simultaneous discussion of debts and reparations, are demanding a thorough investigation of Germany's financial situation. They declare that the world economists who assembled at Basel to work out a report on the German financial situation last August made serious mistakes by underrating Germany's indebtedness by several billion marks.

This is blamed on the hazy financial statements issued by German concerns. As a consequence the French demand that the Berlin government compel the nation's industries to reveal their actual financial status before the conference assembles.

The French feel that the relations of the Reichsbank to banks and companies it saved last summer should be fully explained before matters are clear enough to enable the world powers to draw their final conclusions on Germany's ability to pay.

Chancellor Bruening's government itself strongly favors such an investigation, because it believes that an honest report on the "illness of a patient enables a doctor to give a health building diagnosis." At the same time it hopes that an investigation will help to eliminate unsound business enterprises and speculating directors who "succeeded in gaining a foothold in business in the years of revolution and inflation."

Industrialists Oppose Probe.

Industrialists frown at the idea of a new investigation by "representatives of French capitalists." They assert that the French have been making strenuous efforts during past months to induce Germans to grant them certain influence in the coal mining, steel, and electrical industries in the Ruhr district.

"The French failed to get the Rhineland and the Ruhr through military occupation," one prominent industrialist said. "Now they are preparing for an invasion with capital if they can hammer new political guarantees out of Chancellor Bruening which would give them absolute industrial and financial supremacy in Europe and in most of the continents."

Chancellor Bruening does not share this distrust and has informed the French government that he will cooperate in an investigation, providing that the approaching Paris conference works out a plan on reparations, taking into consideration Germany's obligation to pay her debts to America, England and other countries.

Unemployment continues to rise. At the end of October there were 4,672,000 unemployed, not counting the jobless in the "white collar" class. This is an increase of 1,370,000 over a year ago.

Darby Day Surrenders on Mail Fraud Charge

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Accused of having used the mails to defraud, Darby A. Day, Chicago insurance man, who divides his residence here and in the Illinois city, today surrendered to U. S. Commissioner David Head here. Day posted bail of $10,000 and was released until Nov. 24, when he will be given a hearing on removal to Jefferson City, Mo., where he was indicted by a federal grand jury.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The deficit of those French railway systems which are owned and operated by the state has reached the staggering figure of $200,000,000, according to a letter addressed today to parliament by the Association of Stockholders and Creditors. The chamber of deputies is urgently petitioned to vote much needed credits as soon as possible.

GERMANY SELLS FAMOUS GUNBOAT AS SCRAP IRON

KIEL, Germany, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The gunboat Panther, whose name echoed around the world in 1911 at the time of Kaiser Wilhelm's "Panther leap to Agadir," has been sold for 37,262 marks—a little more than $9,000—as scrap iron to a firm in Frankfort. There is no possibility of using the vessel commercially and she will be broken up. The Panther served as a naval survey ship for some time after the world war.

The "Panther leap to Agadir" is the historic phrase used to describe Kaiser Wilhelm's dispatch of the German gunboat Panther to Agadir, Morocco, in July, 1911, "to protect German interests" in the conflict between the Moors and the French. The Panther stood by for several weeks and gave way to another German warship.

War appeared to be imminent because of the incident, but Great Britain supported France and announced her opposition to Germany's obtaining political rights in Morocco. France and Germany arbitrated the dispute and signed a treaty in November by which France obtained a protectorate over the African state and Germany got a slice of French Congo.

RAPS EFFICIENCY MAN FOR BEING 35 MINUTES LATE

City department and bureau chiefs began work yesterday to create a standard method of grading 13,000 city civil service employés for efficiency once every three months. Their work must be completed in time to give a rating to every employé by Jan. 1, according to J. L. Jacobs, efficiency expert, who intends to have the ratings used in promotional examinations.

Before Jacobs had submitted his proposal at a meeting of 75 department and bureau chiefs he was criticized by Richard J. Collins, president of the civil service commission, for arriving 35 minutes late.

"If coming to a 2 o'clock meeting at 2:35 is an evidence of your efficiency——" Mr. Collins began as Jacobs appeared.

"I thought the meeting was called for 2:30," Jacobs explained.

"You called the meeting yourself," Collins answered.

After the meeting one of the men present figured that the cost of keeping the department and bureau chiefs waiting 35 minutes was $175.

$15,000 IN IRISH LACE IS LOOT OF HOTEL BANDITS

Three masked bandits early this morning held up the clerk of the Beach View hotel, 7645 Sheridan road, and escaped with $15 in cash and five suit cases filled with imported Irish linen valued at $15,000. The clerk, Bert McCandlish, was sitting in the lobby when the robbers appeared. They covered him with their guns while they took $15 from the cash register.

The robbers compelled McCandlish to call Charles Bual, the janitor, whom they forced to open the trunk room from which they took the linen which belonged to W. A. Mains, a salesman for a New York firm. No other baggage in the trunk room was disturbed. It was supposed Mains had been trailed to the hotel from some place where he had been showing his wares.

SAFETY COUNCIL ASKS ORDINANCE ON AUTO TESTS

Finds 46% of Cars Have Faulty Brakes.

Legislation to require periodic inspection of all automobiles on the streets of Chicago was urged in a resolution approved by the Chicago Safety Council board of directors, meeting yesterday in the Electric association headquarters in the Civic Opera building.

JUDGE PADDEN.

Forty-six per cent or 7,266 of the 15,511 privately owned automobiles tested in safety lanes by the council and the city council's committee on traffic and public safety were found to have faulty brakes, the directors were told. Other equipment of the cars tested was found to be faulty in high percentages.

Praise Judge Padden.

The board also commended Judge Frank M. Padden for the steps he has taken in the Speeders' court to reduce traffic fatalities, which number more than last year. The board pointed out fifteen per cent of all automobile accidents could be traced directly or indirectly to faulty equipment.

Only 19 per cent of the cars tested in safety lanes were found to have perfect equipment. Twenty-six per cent returned for a second test after correcting the defects and were found to be in perfect condition. The total originally rejected out of 15,511 was 12,417, or 80 per cent.

Many Lights Faulty.

Focus and elevation of lights were found to be the most common faults, next to defective brakes, with 31 per cent of the cars failing to pass those tests. Twenty per cent did not have properly operating stop lights. Other defects were: Tail lights, 4 per cent; windshield wipers, 5 per cent; steering wheel, 6 per cent, and brake pedals, 8 per cent.

is an emergency call from your gums

THAT first trace of "pink" on your tooth brush (how long ago was that?) was a faint S O S from your gums.

If neglected, your gums are now probably sending out an emergency call every time you clean your teeth—and "pink tooth brush" certainly is no joke!

A child's gums are firm, hard, healthy. But year after year of soft foods which do not exercise or stimulate the gums leaves them flabby, touchy, tender.

If allowed to go on and on, "pink tooth brush" makes them easy candidates for many diseases of the gums—for gingivitis and Vincent's disease and even for that much dreaded (but less frequent) pyorrhea. In time it may even lead to infection at the roots of your teeth. And that, of course, threatens the teeth themselves.

Yet there's a simple, inexpensive way to check "pink tooth brush". It's this: Clean your teeth with Ipana Tooth Paste. But each time you clean them, put some additional Ipana on your brush or finger-tip, and lightly massage it into those inactive gums of yours! Wake them up! Set the blood to circulating!

Almost immediately you'll see that your teeth are brightening up. Ipana's a splendid tooth paste. In addition, the ziratol in Ipana, massaged into the gums, begins to tone and stimulate them to new firmness, new health. Within thirty days, you'll see a big change for the better!

And if you keep on regularly using Ipana Tooth Paste with massage, you won't be troubled with those emergency calls in the form of "pink tooth brush"!

LAWLESS HIGHWAY POLICE.

Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court has taken cognizance of the fact that jurors frequently discount the evidence of policemen in traffic cases. Accordingly, the judge has requested the police department to obtain the names of civilian witnesses, if possible, when motorists are arrested.

The police have only themselves to blame for the widespread distrust of their testimony. A public which has for years been plagued with speed traps, insolence, and shakedowns is not likely to put much faith in the unsupported testimony of a traffic policeman. When it comes to taking the word either of the policeman or the motorist, the majority of jurors will not hesitate to give the benefit of the doubt to the motorist.

In some respects this distrust of police evidence is not warranted. Probably the proportion of abusive and dishonest traffic policemen is small, particularly in Chicago, but the Chicago force suffers from the resentments created by its own toughs and more especially from the resentments created by the irresponsible and undisciplined motorcycle men and Rhine baron justices in the suburbs. To a civilian a policeman is a policeman, and no fine distinctions are drawn between men of one jurisdiction and those of another. They all wear stars and carry pistols.

The civilian who has been arrested without cause in a suburb, who has been shaken down by a Jesse James, or beaten in a police cell in Berwyn is going to remember the fact and act upon it if ever he has a chance to judge as between policeman and civilian. And so, too, is the man who never has been subjected to shakedown or abuse, but whose friends have told him how it feels.

If the police wish to regain the confidence of the public in their disinterestedness, the first step must be the routing of the shakedown artists who patrol the roads. So far as Chicago is concerned, that is the business of the police administrators and outside Chicago it is the business of the village authorities and the state's attorneys.

Meanwhile there is more than a mere desire to obtain convictions to justify Judge Sonsteby's request for civilian witnesses. The lack of confidence in police testimony is not without basis in experience. If many juries are prone to discount the testimony of policemen many judges are too prone to believe it.

BRITISH SUPREMACY IN SPEED.

British newspapers and magazines take a justifiable pride in the accomplishments of British engineers in creating racing machines. The British hold the world's record for speed on land, in the water, and in the air. They have built the world's fastest automobile, the world's fastest motor boat, and the world's fastest airplane, and British pilots have handled these machines in their record breaking achievements.

It is true, of course, that British preëminence in the old fashioned sports is pretty much a thing of the past. Englishmen used to lead the world in yachting, golf, tennis, polo, and running, to name only the more conspicuous of the games which Britain taught the world to play. To a considerable extent we have taken the championships in these activities and held them.

It is paradoxical that the United States, which is commonly regarded as preëminent in mechanical skill and in addiction to speed, has made no serious effort in years to wrest the championships in mechanical speed. We have been content to let the British make and hold the records, with the possible exception of that for motor boats, and we have allowed the British to do the pioneering work in the creation of the engines for their record breaking achievements.

We have the golf players and the yachting cup and they have the prizes in applied mechanics. If the future belongs to those who are mechanically preëminent we seem to be getting off to a poor start.

A FEDERAL JURY GETS LOOSE.

A federal jury in the Buffalo district has returned a verdict of guilty against a federal prohibition agent charged with third degree assault. Three enforcement agents were accused of beating the son of a hotel man. Two were acquitted and one found guilty. United States District Attorney Richard Templeton, who defended the customs guard killers of Jacob Hanson, defended the three agents. The practice of the federal department of justice compels the state to prosecute in the federal courts before juries in charge of United States marshals. The county prosecutor, Glenn Woodin, had to make his case in such circumstances, but nevertheless was successful in making it stand against one of the agents.

If this is not the first time state prosecution of federal prohibition agents offending state laws has succeeded within the limitations of prosecution imposed by the department of justice it is one of cases so few as to be extraordinary.

The federal government's contention in this as in other cases was that if the agents were not permitted to go privileged about their work they couldn't do it, and it was the state's contention that if they were so privileged no citizen's life was safe. The privileges and immunities which the federal government has extended to its own hoodlums have made a national scandal.

In time it was certain that juries would become restless and impatient of such procedure. Wherever the jury system has been unimpaired in the life of a people excessive law and violent administration of it will be checked by the sense of fairness prevailing in the citizenship from which juries are drawn. Government can do much to prevent this for a while, but it is a virtue of the jury trial that a system of law enforcement imposing excessive punishments and seeking official immunities will find its master in the refusal of people to submit to it.

AN AMERICAN COMEDY.

Theodore Dreiser went into Kentucky with a few liberal minded New York writers to look into the state of affairs in the coal mining district. He was in about the mood of the navy investigators. They knew what they were going to find before they found it. He asked the governor for protection and gave warning that if he or any of his associates were injured the governor would be held responsible. Very shortly Mr. Dreiser was deep in the simple folkways of the people. He exposed himself, without cause, he says, to the primitive virtues.

It is not clear that Mr. Dreiser's Clyde in "An American Tragedy" has a just case against society. The fate which got the boy appears more natural than social. What never gave him a chance was old Mother Nature, even if Mr. Dreiser will not have it that way, but in Mr. Dreiser's own case society is obviously engaged in rough work at the crossroads. A warrant charging the author with adultery was taken out by residents of Pineville, where he spent a night. The elect of the city, being pure in heart, suspected something and they report that, having spied a blond entering his room, they put toothpicks against the door. In the morning the toothpicks, they said, were found undisturbed, and virtue, triumphant as well as shrewd, hastened to the police judge for a warrant which was not, however, served. That did not end the matter. Circuit Court Judge Jones instructed the grand jury to investigate and if the evidence revealed that Mr. Dreiser had been in Pineville with a concubine, as the court phrased it, to indict both.

Mr. Dreiser says that there is nothing whatever to the case. There ought to be good copy in it, the pastoral scene, the simple virtues, the bucolic toothpicks and a real victim of society. No doubt Mr. Dreiser is prepared to find that capitalistic society was at his door with the toothpicks, but more likely it was fundamentalist society. Some one should have warned him against the perils of the countryside. There are many things a novelist should know when he goes on missions. Anyway, Mr. Dreiser is a much more plausible victim of society than his boy friend, Clyde, and possibly he and Hollywood could agree on the theme at least of this.

Editorial of the Day

THE SPECIAL SESSION.

[Danville Commercial-News.]

Gov. Emmerson's message to the special session of the Illinois state legislature depicts a gloomy financial situation in the state, but more especially in Cook county and the city of Chicago. The message is strictly a busines document, dealing with no subject that might legitimately be warped into a political issue. It sets out the needs of the state, of certain subdivisions such as townships, and the county of Cook and the city of Chicago. These needs are practically all financial and must somehow be supplied.

Gov. Emmerson recounts the circumstances and the various steps taken that forestalled the collection of taxes in Cook county, the one item of real estate alone in 1929 amounting to $64,000,000. In the previous year it was $16,000,000. This default seriously cut into the ordinary revenue of both the city and the state. Appropriations were made and contracts entered into for public improvements, anticipating the payment of these taxes at the usual time. The default has greatly embarrassed both the city and state, the former now being practically bankrupt and the latter nearing the bottom of the till.

It will require long heads and seasoned experience to straighten out the snarl, but the job ought to be thoroughly done at the special session. There will be no general legislation to interfere, and the entire winter, if necessary, should be devoted to giving Chicago and Cook county a workable revenue system. The future welfare and progress of downstate is so dependent upon the growth and prosperity of Chicago that the problems involved in the proposed legislation should be given earnest study by every member of the legislative body.

THE ECSTATIC REPORTS from London yesterday describing the king's opening of parliament after telling about all the earls and dukes and things like that in their robes said: "And there sits Charles G. Dawes, American ambassador to the court of St. James, distinguished among such glitter by his homely evening dress." Pish, tush, and a series of hollow groans. Charley may have had on a homely evening dress, but we'll bet a couple of doughnuts that he had on sox that would make the proudest peacock that ever strutted a lawn go and hang himself with sheer jealousy.

NEWSPAPER HEADLINES yesterday shrieked because a gentleman said to be the brother-in-law to the White House was arrested by prohibition agents for infractions of the eighteenth amendment. Well, nobody can be held responsible for acts of providence, unavoidable accidents, inflammatory rheumatism, or what his brother-in-law does.

THE POEMS at the top and bottom of today's column are reprinted from Armistice Day Lines of other years by request. They are also in the Linebooks of 1929 and 1924, respectively, but so many of you wrote in asking for them that we could hardly refuse to give them to you again today. And as a matter of fact we are very pleased to do so, and thank all of you who wrote in for wanting them.

ARMISTICE OBSERVANCE.

Call "Armistice!" and bellow brummagem,
Shout all the portly platitudes we own:
They will not hear, those lithe, gay, eager lads
Who rest in truce apart from us, unknown.

Sentinel for the silent ranks, and this Is all St. Juvin knows of celebrants
And promises, to mark an armistice.

THE SOLICITOR.

WE HAVE the League of Nations, the Kellogg Peace Pact, the disarmament conferences, and all our gentle pacifists over here in the U. S. A. And we made the world safe for democracy. But what seems to be quite a fine, healthy war is raging now right over in Manchuria. It is really most discouraging. Sometimes the earnest souls who plan to turn this into a perfect world must get just a tiny mite discouraged.

THE NATIONAL BUSINESS show here this week reports a marvelous lot of new mechanical devices for the office. But, goodness gracious, smart as they are they haven't invented a place yet where Stella the Sympathetic Stenographer can park her gum and find it when the boss is through dictating without just turning the whole place upside down.

WHATEVER SUFFERING the striking miners in Kentucky may have undergone, Theodore Dreiser's going down there among them isn't going to help things very much if a striking miner is anything like us. All the striking miners will be walking around with a pain in the neck. There's something about Theodore that causes that.

PRINCE NICOLAS of Rumania is reported to have told his royal brother, King Carol, to go roll his hoop and eloped with somebody or other. Well, about the only way what's left of royalty these days can get on the front page is to elope. That gives them a double chance, for next comes the divorce. Then they can elope again and so on. Oh, the royalty trade has just about gone into the discard, that's all.

ARMISTICE DAY.

Face to the East! It seems a grim jest,
For this is to honor the lads who "went West."
Face to the East! Stop the traffic and noise;
The moment is sacred, it belongs to the boys.
Face to the East! Banker, farmer, and clerk,
Every rank, all conditions, stop both play and work!
Face to the East! This moment's for them,
Our gay laughing boys who died, aye, like men.
Face to the East! and murmur a prayer
For the lads who forever have gone "Over There."
Face to the East! While mem'ry enwraps
Her dear arms around us. Now, Bugler, sound "taps."

TO YOU who spent weary months in barren, gloomy training camps in remorseless drudgery——

TO YOU who went overseas and under murderous fire and sickening, torturing gas, never faltered nor failed——

TO YOU who defied submarines and a nameless grave in the ocean and landed our army in France——

TO YOU who are still suffering from wounds and gas, shellshock and disease——

TO YOU who died——

OUR PRAYERS, our love, and our tears.

ACID AND ALKALI-ASH FOODS.

A PERSON who has symptoms that are commonly ascribed to acidosis should have a blood examination to determine the degree of alkalinity. If this is impossible, careful study of the reactions of several specimens of urine will have to suffice. This is recommended, because the symptoms of alkalosis, or too much alkali, are almost identical with those of the opposite condition, acidosis, or too much acid.

The symptoms of acidosis are due to excess of any one of several acids, one of which is the acid ash, which results from eating too much foods of one kind and too little of another. This article has to do principally with the prevention of acidosis due to this cause.

According to Dr. V. E. Levine, the acid producing foods are all of the breads and cereals, and all the products of grains. In his list, whole wheat, shredded wheat, whole wheat flour, and oatmeal head the list, with a rating of 12, and white bread and buckwheat flour end it with one of 7. Yellow of egg is much higher, being given a rating of 25. The white is rated 5, and the entire egg, 11.

Among the meats and fish, smoked herring leads with a rating of 18, and beef juice is lowest with one of 3. Other meats and fish rank, from above downward, in this order: Oysters, dried beef, lean ham, codfish, round beef free from fat, whitefish, salmon, sardines, beef steak, liver, veal, chicken, turkey, pork, lamb, blackfish, halibut, trout, haddock, kidney, and pork sausage. Walnuts and peanuts are on the acid list.

It will be noted that the meats having the greatest acid content are those that have been dried. It is the concentration of substance, by reason of the drying, and not the composition of the fresh meat itself, that makes these foods run high in acids.

The alkali or base ash foods are headed by figs and dried beans [both concentrated by drying], and are followed by other foods in the order given: Olives, soy beans, spinach, watermelon, dried beans, chard, fresh lima beans, rutabagas, chestnuts, almonds, parsnips, beets, carrots, dates, raisins, canned lima beans, rhubarb, celery, cucumbers, lettuce, potatoes, pineapple, muskmelon, fresh chestnuts, fresh apricots, sweet potatoes, cabbage, fresh tomatoes, fresh string beans, cauliflower, lentils, cherries, orange juice, oranges, currants, lemons, condensed milk, dried peas, peaches, lemon juice, grape juice, apples, mushrooms, fresh peas, string beans, radishes, squash, turnips, pears, grapes, onions, and cocoanuts.

Dieting is not the only method of prevention of acidosis in children. Some are subject to such attacks because of rickets. They need more sunlight and air, and more cod liver oil, viosterol, and radiated foods. Some need more calcium; others need to alter their mode of living.

In the treatment of acute attacks of acidosis it is still customary to give soda. Levine quotes Clarke and Dow: "Our own experience in the treatment of acidosis with alkalis has led us to believe that if one wishes to succeed in his care of these suddenly stricken children, some treatment other than alkali is necessary. We have injected whole blood subcutaneously, with the mother as donor. Recovery was gratifying."

A TEMPER TANTRUM.

Mrs. J. K. A. writes: When my 14 month old baby cries hard he falls backward and collapses. He seems to hold his breath to the stage where he can't get it until he gets stiff and collapses. He has done this for about three months, since we came up to the mountains [altitude about 8,000 feet]. Do you think this altitude has anything to do with these spells? He gets pale and weak afterward. What can I do to keep him from having those spells? He is a healthy child otherwise.

REPLY.

This is a temper tantrum. Another reason for such spells is a desire to get something or to have his way. Children with this type of personality are headed for social and personality troubles. The remedy is training.

SIDEWALK OBSTRUCTIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—[Friend of the People.]—For many months our street has been used for displaying merchants' wares. Fruits, vegetables, and dozens of chicken coops litter the sidewalk, and sometimes citizens have to "switch" off and let each other get by, so little of the walk is left to them. And the stench is unbearable at times. Is it not possible to have these conditions changed?

R. L. M.

A patrolman was assigned to this post on days and has been instructed to keep the sidewalks clear and to issue summons to merchants where he finds goods being displayed on sidewalk in violation of the law. The condition complained of will be remedied.

JAMES P. ALLMAN,
Commissioner of Police.

NOT OBLIGED TO REPORT.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am heir to my father's share of his mother's estate. She is dead over a year. I heard indirectly that my aunt is administratrix. I have repeatedly written to her and received no reply. Is there any way that I could demand a settlement, and that my share be paid over to me? The estate is in Pennsylvania.

W. T. B.

Your aunt is under no obligation to report to you, but you will presumably receive your share automatically when the estate is closed.

WIDOW'S PENSION.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Please advise to whom application should be made for a widow's pension. 2. Is it true one cannot secure this unless in absolute need? 3. If the widow still has a small insurance would she be ineligible? There are two small children.

D. R.

1. Illinois has no pension for widows as such. The mothers' pension is administered by the Juvenile court, Ogden avenue and Roosevelt road.
2. Yes.
3. Depends upon its adequacy.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 11, 1915.

WASHINGTON.—Heavy loss in American lives when the Italian liner Ancona was sunk by a submarine in the Mediterranean is indicated in cables from United States Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page in Rome to the state department. Mr. Page reported 27 Americans "are believed to have been lost." His dispatch conflicts with others which say there were only 24 Americans aboard and that some of them escaped. Most of the Americans aboard were naturalized citizens, natives of southern Europe. The known victims, according to Mr. Page's dispatch, were Alexander Patattivo, his wife and four children, of New York, and Mrs. Francisco Mascolo Lamura. Mrs. Cecile L. Griel was named as the one known American survivor among the passengers.

LONDON.—A Central News dispatch from Rome says there is no news of 110 persons who were on board the Ancona and that it is presumed they were killed by the gunfire of the submarine. Reports are that the Ancona was sunk without an opportunity for the passengers to escape. After shelling the lifeboats the submarine fired a torpedo and the Ancona began to sink. It sent out a wireless call for help, which was heard by the station at Bizerta, Tunis, and aid was sent promptly. Latest advices from Naples say 320 survivors have been landed at Tunis ports and 50 at Malta. The number of passengers is placed at 482 and the crew has been estimated variously from 60 to 100.

LONDON.—Twenty-three men were killed and 50 wounded in an attack by gunfire from a submarine on the British transport Mercian in the Mediterranean. The Mercian escaped and reached port. Five ships besides the Ancona have been sunk in the submarine warfare of the last few days. They are the France, a French transport; the Californian, Moorina, and Clan McAlister, all British steamers, and the Frauenlob, German protected cruiser, which was torpedoed off the coast of Sweden.

GREAT BEND, Kas.—Twelve persons are known to have been killed and more than 100 injured in a tornado which swept over this city and vicinity.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 11, 1901.

TOPEKA, Kas.—Sheriff Cook of this county was captured by two escaped convicts from the Leavenworth penitentiary at Pauline, five miles south of Topeka, and held prisoner in a farmhouse for several hours. The officer, hot on the trail of the convicts, blundered into the house without waiting for the reinforcements for which he had telephoned. He was disarmed and held prisoner with the farmer and his wife. The convicts threatened to kill the officer if any attempts at capture were made, marched out of the house between two rows of police who had arrived from Topeka, and, using the prisoners as shields, tramped away, jeering at the police, and are now at large.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—The trouble between Gov. Jeff Davis and Editor A. J. Kendrick of the Fort Scott News-Record may end in a tragedy. The governor wants the editor indicted for libel. The prosecuting attorney says he doesn't think the governor has been libeled. The governor declares that unless the editor is indicted he will take his shotgun and go on the warpath for personal satisfaction. The trouble arose when the governor pardoned four women from the penitentiary. Editor Kendrick made an editorial attack on the chief executive and, among other things, charged him with accepting a bribe to free the female prisoners.

CHICAGO.—Sunday golf playing has been condemned officially by the Episcopal church. In the pastoral letter of the bishops to the clergy and the laity, which was read in several Chicago churches yesterday, the practice is declared to be one of the main causes for the growing disregard of Sunday.

CHICAGO.—Father J. J. Crowley attended high mass at the Holy Name cathedral and no attempt was made to exclude him from the church.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 11, 1881.

WASHINGTON.—The end has come to Attorney General MacVeagh's contemptible star route farce. Judge Cox threw the case out of court and thus the attempt of the government to prosecute the cases without the intervention of the grand jury by the process technically called "information" has failed. Judge Cox in substance ruled the fifth article of the amendments to the constitution of the United States provides that no person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime unless under presentment or indictment by a grand jury and that the offense charged in the information is in the opinion of the court plainly infamous.

CAPE COAST CASTLE.—The king of Ashantee killed 200 young girls for the purpose of using their blood for mixing mortar for the repair of one of the state buildings. The report of the massacre is made by one of the intended victims who succeeded in making her escape. The story is not discredited, as the king is known to have ordered similar massacres on other occasions.

CHICAGO.—Mr. and Mrs. Jacob W. Forsythe deeded to the East Chicago Improvement company, a New Jersey corporation, 800 acres of land known as the Forsythe farm, just across the Indiana state line on the lake shore, for the sum of $1,000,000. Mr. Forsythe received from Mr. Green, the president of the company, a check for $333,333 and mortgage notes to secure payment of the other two-thirds. The improvement company will begin operations at East Chicago soon.

CHICAGO.—The most brilliant social event of the year at Norwood Park was the celebration of the nuptials of Charles P. Wheeler of Evanston and Miss Mattie F. Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Seymour, which took place at the Seymour home. The Rev. Dr. D. H. Wheeler of New York City, editor of The Methodist and father of the bridegroom, officiated.

THE DEAD LANGUAGES.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—I was surprised to find in your column this morning a letter requesting that the University college should open a beginning Greek class. I thought all that stuff was forgotten. If the Chicago university finds a chance to spread its "sphere of influence" in the downtown neighborhood, it should devote its courses to something more useful in the present day era than a stuffy old language that has no use today except for doctors and ministers that want to hide their light under a bushel. There are plenty of people that could use practical night courses and some can go days. But what these people need is courses like drafting and commerce. Engineering courses should also be given because they are practical, but they take too long for most of us who are out in the world.

For example, Greek and Latin and Hebrew are so far gone and dead that it is doubtful if any member of the cabinet know them, or if they have studied them they do not remember anything about them. President Hoover is a practical man who knows mathematics and the sciences and he has never needed Greek to get where he is today. Greek and Latin are dead languages and can be of no good use in building success.

JOHN HOCHSCHMIDT.

A MALT TAX.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Tobacco already taxed by the federal government is recommended for further taxation by the governor's commission, while malt and hops used in the making of beer against the law, is never even thought of as a possible source of income.

I know that the theory is that malt and hops is used in food, but I know also that without a doubt almost all sold through the stores is used for making beer, and beer is just as much of a luxury as tobacco. Why not tax malt and hops?

Go a step further and tax the theater tickets again. Here is an untaxed luxury so far as the patrons are concerned, and one on which a tax worked out very well for the federal government.

JAMES E. ROACH.

THE FIGHTING IRISH.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Looking over the list of players that Notre Dame used for their first team against Pennsylvania last Saturday, I should judge that "The Fightin' Poles" would be a more appropriate name for them than "The Fightin' Irish." They are Kosky, Krause, Harriss, Yarr, Hoffman, Kurth, Jaskwhich, Schwartz, Shepketski, Melinkovich, and, to be sure, Mahony. The substitutes are in about the same proportion of Irish.

K. J. SINCLAIR.

A TAX SOLUTION.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—If we had a state income tax, a revised and enforced personal property tax together with a fair real estate tax no one tax would be high and our city, county and state would be able to function and no one would be overburdened with taxes and we could collect taxes from all forms of wealth instead of overtaxing the real estate owners. With these three taxes the rate would be low and I do not believe any citizen who wanted to do his share in his city, state and county would object to paying them.

TAXPAYER.

ALCOHOL AND MENTAL BALANCE.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—With due respect to Dr. Evans, some of my friends as well as myself are very much resenting the greatest part of his reply in "Diet and Drinking." He said that men who drink alcoholic beverages are "somewhat out of mental balance." This is, in our opinion, a great insult to a great many people, especially Germans, Italians, and French, nations which have been drinking and still are drinking beer and wine. According to Dr. Evans' reply, men of these nations must be "somewhat out of mental balance." Furthermore, some of our past great Presidents have been drinkers of beer and wine and, I am sure, none of them have been "somewhat out of mental balance."

PAUL H. LEUTLOFF

A SUGGESTION.

Sawyer, Mich., Nov. 4.—Why not tax the following: Old maids, bachelors, baldheaded men, and people that sound their horns in front of your place until you come out, then ask foolish questions?

LADY OF THE LAKE.

INTERDEPENDENCE.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—De [illegible] L. S. Ingeman of the Iron [illegible] that we are an interdependent [illegible] It would be very nice to have [illegible] ment for all the trades people of [illegible] cago, but what about the trades people of other communities? Suppose the citizens of the east and south should say "Let us confine our buying of [illegible] clothes to those manufactured in our respective cities." What would happen to the trades people employed in the extensive clothing industries here in Chicago?

We have many industries here in Chicago such as the International Harvester company who are dependent for existence on world-wide trade, and what would happen if the farmers and users of other Chicago commodities should say "Let us boycott Chicago-made material and buy only products made in our own community"?

We cannot afford to [illegible] against either workmen or [illegible] Just because they do not come from the city of Chicago. We are dependent on every state in the Union for something and by the same token they are dependent on us. Set up a barrier against the entrance of outside production on anything and where will we be?

S. C. NEWTON.

SAFE MILK.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—In THE TRIBUNE of Nov. 5 there appears a news story on the front page having to do with the death of Charles Nutcher. This story states that Mr. Nutcher died of a disease contracted "probably by drinking milk from an infected animal."

In fairness to the dairy industry of Chicago, we feel that this statement should be qualified in so far as stating it is clear that Mr. Nutcher contracted the disease from raw milk and that [illegible] been pasteurized, as is all Chicago milk, there would have been no danger. Bacteriologists agree that pasteurization destroys the undulant fever germ but may be present in some milk.

Chicagoans can feel perfectly safe in regard to their milk supply, as it is all pasteurized and enjoys triple inspection by the health department, by the distributors, and by the producers.

A. M. ERIS,

A CONTRAST.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—On the front page of THE TRIBUNE, Monday, Nov. 2, under the heading "Gunman Steals Taxi and Goes on Rampage."

On page 21 of the same issue "Dog and Wire Up Watchman, but He Puts Bandits"; and also "Battles Armed Bandits with Fists and Nails Victory."

Why are the heroic efforts of the two men minimized to the extent that these two items are relegated to a back page while the first page carries a story of a drunken gunman whom the police failed to get?

CYRIL SHERMAN.

THE ULTIMATE DEFAULT.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Why should [illegible] naires have beer any more than other people? And it's a fact that they do have their beer. I attended five or six [illegible] picnics this summer and saw beer there. I am positive of this because I drank some. I know six service men who had a reunion every Saturday night and they drink at least two dozen bottles of beer and play cards at these weekly gatherings. It is about time the 2d was put on the Legion and their demand for beer.

L. M. [illegible]

PROMOTING UNEMPLOYMENT.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—When [illegible] 7,000 sailors go he not only throws [illegible] men out of a job, but he puts an entire town out. I am speaking of the Chicago Woolen mills at Clinton, Mich. The mill is closed down and no [illegible] when it will reopen. They made nearly all navy and army goods. This mill never closed before in 25 years except one week each year for repairs and to give the employes a week's vacation. One-third of Clinton worked in the mill.

E. VAN DE MARK.

RASPBERRIES.

Minooka, Ill., Nov. 5.—I noticed your items about raspberries at Warner, Ind., and elsewhere. Why go so far out? At Minooka, Ill., the Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Aylesworth have been picking and canning raspberries all through October and a big picking is awaiting us on the vines for tomorrow morning.

W. W. AYLESWORTH.

Assail Competition Waste in Industry.

Proration of the nation's oil output, to stabilize prices and conserve resources, modification of the Sherman anti-trust law, and elimination of gasoline bootlegging are the main problems under discussion by the American Petroleum Institute, meeting at the Stevens hotel.

The twelfth annual meeting of the institute, with 1,500 representatives of a $12,000,000,000 industry, opened yesterday and will continue through tomorrow.

The Sherman act was assailed as "a force hostile to our economic welfare, injuring trade and crippling commerce," by Oscar Sutro, vice president and general counsel of the Standard Oil Company of California, who addressed the general assembly.

Waste Resources, He Says.

"The law sanctions the waste of our natural resources and renders our industries in that field defenseless against overproduction," said Mr. Sutro. "They are the victims of fierce and destructive competition in a race that increases surplus production. In the copper industry stocks more than doubled in 1930 and despite prices below cost of production the surplus continues to increase in 1931.

"In the coal industry and in the lumber industry production far exceeds consumption and though prices decline the surplus increases.

"In the petroleum industry, existing wells produce twice as much oil as can be consumed, yet new drilling has been carried on with total disregard of consuming ability. On Oct. 10 stocks of gasoline were 30,836,000 barrels, or 7,368,000 barrels in excess of the economic figure."

Mr. Sutro declared that congress had failed to distinguish between "conspiracies," or monopolies in restraint of trade for which the Sherman act was intended, and "combinations" which he called "natural and sane agreements to avoid waste, surplus and destruction."

"We have outgrown the Sherman act," he said. "The belt has become too tight. We should loosen it. We need not throw it away."

Opposes Modification.

Henry L. Doherty, head of H. L. Doherty & Co., New York, rose at the conclusion of Mr. Sutro's address and objected to the proposed modification of the Sherman act. It has not prevented the oil industry from doing anything it wanted to do, he said.

E. B. Reeser of the Barnsdall Oil corporation, who is president of the institute, also dwelt on the subject of waste in the industry and warned against the danger of exhausting the petroleum supply.

Restriction failed in the cases of coffee, rubber, and wheat, he said, because the schemes were designed to "peg" prices. The petroleum industry is dealing, according to Mr. Reeser, with an irreplaceable, rather than a crop product, and there is no analogy between the two.

Attack Gas Tax Dodgers.

The gasoline tax and its evasion were the principal topics of discussion at last night's session. The oil men were informed through a paper read for Dr. Clyde L. King, secretary of revenue for Pennsylvania, that one billion gallons of gasoline of the 15 billion gallons consumed annually in the United States escapes taxation. The tax varies from 2 to 7 cents a gallon, according to the state.

"This huge racket can be routed if the states will take rotten politics out of tax enforcement, spend adequate money for auditors, and use adequate inspection methods," Dr. King said. Pennsylvania has collected $1,600,000 in delinquent gas taxes since February and has started more than 600 criminal prosecutions, according to Dr. King.

Edward G. Seubert of the Standard Oil company of Indiana reviewed the work that has been done in Illinois to curb the gasoline bootlegging evil, including the appointment of a commission by the governor, and pointed out that there is danger to the industry in increased gasoline taxation.

Sweetheart of Society Girl Shot to Death by Her Brother

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The first degree murder of his sister's suitor was charged this evening to Edward H. B. Allen, 23 year old sportsman and broker's clerk, as the outcome of a fatal shooting late last night. The shooting occurred in the apartment which young Allen, his father, Horace Allen, a retired wool manufacturer, and his sister, Rose E. W. Allen, a debutante, occupied at Green Hills farms in Overbrook.

Allen was held by Magistrate T. L. Cronin without bail to await action of Coroner George R. Huff of Montgomery county in connection with the slaying of Francis A. Donaldson III., 25 years old, a socially prominent bank employé. To the police Allen asserted he had fired a shotgun at Donaldson to protect his sister. His attorney, John R. K. Scott, announced that his defense would be based upon an alleged betrayal of Miss Allen by Donaldson.

Tells of Brother's Threat.

A few minutes before the court hearing the girl had told police a story of months of quarreling between her and her brother, who, she asserted, had threatened to "blow off the head" of Donaldson if he ever found the bank clerk in their home with his sister.

"My father and my brother are entirely responsible for this," Miss Allen is quoted as saying. "My brother ordered me out of the apartment. Now I'm out and I'm going to stay out."

Miss Allen, according to police, told of being friendly for eighteen months with Donaldson, who was a son of Francis A. Donaldson Jr., a partner in a Philadelphia insurance firm. She said her brother and father had raised objections to her suitor a year ago but that a subsequent agreement had been reached by which she met him twice a week.

Following a quarrel between herself and her brother yesterday afternoon, she appealed to her father and on receiving little sympathy packed some baggage and left for a hotel. There she, Donaldson, and his friend, Edward G. Lucas, decided that the two men should visit the Allen apartment to discuss matters with Mr. Allen and his son.

"We have established that there was a quarrel over the attitude the father and son had taken toward the girl and that Donaldson punched Allen in the face," said Police Captain I. Mullin.

"Allen then went five miles to the home of H. R. Roberts in Rosemont and obtained his shotgun, which he kept there. He returned and shot Donaldson as the latter was in the act of leaving the apartment, and while he still had his hand on the doorknob.

Indicates Premeditation.

"It is undoubtedly first degree murder. The very fact that he journeyed so far to get the gun indicated premeditation."

The arrested Allen said according to the police, "Of course I shot him."

When a stenographer was produced, the police said, he asserted he had obtained the gun only "to scare Donaldson."

Capt. Mullin said it had been learned that the objection of the Allen family to marriage between Donaldson and Miss Allen had its basis in a wish of her mother, who died recently, according to the detective. She requested her husband and son "not to let this marriage go on."

Miss Allen, who is 18, said she could explain what her father's objections to Donaldson were, "but I won't."

The younger Allen is known from Belmont Park to Tia Juana as one of the best steeplechase riders in the country. He formerly was master of hounds for the Radnor hunt.

Dismiss Rape Case Here; Prosecute in Will County

Charges that Charles Latronica, 24 years old, participated in the kidnaping and rape of two 15 year old girls were not pressed yesterday before Municipal Judge J. William Brooks when the court was informed that Latronica and his two companions will be prosecuted in Will county, where the girls are alleged to have been raped. Latronica's brother, Dominick, a south side beer runner, was murdered last June.

Ever notice how many OLD HUDSON and ESSEX cars you see?

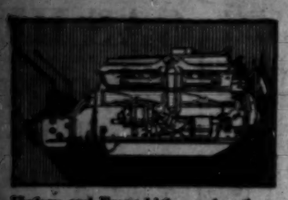
BATTERED and travel-stained, weather-beaten and road-worn, everywhere you see them coursing the highways or parked at the curbs—Hudson and Essex cars of an ancient vintage.



Hudson and Essex high-speed engines are the highest compression power units in use today, operating on standard fuels. The eight-cylinder Hudson "Greater Eight" develops 87 horsepower at 3600 r. p. m.; the Essex "Super Six," 60 horsepower at 3300 r. p. m. So efficient is Hudson and Essex engine design, owners may use ordinary gasoline without annoyance from engine knock They're old, they're rusted, they rattle and are not much to look at—but, mark you, they're still on the job!

You see more of them than of other comparably priced makes, because most of the other cars of the same year's issue have gone out of use, gone to the junk-yard and the scrap-pile.

Selective Free Wheeling—Hudson and Essex drivers can "select" to free wheel or not, according to the road. On the straightaway and rolling highways you can enjoy the floating speed and gas-economy of free wheeling. Descending steep grades where you need the engine's extra braking power, a convenient control near the clutch lever throws the motor into conventional gear—instantly—without clashing. An optional feature

But these Hudson and Essex veterans are still smoothly putting the miles behind them, still paying big service dividends to the man in the driver's seat.

They said in competitive salesrooms that these cars wouldn't stand up, that their outstanding performance was spectacularly good but it couldn't last.

Improved welding practice makes every Hudson and Essex body a single unit of rattle-proof steel from one windshield pillar around the body to the opposite windshield pillar; and panels of silencing material, forming a body within a body, eliminate creaks, drumming and other body noises and operating sounds

They said that engines which turned at such high speed, which delivered such surging acceleration and abundant sustained power, would be all right for a time, but that no popularly priced car structure could endure their prolonged operation.

"—mark you, they're still on the job!"

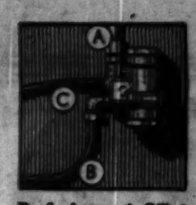
Startix, the Automatic Self-Starter—a new safety feature available at slight extra cost—makes Hudson and Essex motors stall-proof. Should you stall your motor on hills or in traffic, Startix restarts it—instantly and automatically. Operated by the ignition lock, Startix starts your motor the moment you turn the switch, and keeps it going as long as the ignition is "on"

Well, they were wrong—you have only to look around to see that—and these Hudson and Essex cars are still doing their stuff while their heavier, slower brethren have long since given up the ghost.

Talk to the men driving these old-timers and you'll find something more than a satisfied owner; you'll find a zealot whose first enthusiasm has never waned. The Hudson and Essex cars now being shown by our distributors and dealers are built to the same advanced pattern as were their sturdy fellows of old.

Aluminum Pistons are tested and proved features in both Hudson and Essex cars. Many other popularly priced cars still utilize the earlier type cast iron pistons, although in notable cases their producers recognize the superiority of aluminum pistons by incorporating them in their more expensive cars

This year as in former years they embody exclusive engineering and structural advantages that will not be found generally available in other cars for another twelve or eighteen months.



Duoso Automatic Oiling System—another exclusive Hudson and Essex development. An oversize aviation type pump forces two simultaneous streams of oil (A and B) to the front and rear of the engine, drenching every bearing in a continuous spray of fresh oil. Oil returns (C) to pump from a series of cooling baffles which reduce its temperature 45°, keeping it from thinning out with heat and reducing oil consumption

They typify that leadership in motor car design and invention which throughout the automobile industry has given rise to the saying: "Watch Hudson!"

The time for you to look at a Hudson or Essex is before you decide what car to buy; otherwise you are literally spending your good money with your eyes shut! Hudson Motor Car Company, Detroit, Michigan.

ASK LAW TO GIVE SCHOOL FINANCE POWER TO MAYOR

Bill Provides Rein on Board's Spending.

A bill which would give the mayor and city controller absolute power over the financial policies and building contracts of the board of education was drawn yesterday by Leon Hornstein, first assistant corporation counsel.

He sent copies of the bill to Mayor Cermak and Controller Szymczak, asking them to pass on the advisability of submitting it to the legislature. Under the present law the mayor and controller have no discretion in signing warrants for expenditures by the school board. Their signatures on such warrants, or vouchers, are mandatory.

Treasurer Kearns' Suggestion.

City Treasurer Kearns suggested recently to Corporation Counsel Sexton that while the question has never been raised formally, an effort might be made at some time in the future to hold the mayor and controller responsible on their bonds for any illegal expenditures by the school board, on the ground that they signed warrants for the expenditures.

The bill which Mr. Hornstein drew is an amendment to the section of the law governing the issue of such warrants. To the present language of the section it would add:

"No public official shall be required to sign or countersign such warrants, except upon order of a court of competent jurisdiction, unless such officer shall first have approved the contract or order authorizing the indebtedness or expense in payment of which such warrant or warrants are issued.

A Further Provision.

"All such contracts or orders for work, material or supplies of any kind or nature before becoming of any effect shall first be approved by the public officers who are designated and required by statute to sign or countersign such warrants."

Such a provision would give the mayor and controller a veto power over every contract executed by the board of education. At present the mayor's only control of the school board is through appointment of its trustees.

Controversy has arisen between Mayor Cermak and the present board through refusal of those members who are holdovers from the last administration to accede to the mayor's demand that they resign and allow him to appoint trustees in accord with his policies.

Cermak Silent on Bill.

Mayor Cermak refused to comment on the proposed bill yesterday, saying that he had not studied it in detail. Controller Szymczak said that he was in favor of it, and disclosed that he presented a similar measure to the governor's revenue conference two weeks ago.

"I don't propose to dignify Mayor Cermak by engaging in a controversy with him," said President Myers of the school board when he was told of the proposed bill. "However, if that's what they want let them go ahead."

Delivery Is Started on New Telephone Directory

A force of 500 men yesterday began the delivery of the Chicago telephone directory for the winter of 1931-'32. Delivery will be completed not later than Nov. 23, according to officials of the telephone company. Throughout the city 900,000 books will be distributed. More than four million pounds of paper have gone into this issue of the directory.

ASKS DIVORCE

MME. HENRI BOUGEAREL. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Henri Bougearel, acting French consul for Chicago, yesterday was sued for divorce by his wife, Mrs. Harriet Prentiss Bougearel. The bill was filed in the Superior court. Mrs. Bougearel charged cruelty.

She recited that her marriage took place on May 28, 1929, in Waukegan. In May this year, she charged, her husband struck her with his fist and knocked her to the floor. Later, she charged, he twisted her arm and pushed her to the floor when he became angered. The incident occurred on July 7, according to the bill, and her husband left her that evening. Mrs. Bougearel asks the custody of her infant son, John, 1 year old. She also asks alimony. She is represented by Attorney William J. Corboy.

DAUGHTER WILL GET $32,894 IN BACK ALIMONY

Circuit Judge Daniel Trude yesterday indicated that on Nov. 30 he would enter an order for Richard J. Massey, head of Massey, Massey & Co., a flavoring extract concern, to pay $32,894 to his daughter, Mrs. Gwendolyn Massey Tibor, 1452 Fargo avenue. The money is the aggregate of alimony and interest he owes under a settlement made in February, 1928, when he was divorced by his wife, Laura, who died Sept. 15 the following year.

Under the agreement Massey had promised to pay $40,000 over a period of years, the residual sum to be paid to his daughter if his former wife died before the debt was cleared. Only $8,000 had been paid at the time of Mrs. Massey's death. Mrs. Tibor brought suit against her father and was awarded the judgment by a master-in-chancery two weeks ago. When she appeared with her attorney, Ernest Schein, before Judge Trude yesterday her father's attorney, Joseph Irose, objected to the entry of the judgment order on the grounds that Massey had not been given proper service. Judge Trude continued the date for the formal entry to allow proper notification.

140 SHIPS HELD UP BY LANDSLIDE IN PANAMA CANAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Nov. 10.—No traffic went through the Panama canal today. About seventy vessels are waiting on each side of the landslide, which resulted from heavy rains last week.

Officials today said they expected by tomorrow to have a channel cut 175 feet wide by 30 feet deep. They will then begin to move the ships through slowly.

Meantime, a quarter of a mile of the Panama railroad has been blocked by the slide. Gangs are being rushed to make a clearance. It is anticipated that a passageway will be made around the track.

MAYOR PROPOSES CENTRALIZING OF PUBLIC OFFICES

Urges Local Governments Buy Foreman Building.

Mayor Cermak suggested yesterday that the city and other local governmental bodies join in the purchase of the Foreman Bank building across the street from the city hall at Washington and La Salle streets, to house their various offices.

The quarters in the building formerly occupied by the Foreman banks have been vacant since the banks were taken over last June by the First National bank. The latter bank now holds the building.

Mayor Cermak suggested that the rents now paid by the state and local governmental agencies for office space, if pooled, would be sufficient to amortize in ten years a bond issue for the purchase of the bank skyscraper.

Offices Widely Scattered.

"The city now pays about $70,000 a year for downtown quarters for activities which it is unable to house in the city hall," said the mayor. "The county has to rent quarters outside the county building for some of its departments.

"The school board rents its administrative headquarters in the Steuben Club building, and some of its lawyers are already in the Foreman building. The sanitary district rents its quarters at 910 South Michigan avenue and the state has departments housed in half a dozen loop office buildings.

"The rents of all those offices must aggregate $1,000,000 a year. By the use of that money, the various governments could amortize in ten years the bonds necessary to purchase the building, and at the end of that period the taxpayers would own a fine skyscraper in place of a bundle of rent receipts."

Orders Gathering of Data.

Mayor Cermak instructed Joseph F. Peacock, city real estate agent, to gather information on the plan, preparatory to the presentation of a plea for the bond issue to the legislature.

Henry Paschen, a member of the contracting firm which built the building, entered the mayor's office during the discussion, and at Mayor Cermak's request agreed to assist Mr. Peacock.

N. U. EXPELS FIVE FOR DISORDERLY HOBO DAY TACTICS

There were a lot of high jinks last Friday on the Northwestern university campus in Evanston and as a result five students were expelled from school yesterday. They were charged with a disorderly effort to persuade other students to join in a hobo day celebration after it had been forbidden by school authorities.

The celebration of hobo day this year was forbidden by the board of student supervision as a result of last year's pranks, which took on some of the proportions of a riot.

According to President Walter Dill Scott not more than fifty students were involved. Authorities withheld the names of the five ringleaders who were expelled, but on the campus it was reported that they were:

WILLIAM J. SWAN, Elmira, N. Y., a junior in the school of comerce.

HOWARD J. WHITE JR., 3844 Sheridan road, Evanston, a junior.

STANLEY R. JACOBS, 1281 Asbury avenue, Evanston, a freshman in the college of liberal arts.

Slugged by Robber Gang, Victim Dies of Injuries

John McLaughlin, 54 years old, 2933 Drexel boulevard, died at the Woodlawn hospital last night of injuries suffered on Nov. 2, when he was struck on the head by robbers.

MAYOR PLEDGES $12,000,000 CUT IN 1932 BUDGET

Mayor Cermak promised yesterday in a speech before the Tuesday forum at the Central Y. M. C. A. that $12,000,000 will be trimmed off the city's budget for 1932. He has been able to salvage $4,000,000 from this year's appropriations since he took office in April, he said.

"We will be able to give the city better police protection in spite of the budget cut," the mayor said after praising Police Commissioner Allman. "When I took office there were only 1,800 policemen walking the streets. Within two months most of the 6,000 members of the force will be doing street duty."

After blaming overlapping governments for a large portion of the tax problem the mayor said:

"The heads of these governments don't seem to have enough courage to change them. There will never be a change until the taxpayers rise up and demand it."

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—For 29 years Mariette Garner has sat in her husband's outer office and made appointments for Tom or Dick or Harry to see Representative "Fighting Jack" Garner of Texas. But this afternoon it was she who sat in the inner office, and it was Jack who appeared at the door of the outer room and said:

"Etta, a newspaper woman just called up; wants to interview you. I told her tomorrow at ten; is that O. K.?"

MRS. MARIETTE GARNER.

Mrs. Garner nodded; that was official. Then she smiled; that was marital.

And then she went back to the interview she was giving.

For today, upon her arrival from her Texas farm, the woman who is very likely to succeed Alice Roosevelt Longworth in Washington official aristocracy, was busy being interviewed and photographed.

Will Keep Secretary Job.

Of course the question everybody asked was this:

"If your husband is elected speaker of the house will you continue to be his secretary?"

And her answer was a triumphant: "I certainly will."

Then she expanded her statement.

"I have been my husband's secretary for 29 years. I came down here with him his first term. I have worked with him, progressing from the trivial duties of a brand new congressman to the wide and complex responsibilities of the minority leader. For many years I was his sole secretary. Why, I couldn't possibly give up the work now, and I have no intention of doing so."

But what about the demands of society?

Mrs. Garner tossed her head in quite a businesslike way, and then smiled until a very unbusinesslike dimple lingered in her cheek. Then she gave her analysis of the situation.

"One doesn't have to play the society game in this town, even if one is in official life. That was proved conclusively by Mrs. Longworth herself. She wasn't her husband's secretary. But she had her own interests and she didn't waste her time going through empty social gestures. She'd rather wheel Paulina around the block than drink tea with a lot of people she didn't really know. She had her own friends and she preferred to visit with them than to leave thousands of cards at hundreds of strange doorways. That's the way I feel about it, too."

Being your husband's secretary doesn't give you a great deal of spare time; that is, not if you work at the job the way Mrs. Garner does.

Arrives at 7:30 A. M.

"We live at a hotel," she explained. "I have found that I couldn't be an efficient secretary and try to keep up a house. Our only child is married and so I have no family demands. I get up early, walk a mile and a half from the hotel to this office, every morning at seven thirty."

"What?" the interviewer interrupted.

"Yes, exactly at 7:30 you see me putting my key in that door. You see, Mr. Garner eats breakfast and I don't. So I get here, sort the mail, and have everything ready for Mr. Garner when he arrives."

Any social glamor that may ensnare the newcomer has long worn away in her case.

"You see, when we first came here I did not have much to do; you know a young congressman doesn't have much work. So when friends from home would come here and want to go places and see fine houses I'd go to receptions with them. I saw a lot of beautiful homes and lovely pictures. But now all I do is work."

Asked about the important gallery box that will be hers if her husband is speaker, Mrs. Garner believed that she might follow her old custom of slipping into an obscure seat at the back so she could slip out "when the debate gets too long drawn out, and I have to get back to work."

FIND THREE DETROIT GANGSTERS GUILTY OF MURDERING THREE

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Raymond Bernstein, Harry Keywell, and Irving Milberg, members of the once powerful Purple gang of racketeers and terrorists, were found guilty today of first degree murder for the Collingwood Manor slayings, where three men were slaughtered in a room, and will be sentenced to life imprisonment.

A verdict of guilty was returned by a recorder's court jury amid confusion and excitement in which women relatives and friends of the three defendants screamed hysterically.

The verdict was returned an hour and 37 minutes after Judge Donald Van Zile had given the case to the jury for deliberation.

MEDICAL GROUP CITES HOSPITAL AS UNETHICAL

The Henrotin hospital and nine other medical organizations are accused of unethical advertising methods in a report of the public relations committee of the Chicago Medical society made public last night.

The report was submitted to the council of the medical society, which adopted it and voted unanimously to invite responsible heads of the ten organizations cited to appear before the public relations committee to explain their methods of publicity and promotion.

Organizations cited in addition to Henrotin hospital were North Side Health center, 2551 North Clark street; Wicker Park Medical center, 1530 North Damen avenue; Garfield Park Medical center, Washington boulevard and Homan avenue; Rogers Park Community hospital, 6970 North Clark street; Elmwood Park Health clinic, 2547 North 76th avenue, Elmwood Park; South Moor Health center, 67th street and Stony Island avenue; Medical Service association, 801 Milwaukee avenue; Chicago Medical institute, 5034 Broadway; Uptown Health center, 4552 North Clark street, and International Medico-Legal association, 230 South Wells street.

Report of Committee.

"Your committee considered the relation of the medical profession to the clinics, hospitals, groups, health centers, and welfare organizations, both for profit and not for profit, which are springing up all over the city," the report stated.

"These organizations are freely advertising their wares through cards, handbills, and community papers, although their medical sponsors in certain cases are members in good standing of the Chicago Medical society.

"It is the sense of the committee that these groups, by their constantly increasing numbers and their manifestly unethical methods, offer a problem which the society must meet through the formation of new principles which will cover a majority of these conditions."

Seeks Plan of Action.

"Our committee feels abundantly able to cope with this situation, but hesitates to encroach upon the prerogatives of the coördinate body. Therefore the council is hereby invited to appoint a subcommittee of two or more to coöperate with a corresponding section of the public relations committee in formulating principles by means of which such wayward groups can be governed."

The report was signed by Drs. Charles B. Reed, R. W. Kline, William C. Nordholz and George S. Apfelbach. Considerable surprise was evoked by the citation of the Henrotin hospital, whose chief surgeon, Dr. Malcolm L. Harris, is chairman of the state medical board and a former president of the American Medical association, as well as the Chicago Medical society.

PASTOR, OUT FOR CONGRESS, RAPS VOLSTEAD LAW

Freeport, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—That neither temperance nor prohibition can be effectively promoted through the Volstead act is the belief of the Rev. Edward S. Nicholas, Methodist pastor at Oregon, Ogle county, who has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for congress, Fifteenth district. He believes the law should be amended.

Mr. Nicholas gave up the practice of law to enter the ministry and has held pastorates at Freeport, Sycamore, and Mount Morris.

He announces he is "an old fashioned Democrat" and proposes to "stand on the platform that will be adopted by the next national Democratic convention."

AMERICAN GIRLS' SCHOOL IN CHINA SHELLED IN RIOT

troops in the Anganchi-Tsitsihar area and is evincing an undoubted intention to defend his position.

This district is a few miles north of the Nonni river, from which the Chinese forces were driven a week ago by the Japanese after a three day battle.

These 10,000 Chinese soldiers, the Japanese reports said, are rapidly being reinforced by other Chinese troops from the east and west along the Chinese Eastern railway, in which Russia owns a half interest.

Fifteen miles to the south of the Chinese concentration the Japanese forces, sent to guard engineers repairing the Nonni river bridge, are entrenched. There were no further clashes today between these opposing armies and the Japanese said they had no intention of sending further reinforcements to the Nonni district, unless the Chinese attack. The Japanese headquarters here said it had no information regarding reports yesterday that Gen. Ma had declared war on Japan.

Although it is now less than a week before the date set by the league of nations council for the evacuation of the Japanese forces, there is no evidence here that the Japanese intend to comply.

Japanese civilians, including the strong Reservists' association, which has branches throughout South Manchuria, are holding meetings at which they are urging Tokio to stand firm and not permit outside interference. Japanese residents of Mukden are planning a huge demonstration, with parades and fireworks, on Nov. 15.

Japan Accuses Chang.

A report from headquarters of Gen. Shigeru Honjo, Japanese commander, today accused Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, governor of Manchuria, who was driven out by the Japanese in September, of engineering guerrilla warfare against the Japanese lines of communication, the guards for which are now depleted due to the concentration of Japanese troops in the Nonni district.

A new independent government, entirely separated from China and supported by the Japanese, was inaugurated for the province of Liaoning (Fengtien) here today. The new régime is headed by Yuan Chin-kai, retired Chinese official. About 80 persons, half Japanese and half Chinese, attended the ceremony.

Yuan Chin-kai delivered the chief address, which was translated into Japanese. This was followed by addresses by a number of Chinese, Manchurians and Mongolians and two Japanese. One of the latter was a staff officer at Gen. Honjo's headquarters.

The speeches of the Manchurians bitterly attacked the late régime of Chang Hseuh-liang, which they attacked on grounds of exorbitant taxation and corrupt courts.

No Chinese flags of any description were in evidence and all pictures of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese republic, and Chank Hsueh-liang had been removed.

It was reported today that orders have been placed for the old imperial Dragon flag, which will shortly be unfurled at the headquarters of the new regime.

Canton Seeks Deal with Tokio.

TOKIO, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Japan today took under consideration a proposal to unite with the opposition Chinese government at Canton to bring about a final settlement of the Manchurian conflict. The proposal came from Eugene Chen, former foreign minister, member of the Chinese military mission to the United States in 1917 and member of the delegation at the Versailles conference.

The purpose of his plan would be to expel "the greedy and meddlesome war lords" from Manchuria. He would permit Japanese troops to remain there to maintain peace and order, and would set up a high commissioner to administer the province.

NEW PROVINCIAL HEAD IN MANCHURIA TELLS OF FEARS OF JAPAN

In connection with the inauguration in Mukden yesterday of a new government of Liaoning province (called Fengtien province by the former régime and so named on all maps), the following dispatch sent from Mukden by courier on Nov. 2, is of interest. The dispatch was cabled from Shanghai:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUKDEN, Nov. 2 [relayed via Shanghai by messenger because of Japanese censorship].—Yuan Chin-kai, aged retired Chinese official, who was induced to assume the chairmanship of the local peace and order committee following the Japanese occupation, declared today that he would rather submit to arrest, even evacuation, than accept a Japanese invitation to become head of an independent Manchurian government.

Yuan said Gen. Shigeru Honjo, Japanese commander in chief in Manchuria, had repeatedly pressed him to head the new régime under Japanese auspices. Gen. Honjo's last attempt was made on Oct. 31, when the Japanese general tried to induce Yuan to remove his office to the Fengtien provincial headquarters, thus conveying the impression that a new government had been formed, but Yuan again refused.

Yuan declared he had accepted the chairmanship of the local peace and order committee in order to prevent complete chaos, which would have menaced the lives and properties of local Chinese because of the collapse of the Chinese government after the Japanese occupation. He said he realized his action is likely to be misunderstood by the Chinese people, but he is determined to die rather than head a new régime which would ultimately lead to a Japanese protectorate similar to that in Corea.

CHINA THREATENS TO BUILD ARMY AND FIGHT JAPAN

Tells League She Will Wreck Arms Parley.

BY EGBERT SWENSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Nov. 10.—The Chinese dragon woke up with a start tonight, blowing fire from both nostrils.

In a brief note to the league of nations that had the ring of an ultimatum, she delivered a flat threat to upset the international disarmament conference next February and make it her "chief national task to build up a powerful army to protect herself against aggression" unless the league justifies its purpose as a "bulwark of peace and international justice on which law abiding nations can rely for safety."

The note also said China will refuse to respond to the league's recommendation for a one year's truce in armaments until the Japanese evacuate Manchuria.

Fate of Parley at Stake.

"The fate of the arms truce and the disarmament conference itself depends on the outcome of the present Manchurian conflict before the league," the Chinese note declared.

This adds a new complication to the already complicated muddle of the armaments truce. The secretariat to save its life cannot say whether the truce which was to go into effect on Nov. 1, is in force or not on account of the reservations made by the countries who have sent in their answers accepting it in principle. Practically all the powers conditioned their observance of the truce on the adherence of neighboring powers. Thus, until China adheres neither Russia nor Japan considers its acceptance binding. And until Russia observes the truce, Poland cannot, which means that Germany cannot, which, of course, releases the French.

A second communique from the Chinese delegation tonight called the flotting at Tientsin "a further step in the policy of the Japanese authorities for suborning the dregs of the Chinese population in order to foment revolt against the Chinese government."

Japan Files Two Notes.

Two Japanese notes also were made public tonight, which, without attempting to justify the progressive invasion of northern Manchuria, complain of the disparity in size between the Japanese and Chinese forces facing each other. One note concludes with this warning: "If the Chinese are tempted by the disproportion of effectives to venture acts of war a dangerous situation may arise."

A member of the Chinese delegation said tonight that China will not invoke Article XV. of the league covenant, which is based upon a state of war and calls for punitive measures against the aggressor, before the reconvening of the council in Paris Monday, since she is waiting to see if the council itself will not take that step.

From reliable sources close to the Japanese it is learned that if Article XV. is invoked Japan will quit the league.

Japan Rebuffs U. S. Move.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—Another American peace move in the orient came to naught today when Katsuji Debuchi, the Japanese ambassador, called at the state department and advised Secretary of State Stimson that his government stood pat on its policy of refusing to withdraw its troops into the railroad zone until China agrees to respect Japan's treaty rights in Manchuria.

The information, passed on to the state department in an aide memoire, constituted Japan's reply to the representations for peace made a few days ago by W. Cameron Forbes, American ambassador to Tokio. Ambassador Forbes is understood to have again urged Japan to withdraw her troops to the South Manchuria railroad zone before beginning direct negotiations with China.

WIFE ASKS WRIT TO PART HUSBAND AND HIS TYPIST

An injunction restraining her husband from seeing his stenographer was sought yesterday by Mrs. Helen J. Belke, 1343 North Mansfield avenue, when she filed a bill for separate maintenance in the Circuit court.

The husband, William E. Belke, owns an electrotyping plant at 321 South California avenue. His wife charges that the stenographer, Miss Lilliam Morkoff, 1516 South Kildare avenue, went to work for him in 1925, but it was not until October, 1929, when she entered her husband's office and found them in a "hugging and kissing act," that she suspected them of wrongdoing.

She filed a bill for separate maintenance in December, 1929, and was given $50 a week temporary alimony. Her husband effected a reconciliation last June, but left her after ten days, Mrs. Belke charges. She asked custody of two children, William, 9 years old, and Ralph, 6 years old.

MESSENGER ROBBED OF $643.

Railroad Values Decreased.

...As compared with the reappraisal ...made of 1928 the total for the tax year ...of 1930 will be $480,130,000 higher. Of ...the boost in two years $232,000,000 ...has been added to real estate and ...$50,000,000 to personal property. But ...by far the most striking feature of the ...revaluation is this: While real estate ...and personal property valuations have ...boosted $280,000,000 in the eyes of ...the assessing officials in the two year ...period, the value of railroads in Cook ...county has been decreased $18,000,000.

...The assessing officials said that the ...railroads had a value of $604,500,000 in ...1928, but in 1930 the value was set ...at $586,500,000. The major portion of ...the railroad valuation is determined ...by the state tax commission, while the ...value of real estate and personal prop-...erty except capital stock—is fixed by ...the local assessing bodies.

...For assessing purposes railroad val-...uations in Cook county have been de-...creasing since 1927. The drop in ...value between 1927 and 1930, accord-...ing to the assessing officials, has been ...$21,500,000.

Assessed Values Increase.

...In assessing taxes the assessing offi-...cials do not use values they have ...placed upon the properties. Instead ...they use an "assessed value," which ...is 37 per cent of the total appraisal. ...A comparison of the assessed values ...of all taxable property for the last ...three years is as follows:

| Year. | Assessed valuation. |
|---|---|
| 1928 | $4,316,530,345 |
| 1929 | 4,464,233,633 |
| 1930 | 4,533,591,490 |

...On the basis of the 37 per cent fac-...tor it appears that the tax valuations ...for the 1930 bills have been increased ...$69,358,712 over those of 1929. In ...comparing 1930 with 1928 the boost ...has been $217,647,855. Those are the ...net gains. In each of those comparis-...ons the railroads, as a separate class ...of property, show a decrease.

Reductions Are Shown.

...In 1927 railroad property was val-...ued at $232,132,411. In 1928 it was ...set at $233,613,077. For 1929 it was ...fixed at $221,350,885, and for 1930 the ...figure was set at $218,727,119. The ...tax year of 1930, as compared with ...1927, shows a decrease of $15,395,292. ...The decrease is $6,886,482, as com-...pared with 1928 and $4,623,546 as com-...pared with 1929.

...In contrast with this assessment record on railroads, real estate values have been increased for the last three tax years. When all of the real estate was reappraised by Harry B. Cutmore for 1928 the total value of all lots, lands and buildings was set at $3,836,231,761. For 1929 it was increased to $3,631,262,182, and for 1930 it has been set at $3,659,168,249.

...Personal property values in the same period were set down at $779,046,129 for 1928, at $751,660,765 for 1929 and then increased to $840,642,677 for 1930. ...Of the increase of $177,647,855 in the assessed value of all property between 1928 and 1930 real estate contributed $122,936,581, personal property $61,597,767, while the railroads ...were getting a reduction of $6,886,482.

6,668 Tons in 8 Hours, New Coal Record at Mine

...Duquoin, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—With output of 6,840 tons for eight hours, Fidelity strip mine of the Orient Electric Coal company, west of Duquoin, has just broken its record for the second time within a month.

ACCEPT RESIGNATION OF FREDERICK TODD, ATTACHE AT HAVANA

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The department of commerce today let it be known that it had accepted the resignation of Frederick Todd, who since 1926 has been the American commercial attaché at Havana, Cuba, and whose departure from the government service follows a series of difficulties which he is said to have had with Harry F. Guggenheim, American ambassador to that country.

His resignation, according to officials of the department, was entirely voluntary and came as a complete surprise. Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, said that no requests had been received either from the state department or the Cuban government for Mr. Todd's resignation. Friends of Mr. Todd in the department said they were reluctant to see him leave the service and that his decision probably was due to his health.

URGES THRIFT IN GOVERNMENT TO END SLUMP

Thrift on the part of government in all its divisions was urged last night by John E. Edgerton of New York, president of the National Manufacturers' association, who spoke before the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association at the Hotel La Salle.

"High cost of government, unnecessary and duplicating bureaus and high taxes," he said, "are now the chief threat to our national recovery. My conviction is that the greatest contribution the government in the nation, in the states and in the municipalities can make toward the restoration of prosperity is to concentrate on reductions in public expenditures.

"The present depression will end, as all others have, when it has run its natural course. Even if the present one does not die of something else, it will soon succumb to the infirmities of old age."

Young Slayer Arraigned in Killing of Broker

Knock That Cold in a Jiffy

Relief Now Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

$200,000 ANNUAL SAVING IS URGED IN FIRE DEPT. PAY

Reductions in rank and pay in the fire department which will save approximately $200,000 a year without decreasing the department personnel were recommended yesterday to Mayor Cermak by J. L. Jacobs, city efficiency engineer.

Mr. Jacobs recommends that fourteen posts, those of division fire marshals, be abolished. Twelve of these men, who rank in the department below the deputy fire marshals, get $4,500 a year, one gets $5,000, and one $5,300. He also recommended that sixty-three fire lieutenants be reduced to the rank of fireman, with corresponding salary reductions from $2,900 to $2,500 a year. The lieutenants concerned, it was reported, are those assigned to the fire prevention bureau.

Most of the savings proposed would be effected by reducing fire engineers, who get $2,280 a year, to the rank of firemen, at $2,500. The fire engineers, of whom there are about 300 in the department, drive engines to fires and then operate the pumps which are connected to the motors. The rank, it was said, is a survival of the days of the old horse drawn steam pumpers.

125 Bushels of Apples Are Stolen from Orchard

Vincennes, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Thieves drove up to the orchard packing shed of B. F. Nesbitt and loaded 125 bushels of apples into a truck and drove away today. Persons driving by presumed the fruit was being bought. It is the largest theft of its kind ever reported here.

British Jobless Total Drops Fifth Successive Week

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The number of unemployed in Great Britain has decreased for the fifth week in succession, government figures showed today, and totaled 2,710,944 on Nov. 2. This figure is 15,148 under the preceding week, but 447,817 over the same week in 1930.

SUSPECT PICKED OUT BY WIDOW IS FREED IN MURDER

Dominick Panatelo, 22 years old, 1102 South Paulina street, was acquitted by a jury before Judge Prystalski last night of the murder of Patrick Costello, who was shot to death last March 28 by one of two robbers in a holdup of his soft drink parlor at 414 West 79th street.

After the funeral, the widow, Alice Costello, 8101 Vincennes avenue, visited the police showup every Sunday until finally she picked Panatelo out of a crowd and identified him as the slayer. He had been arrested on a robbery charge. On the witness stand Mrs. Costello repeated her identification. Three other witnesses of the killing were uncertain. Panatelo claimed he was visiting his cousin, Jenny Panatelo, the night of the murder. The jury retired about 6:30 p. m. and brought in a verdict at 10 o'clock. Panatelo was rearrested and returned to the county jail to return to trial before Judge Prystalski next Monday on one of three robbery charges.

WEALTHY DEPUTY EXPELLED FROM SPANISH CORTES

MADRID, Nov. 10. — (AP) — Juan March, one of Spain's richest men, lost his seat in the constituent assembly tonight by a vote of 191 to 4, following charges of bribery. It was alleged that he attempted to buy protection from the responsibilities commission investigating allegedly illegal business dealings under the dictatorship of the late Gen. Primo de Riviera.

It was the second time within a week that the assembly expelled one of its members. Emiliano Iglesias, leader of the Radical Republican party, was expelled last Friday on suspicion that he had acted for March in allegedly offering to buy information from a member of the commission.

March failed to attend the secret session of the assembly which voted to expel him.

BUICK'S GREATEST ADVANCEMENT PROGRAM

New Vital Improvements

featuring the Wizard control

Greatest Achievement since the Self-Starter

You will want to examine every one of the following vitally important features in Buick's four new series of eights—at new low prices, $935 to $2055, f. o. b. Flint, Mich. These new eights, embodying the finest improvements in Buick history, are destined to surpass even Buick's great present record of winning four times the demand of any other eight in its price range.

1 The Wizard Control—greatest achievement since the self-starter, combining three great new features—New Automatic Clutch, New Free Wheeling, New Silent-Second Syncro-Mesh Transmission—imparting wonderful new ease and pleasure to driving.

2 New Automatic Clutch—a vital feature of Wizard Control making possible swift, easy shifting of all gears—first, second, third and reverse—without using the clutch pedal.

3 New Free Wheeling—always under positive control: Instantaneous change from Free Wheeling to Conventional Drive or vice versa at the will of the driver.

4 New Silent-Second Syncro-Mesh Transmission—imparting a truly silent second speed, and permitting acceleration up to 40 miles an hour and more before shifting to high.

5 Newly-Styled, Newly-Beautified Bodies by Fisher—longer, lower, more luxurious—modernized throughout—the most beautiful Buick bodies ever created.

6 New Valve-in-Head Straight Eight Engine (High Compression optional without extra cost)—providing an entirely new order of fleet, smooth, virile performance.

7 New Ride Regulator—a wonderful new comfort factor, permitting such precise adjustment of shock absorbers that the driver may choose his ride to meet road conditions, number of passengers and car speed. (Available on models 52-56 and 32-57 at extra cost.)

8 New Longer Wheelbases, Series 32-80 and 32-90—increased to 126" and 134" respectively—bodies on series 32-50 also made more spacious.

9 New Engine-Oil Temperature Regulator—an important engineering development pioneered by Buick, now even more efficient because self-draining—standard on all Buick models.

10 New Improved Fuel System—entire system, including carburetor, gasoline pump and gasoline line, re-designed to assure finest performance even with lightest fuels.

11 New Improved Starting—prompter, surer response, even in coldest weather—12 to 20% increase in battery capacity and 27% increase in starting gear ratio.

12 Ten Degrees Increase in Cooling—providing ample cooling capacity to meet the high speeds of these powerful new Buicks under all weather conditions.

13 New, Modernized Instrument Panel—with complete visibility of all instruments; large built-in convenience compartment (with special lock and key) for storing valuables; both direct and indirect lighting.

14 New Vacuum Pump—assuring positive windshield wiper action under all conditions, whether the throttle is wide open, partially open or closed. (Available on Series 32-50 models at slight extra cost.)

15 Five Demountable Wire or Wood Wheels—standard equipment, adding greatly to appearance of cars, all interchangeable on same hubs and carriers. (Available on models 52-56 and 32-57 at extra cost.)

16 New Anti-Rattle Spring Shackles—automatically adjusting themselves to wear, adding greatly to riding comfort and quietness throughout life of cars.

17 New Improved Air Intake Silencer—another vital feature pioneered by Buick, now developed for still greater silencing and increased air cleaning capacity.

18 New Hood with Door-Type Ventilators—providing increased ventilating efficiency and lending an added touch of smartness to appearance of cars.

19 New Smaller Wheels with Larger Tire Sections—giving much greater traction surface, improving appearance, enhancing the lowness and fleetness of Buick design.

20 New Adjustable Interior Sun Visor—attractive; easily adjusted; providing full protection from sun glare at all angles.

21 New Electric Gasoline Gauge—the most efficient type developed; providing much more accurate measurement; more dependable in every way.

22 Rubber Pedal Pads—on clutch, brake and accelerator on all series, and on starter pedal in series 60-80-90, assisting in car operation and enriching front compartment.

23 New Regulator for Adjustable Full Front Seat—simpler, more convenient, permitting easy adjustment of seat forward or backward, even with car in motion.

24 Twenty-Six Luxurious Models—including coupe-roadsters, coupes, sedans, convertible phaetons and limousine—An Eight with Everything—for Everybody.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

J. M. BECK RAKES FARM BOARD AS SUPREME FOLLY

Calls for the Burial of Soviet Experiment.

compromise the fundamental issue. The experiment of stabilizing prices by government speculation would soon end, but the use of the taxpayers' money to enrich professional promoters would never end. However, I am none too confident. When a new bureau once fastens its tentacles on the treasury its hold is like that of a dead hand.

A Titanic Failure.

"Tried by the arduous test of experience, this essay in socialism has failed. The farm board sought to minimize speculation and became the greatest speculator in grain and cotton. It sought to stabilize prices and it drove them downward until they are well below the cost of production. It sought to prevent a surplus and only increased surplus. It sought to decrease planting acreage and only increased it.

"It sought to secure orderly marketing and, with the government as the biggest speculator in wheat and cotton with unlimited means, the orderly marketing became disorderly past precedent.

"It sought to prevent depression in agriculture and it has brought about the greatest depression in our history.

"It sought to prevent wasteful methods of distribution and only succeeded in imposing upon the people of the United States at least one-half of the present governmental deficit."

Paying his respects to George Bernard Shaw as the "arch charlatan of the age," Mr. Beck declared:

"The American people have not proceeded so far on the road to Moscow as to have lost their native relish for individualism. They asserted their independence and formed their government in the loftiest spirit of individualism. The constitution can be read in vain for any expression of a power to regimentalize the business activities of the American people.

Need for Limitations.

"Our constitution was conceived in the spirit of sleepless jealousy of government. In its limited grant of powers and careful system of checks and balances it proclaimed its belief that government was neither omniscient nor omnipotent. Its founders believed that government was a necessary evil, and that its only function was to do for the individual what the individual could not do for himself.

"Of course, the individual can make mistakes and commit errors, but he can make these stepping stones to a higher destiny. Certainly character can never be builded where, as in Russia, the individual is the abject slave of the state.

"Under this policy of noninterference by government with the self-development of the individual our country became the greatest nation in the world. No better vindication of American individualism could be given than that, with 7 per cent of the world's population we yet have half of its railway mileage, three-fourths of its telephones, and nine-tenths of its automobiles. Certainly no people in all history have enjoyed so great a measure of average comfort.

"We need not fear any comparison between our people, hopeful and untiring, and the Russian people, driven like dumb cattle in the Chicago stockyards, without hope either of the present or the future."

Mr. Beck marked the departure from early individualism to governmental collectivism at about 50 years ago. It was partly the result of the civil war and partly the result of a depression at that time, he said.

"This marked change in the spirit of our people began," he said, "with the creation of the interstate commerce commission. Instead of correcting railway evils by the ordinary processes of criminal law or civil litigation in the courts, the strange delusion arose that all evils could be corrected if only congress created a governmental bureau to manage the railroads. It has now existed for 44 years and it may be questioned whether the commission has not done more harm than good to the railroads and therefore to the public interests."

The recent decision in the matter of increased railroad rates was declared to be "an absolute negation of property rights." He recalled the government deficit of $1,600,000,000 after 32 months of operation under Secretary McAdoo. The shipping board experiment, he said, had brought a deficit of 600 million dollars.

A Surfeit of Bureaus.

The establishment of the commerce commission, Mr. Beck said, was "followed by a long series of statutes to create governmental agencies to regulate the business, and even the life, of the individual, until today there are a hundred and fifty such bureaus in the federal government and the scope of their activities ranges from the cradle to the grave."

The "culminating folly," Mr. Beck said, was the farm relief board, and he then asked:

"Where and when is this spirit of bureaucracy to end? Will it never cease until we have wholly destroyed individual initiative? We must take the back track in the matter, or the institutions under which we have grown so great will perish in substance if not in form.

"Time was when the American people entered upon a hazardous war because of a tuppenny tax on a pound of tea, but today they are either indifferent or inactive when greater injustices in government are imposed upon them for political expediency."

1,500 Attend Dinner.

James C. Murray, fifty-eighth president of the Board of Trade, was chairman of the dinner. Fifteen hundred guests were present. Walter W. Price of New York was one of the speakers. He, as well as Mr. Beck, called attention to many ways in which this country has strayed from the paths laid out by its founders.

"The result, for which we are responsible," he said, "is shown in the enactment of laws that are at variance with our constitution and which, in many instances, are disregarded and fail to take into consideration the basic principle of common sense, which the great Lord Chatham said must be a conspicuous feature of any bill that would prescribe a law that would procure his vote."

REDUCE PUNISHMENT OF COLLEGE EDITORS, WOMAN DEAN CRITICS

Greencastle, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The board of control of The De Pauw, student publication of the university here, today rescinded its action in suspending Thoburn Wiant as editor of the campus paper. Instead, the board decided Wiant should be suspended only until Dec. 1 and voted to suspend William Lee, managing editor, for two weeks.

The action, due to a contributed article which severely criticized Katherine Alvord, dean of women, placed both Wiant and Lee on tentative probation until the return next month of G. Bromley Oxnam, president of the university, from Japan.

John Millett has been named acting editor of The De Pauw and Elmer Cole will replace Lee.

LOSS ON LOANS BY FARM BOARD TO BE DEFENDED

Relief Despite High Cost, Goal of Body.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The federal farm board is preparing to defend itself against attacks in and out of congress because of the actual and potential losses of public funds aggregating 225 millions of dollars involved in its current operations under the agricultural marketing act.

Its defense is that it construes the act to mean that congress intended the board to relieve agriculture even if it were necessary to relieve the treasury of the entire 500 million dollar revolving fund. The board contends that it has made a good, though admittedly a costly, beginning in farm relief and that if it is not as extensive as has been hoped for it is all the fault of the world wide economic depression.

Purpose Is Defined.

The act declares it "the policy of congress to promote the effective merchandising of agricultural commodities in interstate and foreign commerce so that the industry of agriculture will be placed on a basis of economic equality with other industries and to that end to protect, control, and stabilize the currents of interstate and foreign commerce in the marketing of agricultural commodities and their food products."

This objective is to be achieved, the act provides, by "minimizing speculation," by preventing "inefficient and wasteful methods of distribution," by encouraging and financing the organization of coöperative marketing associations and corporations and by "aiding in preventing and controlling surpluses."

Speaking of the stabilization operations to control surpluses in which almost all of the losses have been incurred the board says it has "interpreted the act to mean that congress counts upon the board not merely to study the problem but to act with vigor when conditions appear to demand action, even at the risk of loss to the revolving fund; and to develop through experience the methods best calculated to attain the objectives of the act."

Its Loans Least Secure.

Under the terms of the act, as construed by the board, the loans of government funds it makes are the least secure of all the loans from all sources for the coöperative marketing of farm products. Among the purposes of the loans from the revolving fund enumerated by the act is that of "enabling the coöperative association applying for the loan to advance to its members a greater share of the market price of the commodity delivered to the association than is practicable under other credit facilities."

Commercial banks ordinarily make loans on farm products up to from 50 to 75, sometimes 90 per cent of the value of the security, but for short periods only. The federal intermediate credit banks are authorized to loan for longer periods up to 75 per cent of the value. But the farm board construes the foregoing provision of the law to authorize it to make long term loans up to 90 per cent or more of the value of the product in order to advance a greater share of the market price to producers than they can obtain from either commercial banks or the intermediate credit banks.

Taxes Secondary Lien.

In practice the coöperative obtains a loan from a commercial bank or an intermediate credit bank for from 50 to 75 per cent of the value of its commodity, giving warehouse receipts as security. Then the coöperative obtains an additional loan from the farm board up to 90 per cent or more of the value and the farm board takes a secondary lien on the warehouse certificates. If the value of the product declines the farm board calls for additional collateral and if the coöperative is unable to furnish the additional security the farm board sustains a loss. Thus the loans made by the farm board are secondary loans and if the security proves insufficient the government is the first and generally the only loser.

The act provides that farm board loans shall bear the rate of interest "equal to the lowest rate of yield [to the nearest one-eighth of 1 per centum] of any government obligation" except postal savings bonds issued since April 6, 1917. The interest rate charged by the board under this provision has ranged from 1½ to 3⅝ per cent. The intermediate credit banks charge 3½ per cent and 4 per cent. Commercial banks charge from 3½ per cent up to what the traffic will bear, but the availability of farm board and intermediate credit bank money tends to keep commercial bank rates down.

The board thinks that, while the old line commission merchants are feeling outraged by the loss of business and profits they are sustaining as a result of the competition of the government financed coöperatives, the commercial banks have no ground for grievance. The board insists that it is not competing with the banks.

According to its figures the board has furnished only 13 per cent of the loans on the 1931 wool clip, commercial banks loaning 65 per cent and the intermediate credit bank 17 per cent. On mohair the commercial banks are making 50 per cent of the loans, the farm board 32 per cent, and the intermediate credit bank 18 per cent. On the 1930 pecan crop the loans were 60 per cent by commercial banks, 25 per cent by the intermediate credit bank, and 15 per cent by the farm board.

Bank Loans Paid Off.

The board said it was unable to furnish the figures on distribution of loans on wheat. Information obtained from the Farmers National Grain corporation, the grain marketing coöperative, is that this concern on July 1, 1930, owed the banks $3,800,000 and the farm board $23,183,000.

On live stock the National Live Stock Marketing association has borrowed four millions from the farm board, ten millions from the intermediate credit bank and none from commercial banks. On poultry and dairy products the Dairy and Poultry Cooperative, Inc., has borrowed $45,000 from the farm board and $100,000 from commercial banks.

Outside of the losses on stabilization of wheat and cotton, which he refuses to discuss, Chairman James C. Stone of the board estimates that the losses on loans to coöperative marketing associations do not exceed 15 millions up to date.

"Aside from the loans for wheat and cotton stabilization operations," he said, "the board has given financial assistance of more than 300 millions of dollars to 112 coöperative associations, many national or regional in scope with hundreds of local coöperative associations as members."

DIES AS RESULT OF FALL.

Louis Hill, 75 years old, died at the county hospital yesterday from a fracture of the left hip which he suffered last Friday in a fall in his home at 742 North Troy street.

"TEETHING should cause no trouble"

Say BABY SPECIALISTS

HELP THE BABY THESE WAYS:

1. Do not attempt to "rub" the teeth through the gums. Gums are very easily injured.
2. If gums are very swollen, have a physician see them.
3. After teeth come through, clean them daily by brushing gently with a soft brush and plain water.
4. Give hard crusts and crackers to chew on (at meal time only) after the first teeth are through. This exercises teeth, gums, muscles and jaws.
5. Plenty of sunshine, fresh air and proper food.

Teething, authorities say, is a perfectly natural part of growing. If a baby is fed and cared for properly, he will cut his teeth with little or no trouble at all.

One of the most important phases of care in the teething period is to see that waste matter is carried off promptly.

For this there's nothing like Castoria. It is made specially for the delicate needs of babies and children. It acts so gently, you can give it to young infants to relieve colic pains. Yet it is always effective—keeps older children well regulated.

Castoria is a harmless vegetable preparation; it contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics whatever. And children like the taste of Castoria!

When your baby is fretful and feverish with a stomach disturbance, or a cold, give a cleansing dose of Castoria to make him comfortable and happy. Be sure you get real Castoria—with the name Chas. H. Fletcher on the package.

GUILT IN WALKER POISON CASE NOT YET ESTABLISHED

Ottawa, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Any new evidence unearthed in an investigation of the death of Marian Walker, 14, Seneca arsenic victim, will be presented to the January grand jury, Russell O. Hanson, the state's attorney, said today. Hanson said that unless some additional evidence were unearthed he would not present the Walker case to the grand jury, as he could not expect an indictment on the information which is thus far in the hands of the authorities.

STUDY PLAN FOR U. S. EMPLOYES TO AID JOBLESS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—A plan whereby federal employés might make contributions for unemployment relief is under consideration by the United States civil service commission at the suggestion of President Hoover.

The President stated today that to spread government employment by a "stagger" system was impossible under the civil service laws. The contemplated plan probably will provide that if employés wish to do so they may contribute the wages of one or more days a month for unemployment relief.

The President said that he was sure that government employés "are anxious" to have some definite organization through which they can contribute to relief work.

GIRL AND 2 BOYS COMMIT SUICIDE NEAR EACH OTHER

Texas Community Puzzled —No Motives Found.

Elkhart, Tex., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The suicide of a girl and two boys, strangely almost coincidental as to time, but lacking evidence of any connection in motives, puzzled their families and friends in this community tonight.

The dead:

Ernest Miller Jr., 16, senior student and football player at the Elkhart High school and member of the Elkhart band.

Doris McCann, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McCann, who live on a farm three miles south of Elkhart.

B. Clyde Kennedy, 19, native of Elkhart, who had lived for the last year in Oakwood, 14 miles distant.

The three were only slightly acquainted, relatives and friends said.

Girl Uses Poison.

Kennedy, who operated an ice substation at Oakwood, was found dead in his hotel room there at 3 p. m. yesterday from poison.

He left a note saying: "Good-by and good luck to my family and friends. Clyde." There was no other explanation.

Miss McCann, after a visit to the high school yesterday morning, purchased poison at a drug store on the pretext that it was to be used in killing cats. She went home and swallowed it and died without revealing her motive.

Shoots Himself to Death.

Miller left school when classes were over yesterday, but did not return to his home until 7 p. m. Not long afterward he shot himself through the head.

In a farewell note to his parents he said, "It's better for me to die now than to disappoint you in life."

Suicide verdicts were returned in all three deaths.

ALBERT G. MANG FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Albert G. Mang, 63 years old, a retired bank official, who was killed in his home Monday night when a revolver which he was cleaning was accidentally discharged, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the residence at 1118 East 46th street. Mr. Mang, who was connected with the old Central Trust company, was preparing for a hunting trip.

Among the honorary pallbearers named were Ambassador Charles G. Dawes and other officials of the Central Republic Bank and Trust company. The Lincoln Park commandery of the Knights Templar will conduct the services. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Caroline Mang, and a daughter, Helen.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death. Mrs. Mang testified that her husband and a few of his friends had planned the hunting trip for Saturday and that he had been cleaning other weapons during the afternoon.

Mary Nolan and Husband Arrested on Wage Writ

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Mary Nolan [Imogene Wilson], film actress, and her husband, Wallace T. Macrery, were ordered arrested by Municipal Judge Ona Faulconer today following a complaint by Deputy City Prosecutor Richardson charging them with failing to pay an employé's wages.

MANY HUNTERS ARRESTED AS SEASON OPENS

Yesterday marked the opening of a six day hunting season on cock pheasants and thousands of guns blazed away in Cook, Lake, and surrounding counties.

Many of the hunters, in their anxiety to get the first shots at the game, found trouble with the law. The Lake Forest police arrested twenty-four on charges of shooting in the city limits or on posted property. Of these, eleven were found on the estates of Louis F. Swift, Benjamin Leslie Behr, and John J. Burns.

Those charged with trespassing were fined $25 each by Justice of the Peace Samuel Sorenson, while in the city limits was punished with a fine of $5. Those who were unable to pay were allowed to go free, but their guns and other equipment were seized as security. Chief of Police Frank Tiffany announced that an effort to obtain higher fines would be made today if the shooting in and near Lake Forest continued.

Among those fined was John Williamson, 32 years old, of Bensenville, who had killed two cock pheasants and twelve hen pheasants in two hours. Deputy game wardens reported the arrest of six hunters in Lake county who were without licenses. Charles Norberg, 390 Deerpath avenue, Lake Forest, was slightly injured by shot from another hunter's gun near Wadsworth.

W. D. Callender, Publisher of Trade Papers, Is Dead

W. D. Callender, 61 years old, president of the Tradepress Publishing corporation, died in the Highland Park hospital late Monday of cerebral hemorrhage. Among the papers published by his concern are Rock Products, Barrel and Box, and Concrete Products. He was also interested in another concern which published Trunks and Leather Goods. Mr. Callender came to Chicago about 1910. In recent years he had lived on a farm near Naperville. Funeral services and burial will be at New Brighton, N. Y.

POLICE TO USE PART OF WAGES TO AID JOBLESS

Gift Will Be Over $250,000.

The joint emergency relief fund got a substantial boost towards its $8,800,000 goal yesterday when Police Commissioner Allman announced that every member of the force had offered a pledge to contribute a day's pay monthly to the fund for the six months beginning next Jan. 1.

James McSweeney, secretary of the department, computed that the total contribution would reach approximately $275,000. Pledges in the various ranks were divided as follows: Commissioner Allman, $164.40; First Deputy Commissioner John H. Alcock, $197.28; fifty-four captains, $65.76 each; 104 lieutenants, $52.62 each; 548 sergeants, $49.40 each; 5,498 patrolmen, $40.50 each, and 58 policewomen and matrons, $40.50 each. Technicians, mechanics, hostlers and janitors will also contribute.

Exclusive of the policemen's pledge, the fund passed the five and one-half million dollar mark last night. Contributions totaling $61,800 were announced, bringing the total pledged to $5,514,202.

Commissioners and employés of the south park system turned in a pledge of $40,000. Edward J. Kelly, president of the commission, and Lieut. Michael Hayes, for fifty years an employé of the board, presented to Samuel Insull Jr., chairman of the fund campaign, a $3,841 check, representing the first semi-monthly contribution from the employés.

The south park commission was the first public body in Chicago to turn in its contribution. Approximately 1,700 employés have pledged 3 per cent of their salaries each month for six months.

Among other pledges announced were the following:

Not among the largest but one of the most truly generous contributions secured yesterday, in the opinion of the campaign leaders, was that turned in by Aage Petersen, butler for the family of Frederick H. Rawson, banker. The butler first went to his employer and asked that his next week's salary be given to the fund, then took it upon himself to solicit a week's salary from each of the other servants in the apartment building. His total collection was $771.

RICHARD CRANE FUNERAL RITES WILL BE TODAY

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock today at St. Chrysostom's church, 1416 Dearborn parkway, for Richard T. Crane Jr., who died on Saturday in New York. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery.

The body will lie in state in the church from 10 to 1 o'clock today, that friends and employés of the Crane company, of which Mr. Crane was president, may view it. The plants and offices of the company throughout the world, employing more than 18,000 persons, will be closed for the day. The funeral services will be open to employés and friends.

The funeral will be conducted by the Rev. Norman Hutton, former rector of St. Chrysostom's.

CAVALRY RADIO SETS FOUND PRACTICABLE BY MOUNTED TESTS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Use of radio within mounted organizations has been found practicable, Maj. Gen. Guy V. Henry, chief of cavalry, stated today in his annual report. He added that during recent cavalry division maneuvers receiving sets were installed in airplanes, in armored cars and carried on horseback, accompanying widely separated columns of mounted troops.

"In these maneuvers," Maj. Gen. Henry said, "the importance of quick and reliable radio communication between cavalry columns, while they were actually marching and in combat, was clearly demonstrated. The radius of action of a cavalry command is being greatly increased and its ability to disperse safely into several columns on a wide front is being insured by improved radio communication.

"Intensive study is being given to proper radio communication within mounted organizations, within mechanized units and to the problem of intercommunication between both of them."

SHOOTS SISTER TRYING TO ACT AS PEACEMAKER

Mrs. Mabel Powlis, 31 years old, 2930 West Congress street, a widow and the mother of four children, tried to act as peacemaker last night when her brother, James Durst, and his wife quarreled in their home at 1511 Main street, Melrose Park. Durst fired a pistol and his sister was struck in the abdomen. At the Westlake hospital in Melrose Park her condition was described as critical.

According to the story told the police, Durst came to Chicago in an automobile and took Mrs. Powlis and a man named Eddie to the Durst home after stopping on the way for liquor.

In the house they started a party. When Mrs. Ruby Durst returned she upbraided her husband, who is out of work, for his drinking and he started to beat her. Then Mr. Powlis interfered and Durst seized his pistol. The Dursts were held by the Melrose Park police and questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Edwin Markham.

ROBERT RIPLEY ESTATE VALUED AT ONE MILLION

The estate of the late Robert Harris Ripley, senior vice president of the American Steel Foundries, was left in trust to his widow, Mrs. Ada Riply of 29 Indian Hill road, Winnetka. His will, disposing of his property valued at more than $1,000,000, was admitted to probate by Assistant Judge Oscar S. Caplan. Mr. Ripley died at the age of 55 on Nov. 4.

The will directed that the trust be divided between their three children at Mrs. Ripley's death. A daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Baker, resides at Morristown, N. J. The two sons, Robert and Wilder, live with their mother.

Negro Admits Slaying of White; Claims Accident

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—James Buntley, 28, a Negro, who has been mixed up in many underworld affairs here in the last few years, has confessed to the killing Sunday night of Floyd Morgan, 26, of Storm Lake, Ia., but claims the gun was accidentally discharged when he was showing it to Morgan. However, Buntley's white wife has told that the men were quarreling before the fatal shot.

Indiana Man, 95, Wed 8th Time; Bride Is 85

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Erect, his eyes sparkling, and with a radiant smile, Richard Denny walked into the office of the county clerk this afternoon and said he wanted a license to wed Mrs. America Moody. Denny gave his age as 95 and said this was his eighth wedding. His bride gave her age as 85.

Only Gerardine Gives You Naturally Wavy Hair!

1. It is the only preparation which will train a natural, lasting wave in straight hair.
2. Makes the hair softer, more manageable, more lustrous; hence ideal for setting a "permanent".
3. Extracted from rare herbs that are beneficial to the hair and scalp.
4. So safe that mothers use it to make their children's hair naturally curly.
5. Dries in less than fifteen minutes.
6. Economical to use because you only need spray a little on your hair.
7. Does not dry the hair; is not gummy, sticky, or greasy; leaves no powdery deposit on the scalp; does not injure color or texture of hair.
8. Dampness does not destroy a Gerardine wave (it only makes it more beautiful).

Featured in two economical sizes at all beauty shops, drug and department stores. La Gerardine, Inc. Sales Agt: Harold F. Ritchie Co., Inc., New York City.

Sons of Cain" Is That Sort of War Book

Trench Horrors Readers in 1931.

...Cain," by Wilfred Saint-... [Coward-McCann]. Published

...m, it seems to me, could bear ...r utter the word "war" or ...e it in print after reading ...is book without shuddering. ...ew war book is published thir... years after the last shot was ...on the western front—which the ...mentally enough, hoped would ...be last to come from a war gun. ...is not a story of an exagger... destructive man suddenly brought ...e face with spiritual and intel... realization. It is, rather, the ...of an average Englishman of ...ner class, young and perhaps ...rally cultured. He enlists with ...ual eagerness and sense of ...ousness, and patriotism. Most ...his four years' participation in the ...is spent in fighting in the front ...

...time again he declines to ...ment, first, because he feels ...ual fighting leaves the soldier ...ss to brood over the horror ...war, and protects him from the ...mood of humanity that might hover ...ove in inactive soldier, and, sec... because he finds a fellowship ...d loyalty among the pri... him, do not exist among ...

...ying man's moral values and ...ns automatically altered to fit ...existence and the exigencies of ...Duty, refinement, valor, patri... have become to him useless ...s. In one life and people through ...s eyes of one who has faced the ...realities unflinchingly. He is ...ed to return for his sacrifice of ...ual ideals of mankind and its ...ngest, most beautiful memories: the ...ation of real comradeship in the ...ence, and the evenings of raptur... rest.

...ough the novel is very long and ...written in the first person, it unflag... holds one's interest. The hero's ...ence—in military camps—in ...ospitals—with his comrades at and ...y from the front—with women— ...ed with actual killing are detailed ...h unfailing accuracy. The thread ...is love for Joan is interwoven in ...e narrative and furnishes an over... note of happiness and beauty in con... to the undertones of horror and ...ation.

...e book has all the accepted char... ...istics of the good war novel. It ...s more than that, however. Through ...e piles up of significant and in... detail, in almost maddening... with description, the cumula... effect of horror becomes devas... ...ting. If there still is any person ...o has illusions of glamour or ro... ...ce about the business of war, he ...mediately should go to a bookstore ...d get this book.

...It is interesting to realize that ...ever before in history after any war ...re there been a flood of books, fic... and nonfiction, such as the world ...s has elicited. Comment in the ...st, after wars, usually has been ...ilitary and persistent in perpetuat... the legend of the glamour and ...eavor of fighting for one's country. ...e men in these days who kills and ...s killed as unmercifully as the ma... gun is deadly and precise, has ...ttle time to think of glory.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams.

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

A long memory is often as valuable as a quick mind. Unfortunately, few people combine the ability to think quickly and swiftly with a first class memory. When these two qualities meet they produce many remarkable results—among others a first class bridge player.

Without going into the element of wit too deeply I feel sure that those of you with good memories have not forgotten our harping on the question of entries.

In yesterday's play-a-problem we were faced with the entry situation under most unusual and often recurring conditions. It was not a very difficult hand, and I am sure most of you solved it. Here it is:

NORTH [Dealer].
♠—A,4,3.
♥—A,K,J,9,3
♦—K,4
♣—J,5,3

| WEST | EAST |
|---|---|
| ♠—Q,J,10,9 | ♠—K,8,7,6 |
| ♥—6,5 | ♥—8,7,2 |
| ♦—J,10,8,3 | ♦—9,2 |
| ♣—Q,9,4 | ♣—A,K,8,2 |

SOUTH
♥—Q,10,4
♦—A,Q,7,6,5
♣—10,7,6

North dealt and bid a heart. East made a defensive overcall of two clubs. South raised his partner to two hearts and West passed. North held six probable tricks, 2½ high card tricks and 2 low card tricks in hearts, 1 high card trick in spades and ¼ high card trick in diamonds. South's raise meant a minimum of four tricks, meaning ten in all. North, therefore, bid four hearts and all passed.

Lest there be some confusion I repeat again that while a raise of one to two is made on three supporting tricks, the hand is nevertheless capable of making four tricks in the play. In all previous systems some method was devised to show this extra playing trick in the count, such as doubling the value of the side high card tricks, adding a trick "for the play" or some similar method. The Official System, for the sake of simplicity, counts the high card tricks in the supporting hand in exactly the same way as in any other position at the board.

Nevertheless, when holding three supporting tricks the hand is worth four playing tricks. When holding four supporting tricks the hand is worth five playing tricks, and so on. In other words, a raise from one to two, regardless of what system may be played or what count used, always shows the ability to take four tricks. A raise from one to three shows the ability to take five tricks, and a raise from one to four shows the ability to take six. The count given in the Official System as well as the various counts given in previous systems are merely teaching methods evolved to aid the average player in determining when he has a raise and when he has not.

East opened the ♣ K and followed with the ♣ A. He then led the ♣ 3, which West took with the Q. West then led the ♠ Q, which North took with the A. North can now lose no more tricks if he is to make his bid. He sees that he has no losing hearts and no losing diamonds, but it is obvious that he must rid himself of two losing spades.

He sees that one of these spades can be discarded on either the ♦ A or Q, but his only chance of getting rid of the other is to make a small diamond good in dummy. After a moment's thought North realizes that he must have two entries in the dummy. He has two. One in diamonds and one in hearts. He must, therefore, save the heart entry and not lead out all his hearts at once.

North leads the ♥ K and A and the ♦ K. He then leads the ♦ 4 to dummy's Q, returning a small diamond from dummy which he trumps with the 9. He goes back to his dummy and closes the heart suit at the same time by leading his ♥ 3 to dummy's Q, follows with dummy's ♦ A and discards the ♠ 3. He then leads dummy's ♦ 7, throws his ♠ 4 and the game is in.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as S, 2, K, K, etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

Send your bridge problems to Charles True Adams, The Chicago Tribune; inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

She felt that she must have the excitement and emulation of the business world. He yearned for a home in the suburbs with radio, babies, and lawn mower accompaniments. Which was all well—or would have been well, had the two of them not fallen in love with and married each other.

Once wedded, Jean's inclinations said "Gee!" and Dudley's said "Haw!" and husband and wife pulled in opposite directions until—well—"The Age for Love" will unveil for you further developments in the checkered existences of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Crome.

If good acting alone could put a picture across, "The Age for Love" would be quite a movie. But as story and direction mean a lot in the life of a successful cinema and the one under discussion hasn't much to brag of in either, it ranks only so so.

Miss Dove is beautiful and appealing. She wears some smart clothes. Her supporting cast is able. Sound, photography, sets, etc., are satisfactory. But the picture as a whole leaves you cold, cold, cold!

See you tomorrow.

OX CARTS HELP TO RECALL 100 YEARS OF MARION (IND.) LIFE

Marion, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Marion's centennial attracted thousands of persons today. The public square was filled with a variety of vehicles, among them buggies and ox carts.

The program tonight included a carnival in the business district with old time dancing. Tomorrow the centennial committee joins the American Legion in observing the centennial and Armistice day.

Bourbons Broke; to Sell Gems to Finance Wedding

PARIS, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The retinue which followed former King Alfonso of Spain to exile is beginning to feel the pinch of financial need, and the Infanta Eulalia said today that she planned to sell her jewels so that her grandson, Prince Alvaro de Bourbon-Orleans, might marry the Princess Beatrice, daughter of the former monarch.

"These reports that Alfonso is opposed to the marriage are ridiculous," she said. "He is not opposed. We simply have been unable to make any plans because none of us has any money."

Would Aid Charities

MRS. H. B. RESSLER.

A plea for fifty women motorists enroll to give volunteer motor service to the emergency relief stations and district offices of Chicago's leading welfare agencies was made yesterday by Mrs. H. B. Ressler of 5510 Sheridan road. She is director of motor service of the volunteer bureau of the Council of Social Agencies.

"Any woman who drives her own car and has a half a day of spare time can render an invaluable service to the charitable organizations of the city," Mrs. Ressler said. "One of the greatest difficulties we have to meet is the time taken by the case worker in making her necessary visits to applicants for relief."

Fountain of Tritons Will Be Dedicated Tomorrow Evening

"The Tritons," a fountain by Carl Milles, Swedish sculptor, will be presented and dedicated at 3 o'clock tomorrow night in McKinlock court of the Art institute. The statuary was purchased by twelve donors.

The work will be presented by the Art institute to the B. F. Ferguson monument fund, from which money will be derived for the upkeep. Through the Ferguson fund the building of a pool, in which the tritons stand, was made possible. The pool contains 20,000 gallons of water. Water lilies have been planted in each corner.

Percy B. Eckhart will act as chairman of the ceremonies. The presentation speech will be made by Oscar C. G. Lundqvist, Swedish consul in Chicago, while the speech of acceptance will be given by Walter S. Brewster.

In Milles' work there are four bronze tritons of heroic size, carrying fish and concha shells, from which jets of water are ejected. Tritons, in mythology, blew on these shells to quiet the waves. Each of the four figures weighs 1,500 pounds.

Mme. Clairbert Makes Debut in Opera Here

Sings Well as Lucia in Donizetti's Work.

Edgar of Ravenswood.....Antonio Cortis
Lord Arthur Bucklaw.....Giuseppe Cavadore
Raymond.....Virgilio Lazzari
Alice, Lucia's Confidante.....
.....Alice d'Hermanoy
Norman, Captain of the Guard.....
.....Ludovico Oliviero

BY EDWARD MOORE.

MME. CLAIRBERT'S appearance last night was both a debut with the opera company and a first appearance in Chicago, though she has been in this country for some two seasons. The delay did not make her the less welcome. She is an artist of marked ability.

The first thing one notices about her is sincere, well trained musicianship. Her voice is clear, slender, but of the same dimensions throughout its range, which is great, slightly reedy in quality—perhaps a combination of reed and flute best describes it—and altogther pleasant. It is flexible, it ripples through scales with the utmost ease, it hits high notes and low notes squarely in the middle. It will possibly not evoke thunders of adulation because of its fiery execution, but its persuasiveness and the intelligence with which it is used can hardly fail to create admiration and great liking.

No small part of the friendly memories of the evening are due to the cast appearing with her. Mr. Cortis was a first class Edgar; Mr. Beuf and Mr. Lazzari gave expert assistance in the construction of the musical ensemble. Mr. St. Leger, the conductor, treated the score as something worth maintaining enthusiasm over. He was not only an excellent accompanist, but he built up climaxes that one is sometimes in danger of forgetting are there. The harp solo in the middle of the first act was played by Edward H. Vito with a brilliancy that made it a distinct feature of the performance, comparable only to the rendition given it by his brother, Joseph, of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, when the opera is presented at Ravinia.

Mischakoff Is Soloist with Stock's Orchestra; Applauded.

Mischa Mischakoff, concertmaster of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, became a highly popular artist by being its soloist in the program at Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon. He chose Saint-Saëns' "Third Concerto," by far the most frequently played of the series, and gave it an admirable performance.

Mr. Mischakoff's technical development is adequate and more than adequate for anything that comes his way. Dexterous rapidity of performance gives him little concern; the passage of harmonics at the end of the second movement, which has frequently annoyed other violinists, came out immaculately clean. But better than this, he has a fine sense of proportion and restraint in his tone. The shape of the composition means much to him and he projects it without extravagance but with warmth. In other words, he is an artist.

There were many in the audience, the present chronicler being one, who rejoiced when Mr. Stock put on Tschaikowsky's Sixth, or "Pathetic," symphony. Possibly the fashion for lifting scornful eyebrows at Tschaikowsky is passing. Certainly it is impossible to deny that he wrote uncommonly well made music. And when some one like Mr. Stock comes along, who believes that there is still life in it, the performance shows both life and exhilaration. The performance began with Glinka's "Russian and Ludmilla" overture, always a pleasant observance, and closed with the finale to Wagner's "Rheingold," which was a marvel of color and animation.

Designer of Planetarium Is Rewarded by Architects

Ernest A. Grunsfeld Jr. last night was presented with the gold medal of the Chicago chapter, American Institute of Architects for his design for the planetarium. Howard Cheney, past president of the chapter, made the presentation. Max Adler, donor of the planetarium, and Prof. Philip Fox, its director, made short talks.

Alfred Granger, who recently returned from Europe, discussed architecture in Europe and America. He stated that modern architecture is getting more conservative in Europe and more radical in America.

Women Crowd Cooking School on North Side

Doors Open Far Ahead of Day's Program.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The doors of THE TRIBUNE School of Cookery swung open to more than 5,000 north side housewives yesterday morning, two hours before the program was scheduled to begin. Shortly before, the crowds had grown to such proportions about the entrance of the Aragon ballroom, 1100 Lawrence avenue, that the police stationed there opened the doors to clear the streets. Soon thousands of others were turned away because all the seats had been filled.

Thus began the second session of the school, which opened last week for south side housewives at the Trianon ballroom. The third session will be held next week at Guyon's Paradise for west side women, and a final session will be given on Nov. 23 and 24 at the Coliseum for all unable to attend the divisional meetings. All sessions are conducted by Mrs. Ida M. Chitwood, nationally known food expert in coöperation with Miss Mary Meade, TRIBUNE home economics editor.

A murmur of excited anticipation answered the announcement that the women were free to enter the ballroom. They pushed through the doors, tripped down the long corridors, up the stairs and made a dash for the front seats. It was not long before the main floor and the balconies were filled to overflowing. Ushers in white uniforms were adding folding chairs in as much additional space as was allowed by the fire regulations.

The women—and some men—amused themselves until the work of the day began with good natured visiting with their seatmates whom they had never seen before. A good many of them had brought their lunches and sat munching on sandwiches and apples.

Then Phil Maxwell, master of ceremonies, appeared at the microphone, announced Frank Bennett, song leader, and the ballroom rang with music as 5,000 voices, under his direction, sang the songs familiar to all.

Just before the velvet stage curtains were drawn aside a ripple of surprise ran through the audience as Irene Rich, whom many of them had seen on the motion picture screen, was escorted to the performers' platform. Necks were craned to see the screen favorite, and applause and laughter followed her brief greeting. She admitted, a little ruefully, that she didn't know how to cook very well. But right after Mrs. Chitwood had been introduced by Miss Meade, Miss Rich took a lesson in piemaking on the stage, much to every one's delight. Then Mrs. Chitwood got down to the serious business of showing her five thousand students some new wrinkles in cookery.

"First I'm going to show you how to prepare a dish that men like—a great big steak," she began. "Men are so fond of steak that they'd like to have it three times a day, but as to the advisability of that I'll tell you later.

"Now, this steak I'm going to call a Lindbergh steak because it is decorated with carrot airplanes."

A buzz of discussion greeted this announcement, and the women bent forward to see the creation of this new kind of broiled steak. First they saw Mrs. Chitwood take a thick sirloin steak from a pan. She held it up for all to see.

"It should be bright red like this," she added, "and the suet should be white. That shows that the animal is on the incline rather than the decline. Never salt the meat until after it is cooked, because salt draws the juice from the meat. The meat should be well chilled. Place it on the rack, which has been brushed with fat, and apply intense heat, I'd say about 500 degrees, until it is seared on both sides. Then reduce the heat to cook it well—about 40 minutes."

Mrs. Chitwood then showed the women the trick of the airplanes. She used cooked (boiled) carrots, scooped out in the center and filled with peas in white sauce. Uncooked carrot slices were used for the wings and the propellers were fastened with a toothpick.

"Lindbergh?" she resumed. "Well, you place a mushroom on top where the airplane's cockpit should be, and that's his helmet showing. Arrange these airplanes around the steak when it is done."

It was the stuffed cake that caused the greatest excitement of the afternoon. Mrs. Chitwood loosened a puffy, golden brown cake from the pan and held it up, one side, then the other, reminding her students that in order to get a cake out of a pan easily it should be left there till cold.

"Now take a sharp bread knife and remove a circular piece in the center of the top, deep enough to put the filling in. If the cake is made of good material it will fold like this."

With her hands Mrs. Chitwood swiftly bent the cake. There was a gasp of astonishment. From the audience a high pitched voice called out:

"I'd like to have that cake. I never made a cake you could throw around like that."

"You shall have it," offered Mrs. Chitwood. "Come right up here to the platform and as soon as this show is over you can have it."

Among other dishes Mrs. Chitwood demonstrated was the coffee soufflé pie which she decorated with whipped cream rosettes out of a pastry tube; steamed cranberry pudding decorated likewise, the gelatin filling for the stuffed cake, and Spanish macaroni, which utilizes leftovers.

One of the novelty acts of the entertainment was the Kitchenette Sinkopators, a bevy of girls directed by Clara Lawrence, who amused the women with the strange musical uses to which kitchen instruments, including spoons and wash boiler tops, can be put. Other numbers equally as appreciated included the duet by Ruth Streeter, soprano, and Henry Phillips, tenor, and the solos by Sherwood Thatcher, baritone, and Miriam Mims, accompanist, from the Chicago Musical college.

Persuasion Makes 5 Year Age Disparity Evaporate in Air

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Marie" is so in love, it hurts. She's 20 and the one who is causing her the miseries is 25. Twenty-five and thinks she's just a kid, suffering a puppy love attack from which she'll recover with a bang one of these days.

From her symptoms she knows it is no such thing. She goes out to dine with another boy—and she wishes it were Mr. Twenty-Five. She dances with other men, but he's really the one she's dancing with. She's tried to forget him. No use. He's there in her mind morning, noon, and night.

He tells her she is foolish to care so much, crazy to turn down two proposals in the last year because of him. But when he is in trouble or needs help or sympathy, she is the girl he comes to. And he has admitted he does care a great deal for "Marie." It's the disparity in their years that bothers him.

The so called disparity in years doesn't seem like much of a handicap to these old eyes. Forty-five quite often thinks itself young enough for a 20 year old bride. And thirty-five believes himself kiddish enough for a girl in the early twenties. Does 25 sit so seriously upon the heads of our young men?

The chances are that it isn't the age problem that is involved, but that the young man does not feel ready for marriage yet. He may want to play around for a couple of years more, and accumulate more money for the venture and more years for the responsibility. So, it evolves upon the girl in the case to persuade the young man there's more fun playing around in marriage than out of it; more progress made if responsibility is adopted early and more real living in a compatible domestic atmosphere than in any other quarter.

That's where the female art of persuasion comes in. One sells the marriage idea without appearing to do it. But with an abiding love on your side and obviously a tender affection on his—it wouldn't seem that the miseries would last much longer.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Have Many Friends.

"Dear Miss Blake: The fellow I love lives out of town. When he comes to New York his visits are so short, I haven't much time to see him. Should I wait for him? HUNKY."

You may continue to welcome his visits, but there is no reason why you shouldn't go out with other boys.

Cultivate New Friendships.

"Dear Miss Blake: The boy I go with never takes me out on Saturday or Sunday. He sees me only once a week. I still care for him a little. What shall I do? ANGIE."

You have plenty of leisure to devote to other boys, so cultivate other friendships and arrange other dates.

Food Talk.

Why are so many noses turned up at prunes? Certainly, when you come right down to the prunes themselves, not because they aren't good. I think this is one of those things that are hangovers from another generation—in this case, prunes are maligned because people had them constantly when they couldn't get fresh fruit and because children were made to eat large dishes of them, "Because they're good for you, dear."

I like to think of prunes growing on their prune-plum trees in California, soaking in sunlight and getting fat and ripe, rather than as blackish, shriveled lumps to be soaked in water overnight.

Maybe everybody in your family was properly brought up and is just as glad to see prunes on the breakfast table as the choicest Persian melon, but if that isn't the case, try this method, used by our old black cook when I was in school. She cut thin slices of orange and lemon, with the peel on, and stewed them with prunes. It was really wonderful the number of prunes a houseful of finicky girls would eat when they were cooked that way. Prunes may be appetizingly combined with an equal quantity of apricots or peaches, dried ones, of course.

If you leave dried fruit around you are likely to notice that it disappears. Children find that it makes quite a desirable substitute for candy. Wise mothers will cooperate with them, because dried fruit is a healthful sweet.

Stick cinnamon may be cooked with the prunes, too. It gives them a piquant, spicy flavor.

STEWED PRUNES.

If you want to cut down the time for preparing the fruit, you will find that an hour's soaking in hot water practically equals overnight soaking.

BAKED SWEET POTATO AND APPLE.

Canned sweet potatoes may be used for this dish. Cut the cooked potatoes in halves and line the bottom of a covered baking dish with them. Dot with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Next place a layer of sour apples on the potatoes. Red apples, cored and sliced, with the skin left on, add to the appearance of the food. Cover the apples with brown sugar, then fill your dish with alternate layers of potato and apple. If the apples seem a little dry, add enough water to keep moist till the juice starts. Bake with the cover on for about fifteen minutes, then finish with the cover removed, about 45 minutes in a medium oven.

Graceful Curves Are Demanded by Every Frock, This Season

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Says "Nadia," whose allowance hasn't been so curbed yet that she can't have her Lanvin party creation, "What's the use of this kind of evening frock for me, with this chest cavity of mine? I might as well buy my clothes at the five and ten for all the good they do me!"

There being only one thing worse than having a Paris importation and not wanting to wear it—namely: not having one—we'll have to do something for the poor little rich, flat chested "Nadia." Rather, she'll have to do something for herself, the poor little evening dress outcast!

But why just feel badly about an evening frock? A day frock of simplest make and design needs a decently filled chest line quite as much as the other. In fact, no frock these days is eligible to distinction without a well curved bust line.

While the hollow chested are egg-nogging and exercising their way back to the curved line of silhouette beauty there is an emergency measure or two to tide over the period of training. One is standing up tall, with the chest lifted, and carrying oneself around like that, even if it is a strain. Then the foundation garment people have some tricky little garments conceived for the express purpose of giving a bust line where one does not naturally exist.

But for the hollow chest line and the sunken shoulder hollows there will have to be some exercising in addition to a diet of foods that fatten but which do not revolt. If, for example, one can't stand milk, there's butter to be piled on toast, in cereal, on meats, on potatoes, on everything you can put it on. It's most digestible and a marvelous fat builder.

The extra thins must have their full noontime and dinnertime quota of fruits and vegetables and oodles of outdoor air. And sleep a-plenty. And this one exercise I recommend as a chest bracer if ever there was one:

Stand two feet away from the wall, with feet slightly apart, facing the wall, of course. Put your hands on the wall about a foot apart. Now push forward from your shoulders and resist with all your might with your arms. Keep the head up.

Keep on bending until the chin almost touches the wall, resisting hard with the arms as you push back and forth. A month of this and you'll be able to wear anything with a more femininely curved line of the bust.

Smart Lingerie Takes Tips from Eugenie Era

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Paris styles are turning Empire inside as well as outside. The newest of lingerie reminds one of the undies of the Empress Eugenie period, though it is so modernized that only the inspiration remains.

Petticoats are back in style, and many smart winter frocks for afternoon and evening have petticoats to go with them. The modern petticoat is a decoration rather than a necessity, and it is denuded of all the voluminous fullness that characterized the petticoats of the empire.

A 1931 petticoat is shown at the top of our sketch today. It is made of pale green georgette, with a fitted yoke at the hips, which buttons on. Below this the straight and narrow skirt is split and wrapped around, so that there is plenty of room for movement without any fullness. Six narrow ruffles, made of white footing trim this petticoat.

Below are shown the culottes that go with the petticoat. They are 1932 in their brevity and made, also, of green georgette. Below the buttoned hip yoke which fits snugly they are covered with ruffles of tulle footing, which are not very full, so that a flat foundation for winter dresses is retained.

The Empire nightgown shown on the large figure is made of pale green washable crêpe satin, and it is cut like an informal evening gown with a dropped shoulder yoke, a short bodice with tucks at the top where it joins the yoke, and a skirt that is tucked at the top, just below the sash at the Empire waistline.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

K. P.: YOU NEED EXERCISE every day—exercise to drive the blood through your arteries in a strong, steady current. Ride horseback, play golf, tennis, swim, or walk. Walk vigorously and take deep breaths while you walk.

B. K.: YOU WILL FIND RELIEF from an itchy skin by applying an oily lotion two or three times a week. Twenty-five per cent glycerin in olive oil is satisfactory.

An Apology Will Not Lessen Your Power with the Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Are you afraid to apologize to your children? Are you afraid to admit to them you've made a mistake? Are you afraid to change a no to a yes, on second thought? Are you afraid to do these things because you think your child will think less of you?

Don't worry; he won't. Of course, you want to be as kind, as fair, and as economical with your denials as you can. But if you haven't been and it seems the right thing for you to explain, to apologize, or to replace a no with a yes, don't hesitate because you think you will sink in your child's estimation.

Children have a keen sense of fair play. If they see you care more about justice than your own dignity, they will respect you more for it. If they see you're quick to admit your mistake, instead of being humbled in their eyes you'll be elevated. The fact that you show you see their side and understand their feelings adds to your dignity, not subtracts from it.

This doesn't mean you must go round looking for occasions to apologize. I must put in that warning. It doesn't mean you should often go back on your no's. It doesn't mean that you should go out of your way to point out some unfairness that is unimportant and escapes your child's notice. It clutters up children's minds and emotions too much if you do all that.

Especially with the little children a frequent veering around from no to yes is most confusing. With them you must be O, so careful to be fair and to keep to your decisions wherever it is possible. It is important that little children have a feeling of stability about you, because you are the big person and the hub of their young universe. So be as sure of yourself as possible. But on those rare occasions when the situation demands that you admit your error to your child, admit it and don't worry about your power over him, for I can assure you that that won't suffer.

The mother who looks to her own behavior as one cause of the children's will be interested in our booklet, "Make Patience Your Handmaiden," which will be sent on receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ills—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently.

A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headache, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.

The Marriage Racket

By VINA DELMAR

SYNOPSIS.

Irma Orbin, while playing in vaudeville in Thrace, an upstate New York town, is given invitations by Bill Fitzroy, friend of her pianist, and Wallace Graham, a friend of Bill's. Wallace asks Irma to be his wife. Bill's proposal to her is of a different nature. Irma marries Wallace and leads a dull existence as his wife. Wallace's brother, Mildred, and his aunt live with them. A son is born to Irma. He becomes the center of her universe. Wallace and Irma go on a trip to Europe. Irma is worried about the baby. They meet Russell Byrnes, a wealthy bachelor from Thrace, who has a cabin on a boat sailing in two days, which Irma persuades him to occupy with Scott Avery. Wallace appoints Irma to guard her. Mildred eludes Wallace and sails with Scott. Wallace and Irma quarrel. Irma decides her marriage is a failure and will take the baby to New York. She gets an engagement dancing in a night club where she meets Russell Byrnes. Irma becomes Russell's mistress because he can supply everything Irma thinks he needs. Russell is called to Paris on business and leaves a message over there. Bill Fitzroy visits Paris and meets Irma. Irma is taken ill with typhoid fever. In desperation Russell allows Bill to take Irma back to Thrace with him.

INSTALLMENT XLV.

MENTAL TORTURE.

"There's a cable from Wallace, Irma, in which he asks about you."

"Oh, Russell, for God's sake, shut up a minute, will you?"

"But I want you to rest easily."

"How can I rest easily knowing that my baby is with people who never see him and don't care how neglected a child is? Russell, how many times must I tell you that the main reason I hated Thrace was because nobody would do anything for the baby?"

"I know, dear, but mademoiselle is with him now."

"Yes, mademoiselle is with him now! Do you suppose Aunt Tessie is going to order the foods and arrange her days to the plan which mademoiselle has set?"

"I rather that they are at Mildred's house, dear."

"That makes it a lot better, doesn't it? You must love me a hell of a lot, Russell, that you couldn't bear a responsibility for me when I was dying. You knew what will become of Martin in Thrace, and, what's more, possessed the fine points of the law. How do I know I'll ever get him back if a couple of flapjacks and Grahams start telling Wallace that he has a right to him?"

"You always said that Wallace didn't want him."

"Yes, but he was a baby then. He's cute now and can talk French and he's a swell prize for a crack-pate like Aunt Tessie to show off at the sewing circle luncheons."

"Irma, please don't get excited. You're weak——"

"Don't talk to me about getting excited. I trusted you, Russell, and you've let me down. You got a streak of yellow as broad as a barn. Scared that if I kicked off you'd be stuck with the baby, weren't you?"

"It wasn't that, Irma. If I had been in a position to watch that the baby was getting the right things for him I'd have been glad to care for him. But my hands were tied. I had no authority."

"You had no courage is what you mean. You didn't give a tinker's damn. How did you know the Grahams would take the baby?"

"I'm still they would. He seemed to know that positively."

"Oh, did he?"

"It's a hell of a mess, Irma, getting the baby home. The passport problem was a terrible thing. Marcel Lebeau had some friends and I had some friends, and between them the American consul was moved to make a suggestion."

"You told my business in twenty-two different offices in Paris, didn't you, Russell?"

"No, dear, only one man heard the story."

"Thanks."

"I suppose I did the wrong thing. I lost my head probably. Call me when I'm ill and will help you any."

"As though that would help," she said scornfully. "If you want to do something worth while find out the next boat for America. I'm going to see my baby."

"You can't go while you're so weak."

"Just I'd like to see you or any other yellow puppy like you stop me."

"Irma, don't be so mean."

"Mean! You'll never know just how mean I feel tonight, Russell. If you knew you'd probably be scared. What you did is unforgivable. If I don't get my baby back you'll be sorry. And what's more, every one who likes you will be sorry. Get out, will you? I want to think."

He went, but only as far as the other side of the door. He stood for a long while listening to the storm of sobs beyond him in the room which he had left. He knew her so well that he was able to realize the extent of her suffering. Her tremendous capacity for imagining Martin the victim of kidnapers, careless truck drivers, and dread illnesses. He had heard in detail the story of her first trip to Europe. He knew what it meant to her to have the child so many miles away. And added to the fears which had gripped her throughout that first terrible trip was now the worry that Wallace might fight to keep his little son. He shook his head wonderingly. What had made him think that sending the child to Thrace was a clever plan? It seemed terribly stupid now when reviewed with heartbreaking sobs for a background. He must have been a little crazy with worry over Irma. But Bill Fitzroy should have known better.

"I was a damn fool," Russell thought ruefully. "I deserve a punch in the nose." Well, he hadn't had the brains to spare her this awful hurt, but he had the built to keep her from sailing till she was well. He'd use it, too, if necessary, he thought. He'd keep her in Paris till she could safely make the trip home.

A sudden bright idea struck him. He went downstairs and drove swiftly back to Paris. In the cable office he wired to Mrs. Scott Avery:

"Am arranging from here immediate return of Martin and nurse. Will write details. Answer if unsatisfactory."

In the morning before driving to Neuilly to get Irma he stopped at the American Express just in case the Grahams had some objections to sending Martin back to Paris.

Yes, there was a cable from Mildred. His heart missed a beat. Were they really going to hold the child? Mildred's answer was disconcerting enough.

"Thorn gone," he read. Good God, what next? He carefully destroyed the cable and threw it away. It would be awful if Irma saw that. The message definitely killed his plan, for Irma would not stand for just any one kidnapping the child, and probably the Grahams wouldn't, either.

He hoped that Irma wouldn't hit upon the grand idea of bringing the child back to Paris. If she did then he would have to tell her that mademoiselle was not with him. That would probably kill her. God, what a mess!

The departure of mademoiselle fom Thrace looked very bad to Russell. It probably meant, he reflected gloomily, that Wallace was going to raise his child from now on without the help of a nursery governess.

Irma was dressed and waiting when he arrived at the hospital.

"Have you arrange for a boat?" she greeted him.

"No, you're not going home till you're stronger."

"I can get a nurse from here to go home with me," she said. "I made inquiries last night."

"I don't care if you can get a squad of nurses. You'll stay here till you're physically fit again."

"Don't be foolish," she said. "You're talking without thinking. If my mind is uneasy I'll get well very slowly—if at all."

"Your mind won't be uneasy once you realize that a dead mother is no use at all to the child. If Wallace by any chance is going to try to keep Martin you'll need your strength, won't you?"

"I'll talk it over later. Please take me home now."

At the door of the hospital he picked her up and lifted her into the car.

"I can walk," she protested.

"Don't be independent, Irma. You need a lot of pampering right now, dear," he added to himself, "God alone knows what troubles lie before you, poor darling."

Irma sat back in the taxi and regarded the main street of Thrace as she had done on an evening almost five years before. Only then Tommy—what was his last name?—had been beside her and they had been on their way to the Hotel Bartrum hoping to get rooms there. Funny that she had driven so serenely along that night without any hint that destiny awaited her at the hotel.

Irma tore her fascinated eyes from the scenes of her witchood and lay back in the cab. The long trip followed by the train ride to Thrace had used a great deal of her none too plentiful strength. The feeling of weakness that swept over her now made her realize in full how right Russell had been. Suppose she had left Paris directly after her illness? Possibly she wouldn't be here now. Even at the moment she was weak and tired.

He was so good. What a devil she must have been during those two years that he had kept her in Paris trying to rebuild her wrecked health. She would not have waited had he not made her realize what her death would mean to Martin. What Russell had endured from her before she had been convinced! She must cable tomorrow that she was well and grateful.

The sight of the Graham house made her heart thump hotly. She wished she had been able to avoid coming here, but she did not know where Mildred lived. She would have to ask Wallace. It would seem very fantastic asking him to direct her to the home of his daughter so that she could collect her son.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Bonnie, aged 3½, was driving home from a trip in the country in an open car with his mother and daddy one bright moonlight night, when he exclaimed, "Is the moon lighted so airplanes won't bump into each other when they are flying at night?"

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Asks for Photograph Frame.

"I wonder if some reader has an old cabinet frame, the kind they used to put photographs in years ago. They are made in two pieces with hinges holding them together. I'd appreciate it if you could get me one of these.

Jane Condon to Wed on Day After Christmas

BY THALIA

MISS JANE CONDON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Condon, will be married to Truman W. Brophy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Truman W. Brophy of 1530 Lake Shore drive, the day after Christmas.

The ceremony is to take place in the evening, with only relatives and intimate friends present, at the Condon apartment at 1500 Lake Shore drive. The bride is to have only two attendants, her sister, Mrs. Paul Gerhardt Jr., as her matron of honor, and Miss Elizabeth Ricker as maid of honor.

Wayne Pienker of Los Angeles, with whom Mr. Brophy is now residing in Los Angeles, will come on with him from the west about the 20th of December and will be best man. The prenuptial parties will include a tea to be given by Mrs. Donald La Chance on Nov. 24 and a tea that Mrs. Theophilus Noel III. [Laura Jacoby] is to give on Dec. 14. The bride-to-be is taking part in the Junior league's "The Strange Adventures of Dr. Dolittle," but the last performance is on Dec. 12, so she'll have SOME time, at least, to get ready for the wedding.

Mrs. Howard Linn Studies Technical Details for Tableaux.

The mechanics of preparing for the Olivet institute tableaux vivants to be presented at Orchestra hall next Tuesday evening are intricate and interesting. Mrs. Howard Linn, chairman of the benefit, is spending her days down at the Paushack studio on Cottage Grove avenue, supervising innumerable experiments in making up, lighting, and posing. A frame has been rigged up at the studio, and the women who are to be the animated counterparts of the famous beauties in Cecil Beaton's "Book of Beauty" are being tested in various lights and with various makeups so that they will give the properly photographic effect.

In contrast to the neutral colors of raiment and makeup the setting for the tableaux will be vivid. The giant frame is of green and is to be set against a reddish purple curtain. A mammoth table leg and an immense bouquet of flowers proportionate to the frame will be used to convey the tableau idea. The committee isn't disclosing the who's who in the cast, but it is known that Jane Schuttler is to "do" Irene Castle McLaughlin, and Mrs. Billy Mitchell Blair will represent Marion Davies. The tickets are to go on public sale at the Orchestra hall box office today.

Elizabeth S. Coolidge Honored at Ceremony in Paris.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge, who was recently awarded the Legion of Honor for promoting French music in America, was presented with the insignia of the institution by the Comtesse de Noailles, famous poetess and only woman to hold the highest decoration of the Legion of Honor, at a luncheon given in Mrs. Coolidge's honor in Paris several weeks ago. The luncheon was given at the Cercle Polytechnique in the Rue de Poitiers, and according to May Birkhead in the Paris Tribune, "M. Paul Painleve, the savant and former minister, presided, and the most notable musicians of Paris were present."

The evening before the presentation luncheon one of the series of chamber concerts given in European cities this fall under Mrs. Coolidge's auspices was given in Paris.

John A. Pardridge, the Albert J. Pardridges' son, has returned from almost a year of travels in European countries and is with his parents at their Wheaton estate, Villa Azura. He departed shortly after he was graduated from Yale in June, 1930, and his peregrinations included a Mediterranean cruise and a motor tour on the continent.

Mr. and Mrs. William Truesdale Bissell of New York City are arriving tomorrow for a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bissell of 40 East Cedar street, and there'll be a round of entertaining for them. Mr. Bissell, the visitor, is a nephew of Mr. Bissell, the Chicagoan, and his wife is the former Miss Eleanor Latine of Baltimore, Md., whose father is professor of history at Johns Hopkins university.

Miss Ginny Carpenter, looking as tall and fair and distinctive as ever, was being warmly greeted right and left at the concert on Monday night. She has just come on from the east, and her fiancé, Patrick Champain Hill, is coming up from Fort Worth, Tex., for the week-end Monday night. She was wearing a chic creation of black crepe with plaits and the most enchanting crystal earrings, large ones, in a sort of star sunburst pattern. She is to have a supper party on Sunday night at the John Alden Carpenters' Rush street residence.

Private Chauffeurs' Dance to Help Fund for Jobless.

Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, the Vaughan C. Spaldings, the John J. Mitchells, and a number of other fashionables will go where they're going in cabs next Monday night or else sit home and listen to the radio, because that's the night of the Chicago Private Chauffeurs' Benevolent association's annual dance. It's to be held at the Aragon ballroom, and the association, which is a very exclusive organization [chauffeurs have to have at least two years of private driving before they're eligible for membership] is specially anxious to have this year's affair a success, because the proceeds are to be devoted to a never before needed unemployment fund.

William Setterfield, who has driven for royalty, is president of the association, and others of the members, officers, and past presidents who are concerned with the arrangements include William Bingham, who drives for Mrs. J. J. Mitchell; Sydney Wilcox, who presides behind the wheel of Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine's motor; Norman McDonald, Mrs. Freeman Hinckley's chauffeur, and Robert Hare, who "chauffs" for the Vaughan C. Spaldings. Ed Thompson is vice president and secretary for the ball, and an ex-chauffeur who now works in a bank, R. N. Young, who used to drive for the Solomon A. Smiths, is appropriately enough, the treasurer.

Box party hosts for the Association and Arts Industries' benefit performance of "The Admirable Crichton" at the Erlanger theater tonight include Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., Mrs. William N. Eisendrath, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Cudahy, and Mrs. Moise Dreyfus. Last minute ticket sales have been made to Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gillette, the John J. Mitchells, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Schuyler.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Graf will present their daughter, Miss Barbara Graf, at a reception from 4 until 7 o'clock this afternoon at the Woman's Athletic club and afterwards will give a dinner dance at the Tavern for the debutante and her assistants. On Dec. 30 Mr. and Mrs. Graf will give a dance for their daughter in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house.

Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Give Tea for Mary Garden.

The tea Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers gave for Mary Garden yesterday afternoon as a sort of an epilogue to the benefit concert at Orchestra hall for the Country Home for Convalescent Children Monday evening was a joyous affair.

Everybody was congratulating Mrs. Chalmers on the success of the benefit, and telling Miss Garden how much they enjoyed her singing. Present were members of the board of the home, the women who were active on the special ticket selling committee for the benefit, and some of the opera artists.

Mrs. Edward F. Swift in a deep violet crêpe gown with a corsage of violets to match was presiding at the frappé bowl, and Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde and Mrs. Albert W. Scherer were pouring. In animated conversation here and there around the beflowered rooms [Mrs. Chalmers had as many bouquets as a debutante] were Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Miss Garden's mother, Mrs. Robert D. Garden; Barre Hill, who sang with Miss Garden on Monday evening; Hamilton Forrest, M. and Mme. Vanni-Marcoux, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Schwarz, Mrs. Moses Wentworth, Mrs. John A. Stevenson, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Ira Nelson Morris, Miss Lucy Martin, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, Mrs. Dallas Phemister, Arthur Meeker Jr., Miss Sarah Hinde, Mrs. William C. Pullman, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lewis, and Mrs. Joseph O. Watkins.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Nov. 10. —[Special.]— Mrs. Walter P. Anderton gave a luncheon in the Georgian room of the Hotel Pierre and had among her guests Mrs. Livingston French, Mrs. Morris De Peyster, Mrs. Henry H. B. Ripley, and Mrs. Kimball G. Colby.

Mrs. Frederic V. S. Crosby of the Hotel Carlyle gave a luncheon there for Mrs. James L. Flood. Mrs. Raymond J. Schweizer gave a dinner there last night. Her guests included Mr. and Mrs. Huntington Norton and Mrs. Kimball G. Colby.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover was hostess to a small company at the tea hour this afternoon. Her guests, going to the White House by appointment, included several of this season's debutantes and their mothers.

The chief justice and Mrs. Hughes have as their guest this week their daughter, Mrs. Chauncey L. Waddell of New York.

Movie Gossip as It's Heard in Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 10.—Paul Ludwig Stein, director of Pola Negri's "The Woman Commands," has emerged victorious from a long campaign with the American immigration authorities. Stein, a Bavarian, who is rated among the best of the present crop of film directors here, came to this country with only a temporary passport last year. He had to run a race with his picture work and his passport time in order to finish with Pola before his passport expired. Stein then left for the Mexican border at Calexico, crossed to Mexicali, and through an arrangement with American Consul Frank Bohr was able to get a renewed permit to enter the country as a permanent resident.

Society at Opera

THE season's first performance of "Lucia di Lammermoor" last night brought forth a representative showing of the regular Tuesday night subscribers. Barring one or two vacancies in the upper tier, the boxes were filled.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Leslie Behr were hosts in their box to a group of young people including their attractive debutante daughter, Miss Edith Behr, Miss Mary Ellen Prindiville, also a bud of the season; Walter Carroll, and Barrett Williams. Miss Behr was wearing a gown of lustrous white satin with rhinestone shoulder straps and a plaited peplum. Her mother wore white chiffon and Miss Prindiville was in black velvet.

Another attractive box party was the Charles B. Pikes', who had Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey and Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne as their guests. Mrs. Dewey wore a black velvet gown under a sable wrap; Mrs. Langhorne was in brocaded metallic cloth and Mrs. Pike wore a black velvet gown and short ermine jacket with rows of ermine tails trimming the cuffs.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Hamills' guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Carton and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Farwell. In the Thomas E. Wilson box Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Williams were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wakely, Dr. and Mrs. Clarke Finnerud, and Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Wakeley. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Douglass, Mrs. Edward H. Hills, and Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Moore were guests of Mrs. Jacob Mortenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barbour, Mrs. Leroy Goddard, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Veeder occupied the George Tracy Buckingham box. Mr. and Mrs. George T. Leach were hosts to Mrs. William Nicol, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Dawey and Robert Whiting. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Frier and Dr. and Mrs. Asa J. Ferry were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Cross.

OTBALL CAN LL RUGBY AND CCER 'UNCLE!'

oth Are Tougher Than Their Nephew.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 10.—Once the robust infancy of the English school boys had succumbed to the sanguinary rigors of the game of football as played in the cobbled streets by the mobs, the sport was quickly assayed by the thoroughbred kind and made suitable for their uses.

The histories suggest that the cap-tivity masses then left off playing it soon, being unfamiliar with the rotundities which had been laid upon the fine style sport by their betters. They did not rise in chaises and they appeared that football had become the pleasure of the aristocracy exclusively yielded it was enough that the commons suffered to breathe the same air as it would have been crowding the gentlemen to play a game that was denied to their betters.

Rugby Came Rugger.

The various English schools developed various patterns of the game suited to their respective peculiarities, and football at first appears to have been purely intramural and rather casual. The common people never got into their sectional game in anything like its natural rough-and-tumble form until it was popularized in the United States after the turn of the present century.

In its hiking form, purified of the brutal, primal impetus, it was taken up by the British working classes only about 75 years ago. Rugger, the scrimmage game from which American intercollegiate football has descended, was the students' and old gaffers' sport and the kicking game was rather definitely allocated to the uneducated classes.

Consequently, the kicking game, now known as association or soccer football, was professionalized long before the rugby game and its American offshoot. Soccer is now the British equivalent of baseball in the matter of popular interest, receipts and organization, and it has become one of the most worthy games in the world, due to its propagation among the middle and lower classes of other European countries on the continent.

It's Local Frills Here.

In the United States professional football clubs are all composed of citizens, except a few Cubans and Canadians who are cordially received because they are so few, and the element of patriotism is reduced to a matter of local pride. Even that pride is somewhat because the customers well know that the members of the Chicago Bears, for instance, are not necessarily Chicagoans, even in the vaguest sense.

But in here-and-there European soccer, old sectional feuds are exploited and moreover, when international games are played between national teams, the popular emotions aroused are similar to those which have been visited upon in recurrent wars. Twice in the last five years Italian soccer teams, being defeated, have provoked serious unseemly almost to diplomatic incidents.

The Roman newspapers were so bitterly incensed when an Austrian soccer team defeated an Italian team in a championship match a few years ago that they said, substantially, in their editorials: "They will lick us in football, will they, the dirty bums? Well, then wait until our delegates get in their licks at the league of nations. Austria is asking approval for a loan and our guys will smear that on for them."

Recalls Fascisti Squawk.

The Fascisti are not very sporting, as they demonstrated when their boxing coach and some of their boxers assaulted the referee and the referee's decision in some bouts with an American team in New York last spring. But the European hatreds are much more ferocious than the good humored rivalries between the states and cities of the United States and Canada.

Soccer, notwithstanding its rules against tackling, hacking at the shins and clogging, remains, even in the professional quarters in the United States, the most ferocious game of all. It is not at all uncommon to read in the Monday morning newspapers of the important games played on Sundays—that the local policemen, foot and horse, were required to charge the field and pat the interested partisans on their hats with their sticks and blackjacks to bring them. The ferocity originates in the stands. It originates farther away than that. It originates in old sod.

The rugby teams of the formative period of football seem to have retained the great social prestige of the knock-down-and-drag-out game by sheer excellence. Rugby was the game at Notre Dame of the early years of the twentieth century, earning such a fine reputation that other schools generally were attracted to this style of game. Thus it became the school game, the gentlemen's game, so to speak, and the soccer game naturally was left to persons whose fathers

National Grid Champions.

Soon controversy will arise over which is the greatest football eleven in the country and therefore deserving of the impossible-to-determine national championship. From this section, Northwestern and Notre Dame are undefeated and promise to remain so although the Irish have a tougher task from this point in Navy, Southern California and Army than has the Purple with Indiana and Iowa.

These unbeaten elevens played a tie under weather conditions which did not determine their relative merits on that particular day. When Northwestern and Notre Dame adherents start arguing, The Wake's place will be on the sidelines as an innocent bystander. Meanwhile, there still are undefeated elevens in the south and east.

Capt. Munn of Minnesota.

Last week in discussing prospects for THE TRIBUNE'S eighth annual Silver Football awarded to the Big Ten player of greatest value to his team, we mentioned Capt. Munn of Minnesota as possible choice of the Gopher squad. That was a bit presumptious, we admit, but nothing that happened Saturday in the Northwestern affair changed our opinion that he still is a probable choice of the Gophers for the honor.

Newman of Michigan.

Harry Newman, then sophomore, was forward passing star of the Michigan co-champions of 1930. From the outside it has looked as if there was a willingness to sidestep him as regular quarter this fall. Rumors came forth from Ann Arbor that other Wolverine players did not like to work with him, that Newman did not block enough for the other backs, liked to carry the ball himself, and altogether was a self-satisfied young man who did not underestimate himself.

We saw him play and play well against Illinois. Against Indiana, he recorded the greatest total yardage. The Wake knows not the truth of rumors circulated. Perhaps there was some truth. The only time we ever had extended conversation with Newman he did not impress us as afflicted with megacephalia but perhaps that was because we were a newspaper man.

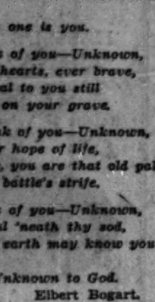
Levinsky Won't Budge from Gym, Not Even for Carnera

King Levinsky isn't going to be pushed around by Primo Carnera even if nature did endow the huge Italian with greater pushing facilities than Chicago's ex-fish peddler.

This became evident yesterday when Levinsky refused to move his training quarters simply because Carnera also wants to train at the same gym.

Carnera arrives in Chicago tomorrow. His local agents have completed arrangements for him to work at Brown's gym on Randolph street. Levinsky already has established himself in the same place and insists he will continue to work there, Carnera or no Carnera.



KING LEVINSKY.

Meet at Stadium Nov. 19.

Levinsky and Carnera clash Nov. 19 at the Chicago stadium. Bat Battalino will meet Bushy Graham in a 10 round bout on the same card. This bout pits the featherweight champion against a man who beat him recently in a decision bout in Cincinnati. Graham declares he can do it again and that the weight, 128 pounds, will be easy for him.

Carnera is two days late in arriving, having been forced to stop over at Springfield, Mass., because of a court case. There are five in his party besides Manager Leon See and these will be augmented by another quintet of sparring partners.

One of his first acts will be to call on Messrs. Clinnin, Getz and Gardner, the Illinois boxing commissioners, and make his peace with them. This will be done by paying over $1,350, the amount of the fine imposed by the Italian Boxing federation for failure to go through with a match in Italy.

King Asks for Big Boys.

Levinsky yesterday issued a call for sparring partners to help him get ready for the fight. He wants at least fifteen men, weighing 200 pounds or more. He is ready to pay them $20 per round but warns them that he will not pull his punches and that he will belt them out in a round if possible. He wants to get used to bowling over big huskies. Candidates for these human punching bag jobs are asked to report to Brown's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street, today and tomorrow at 1 p. m.

Larry Johnson, south side fighter, and Jack Roper, eastern heavyweight, will meet in the ten round windup of Promoter Billy Cepak's boxing show at the Knights of Columbus clubhouse, 4711 West Madison street, tonight. Mickey Patrick and Jack Moran, Chicago middleweights, who were stable mates, face each other in the six round semi-final. The feature preliminary will be a six round combat between Glen Camp, Kewanee, Ill., lightweight, and Johnny Lullo of Melrose Park. Two other six rounders are on the card.

Earl Mastro, Chicago featherweight, will make his first start since his unsuccessful titular effort opposite Bat Battalino at Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15. He will meet sparring partners in a four round exhibition. Jack Dempsey will also fight on the program.

Walter Jerz, Lawndale middleweight, will box Gus Lindquist, Central A. A. U. champion, in a feature on Promoters Jack Lund's and Frank Knipper's card at Merry Garden arena, Sheffield and Belmont avenues, Friday. Matchmaker Eddie Plicque will make seven other matches.

Prince Saunders, local junior lightweight, left last night for Eau Claire, Wis., where he battles Harry Forbes of Columbus, O., Friday. Saunders surprised with a St. Paul victory over Eddie Shea and a knockout of Roger Bernard at the same city several weeks ago.

Baxter Calmes, Oklahoma fighter, resumes training at the Arcade gymnasium this afternoon for pending bouts. Calmes returned yesterday from Bayfield, Wis., where he rested for ten days following his win over Con O'Kelly.

Two of Chicago's outstanding Swedish amateur boxers will appear on the Brownson council, K. of C., fight card Friday night at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. In one, Gust Lindquist, with eight victories in a row, takes on Frank Skelton of Joliet at 160 pounds. In the other, Anton Hedman, 156, boxes Val Pinko, another star from Joliet.

SCHULTZ ADDS TO ILLINI POWER FOR CHICAGO GAME

Other Shifts Strengthen Eleven.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Art Schultz, out of the lineup since the Purdue game a month ago, held the full back position today as the Illini started active work for the appearance of Chicago here Saturday.

With Schultz back at work, Coach Zuppke shifted Eddie Schalk to half back. Schalk, who scored Illinois' touchdown against Wisconsin after receiving a pass in midfield, is expected to pair with Gil Berry this week-end.

Another change this afternoon sent Scott Marriner to tackle. Ivan Schustek's return to form at end has made Marriner available to strengthen one of the line's weak spots. Ed Snavely, who was expected to be transferred from full back to tackle, was one of six first string men whose absence necessitated a makeshift lineup for this afternoon's drill.

As the rehearsal on running plays began, the first eleven consisted of Casey Straw, center; Sam Gorenstein and Ack Bodman, guards; Scott Marriner and Ray Nusspickel, tackles; Ivan Schustek and Fred Frink, ends. The back field was formed by Art Schultz, Eddie Schalk, Paul Carson, and Fuzzy Evans.

MAROONS BOLSTER DEFENSE

Ever since the Yale game Chicago's Maroons have been pointing for the match with the Illini Saturday. With regard to the other conference teams they have been well aware of their own limitations, but they did want to be able to tell their grandchildren that they won a Big Ten victory back in '31.

Now that Illinois is on the upgrade and the Maroons, judging by last week's uninspiring play, are at a standstill, the odds are that the grandchildren never will know there was a '31 season. And so far, pointing hasn't done the Maroons any good.

The game's the thing, to A. A. Stagg, however, and yesterday, imperturbable and undaunted, he led his squad through a vigorous defensive against the freshmen. Reports brought to him indicate that the Illinois attack resembles that of Michigan, and that it has begun to function.

A. A. Stagg Jr., who scouted Illinois, believes that Illinois has a two to three touchdown edge on the Midway team. The downstate line will outweigh Chicago by at least ten pounds, and will have at least twice the reserve strength. The Maroons will be outclassed, particularly, he believes, in the end positions. As for the back fields, he points to the fact that the Maroon secondary men are too short to cope with high forward passes.

Coach Stagg yesterday devoted most of his time to the defensive spacing of his linemen, who have been showing a tendency to create All-American back field men among the opposition by being at the wrong place at the right time. Over a period of years Stagg has had a reputation for smart defensive tactic, but this year the pupils have been backward, and it is possible that some of the heretofore substitutes will have a chance to start at Champaign.

PRO GATES FAIL; YELLOW JACKETS TEAM DISBANDS

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Manager Joe Evans of the Frankford Yellow Jackets announced tonight that the team was disbanding for the season. He said players were expected to join other teams in the National Professional league.

The Yellow Jackets cancelled all home games last week and announced they would finish the season on the road. Sunday they played the New York Giants in New York and were to play in Brooklyn next Sunday.

"The Brooklyn manager informed me yesterday his team did not want to pay the league guarantee," Evans said. "I refused to play on any gamble and told him the game was off, as the players would not play that way."

Home games were canceled because of poor attendance.

CULVER, ATTEN-SHUN!

Calvano, full back on the St. John's Military academy team of Delafield, Wis., which meets the Culver cadet eleven at Soldiers' field Saturday, gets away a place kick with Quarter Back Nelson holding the ball. Proceeds of the charity game will be divided between the governor's relief fund and the American Legion of Cook county.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

College football coaches who still consider it ethical to cast an occasional glance at prep football camps should be tipped off to look over the material at International Falls, Minn.

A few years ago International Falls sent Bronko Nagurski to the University of Minnesota, and if there have been better full backs in college football in the last decade I wish you would name them. I'll extend the statement to include professional football, too.

The latest alumnus of International Falls to make good on the collegiate gridiron is Pete Somers, the 185 pound quarter back whose generalship and individual exploits nearly upset Northwestern at Dyche stadium Saturday afternoon.

Somers can pass like nobody's business. He is a fairly good punter, and can run like a deer. His return of kicks several times put Minnesota in position to score. I don't know why Coach Crisler removed him from the game early in the fourth quarter, but whatever the reason the Gophers' attack collapsed immediately afterward.

There was a striking contrast in the play of the Minnesota team after MacDougall replaced Somers. The spark was gone.

When the Minnesota players hold their secret vote to pick their candidate for THE TRIBUNE'S most valuable player trophy Somers is sure to be given consideration, even on a team boasting a standout like Clarence Munn, one of the leading linemen of the season.

Football attendance has been slightly off at most of the Western conference schools, but it is on the increase at Notre Dame. Art Haley, ticket manager, has given us the following figures showing the 1930 and 1931 records up to the game with Pennsylvania last Saturday:

| 1930. | | 1931. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Southern Meth. | 12,000 | Indiana | 14,000 |
| Navy | 45,000 | Northwestern | 65,000 |
| Carnegie Tech. | 33,000 | Drake | 15,000 |
| Pittsburgh | 70,000 | Pittsburgh | 47,000 |
| Indiana | 16,000 | Carnegie Tech. | 55,000 |
| Total | 176,000 | Total | 191,000 |

The season's total will suffer somewhat when the returns are in on the Southern California game. Last year's game at Los Angeles drew 80,000. Even if the 1931 meeting at South Bend Nov. 21 is a sellout, there will be only 55,000 in attendance. There still are 18,000 seats to be disposed of before Mr. Haley will hang up the sold out sign on the Notre Dame stadium.

If you were among the 65,000 who got a kick out of the punting duel between Schwartz of Notre Dame and Olson of Northwestern in their recent swimming meet at Soldiers' field, you will be happy to learn that another great kicking contest is scheduled for Wrigley field Sunday.

The principals will be Verne Lewellen of the Green Bay Packers and Ernie Nevers of the Chicago Cardinals. Football has had few boys who could kick farther or more accurately than this pair.

Talking about the pros reminds me that there is a discussion going on about the relative strength of professional and college football. It appears to be raging so furiously in Wisconsin that a friend in Escanaba, Mich., Harold B. Gessner, writes that it would be best for me to stay out of Green Bay until the storm blows over.

Vernon Blanck, a Bear fan, pens the following remarks:

"Undoubtedly the college offense is as good as the pros', but there is no comparison on defense. Ask any former college man now playing pro football and he will tell you the pro game is tougher.

"Why is it that men who ran wild in college games cannot do so in pro contests? Surely they haven't slipped in so short a time. For example, take Joe Savoldi last year. When he joined the Bears he didn't even know how to tackle. The boys got past him every time.

"I wish the Bears or Packers could play Notre Dame. I believe they would win by four or five touchdowns. You probably will hear from me again if you write more foolish things."

H. W. Gudaitis, 7024 South Maplewood avenue, also has some specific ideas about the two games. He writes:

"The Notre Dame team of 1931 could spot the Bears 20 points and come out ahead at the end of the half."

Father, on Death Bed, Asks His Son to "Beat Stanford"

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—On his deathbed, Harry Watkins, father of George Watkins, University of California half back, asked that his son be summoned. "One last wish," he said. "Son, beat Stanford." He died several hours later. Stanford and California play Nov. 21.

Hoppe Leads Cochran, 1,200-809, in Title Match

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 10.—(AP)—A lead of 1,200 to 809 was held by Willie Hoppe, challenger for the 18.1 balkline billiard championship, in his 2,600 point title match with Welker Cochran at the end of the fourth block tonight. In the fourth session Hoppe defeated Cochran, 300 to 276.

N. U. REGULARS RESUME WORK; PLAY RESERVES

Potter and Russell Likely to Face Indiana.

Northwestern's football regulars jumped back into active preparation for the Indiana game Saturday by engaging the B team in a scrimmage. The manner in which Coach Dick Hanley kept the varsity jumping through its paces indicated that every effort will be used to guard against a letdown.

An X-ray of George Potter's hip injury revealed that he is suffering only from a severe bruise and that he probably will be ready for duty Saturday. If Potter can take over the quarter back duties, it is likely that Reb Russell will play against the Hoosiers. With Potter in the lineup, the Wildcats will be able to depend on him for kicking, thus being able to relieve Ollie Olson.

Coach Hanley is not inclined to take Indiana's showing against Michigan as a true indication of the Hoosiers' ability. He feels that Indiana was off the form it showed in games against Ohio State, Chicago, and Iowa.

The Hoosiers' passing attack, which was crippled in the Michigan game through the loss of Gene Opasik because of injuries, will be functioning against the Wildcats. Opasik's passing has been one of Indiana's greatest threats, and his return to the lineup has caused the Wildcats to continue their concentration on forward pass defense.

The Wildcats also will have their passing game back in full force again Saturday since it is hoped that Pug Rentner will be able to have full use of his injured right hand. In the event that the cast cannot be removed for another week the passing will fall upon Ollie Olson again.

HOOSIERS CORRECT FAULTS

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Deserting rain soaked practice fields, Indiana's football squad worked under the fieldhouse roof today in preparation for Saturday's game with Northwestern.

A defense against flank plays marked the workout. Jones and Edmonds were put through punting practice while linemen charged them. Quicker kicks was the order.

Freshmen elevens using both Northwestern and Purdue plays were pitted against the varsity. The Indiana line held well, but the tackles and ends were ordered to charge faster. Edmonds and Vic Dauer practiced passing.

CAREY SAYS HE DOESN'T WANT HACK OR MALONE

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Max Carey, veteran National league outfielder, today took over the management of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The man who succeeds Uncle Wilbert Robinson gave a lengthy audience to newspaper men and discussed his aspirations.

The first question asked him concerned Hack Wilson and Pat Malone. Was he in the market for the Chicago Cubs, who are offered to the highest bidder?

"Positively not," said Carey. "I'd rather somebody else would take the gamble. Wilson is a fine ball player when he's going right and Malone is a good pitcher, but they're too big a gamble. I might take a chance on them at the waiver price, but I wouldn't pay big for them or exchange any of my stars for them."

Referee Chases Swiderski, Sekyra; Rules No Contest

Boston, Mass., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Paul Swiderski, Syracuse heavyweight, and Joe Sekyra of Dayton, O., tonight were ordered from the ring in the eighth round by Referee Joe O'Connor, who declared their scheduled ten round bout here no-contest. Swiderski appeared to have a slight lead when the tame action was halted. He weighed 189 and Sekyra scaled 181.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The ill feeling among the cyclists that the impresario of the six day bike race at the Chicago Stadium has been hoping for all week flamed forth last night, and happily, before a capacity crowd of 16,000, a vast majority of them the more rabid type of bike cuckoos. Burning hatreds made the riding most sensational and caused a rapid switching of the leaders throughout the period from 5 o'clock till midnight.

While some of the riders satisfied their spleen by knocking down other riders, causing them to become filled with splinters and covered with bumps, the German-American combination of Franz Deulberg and Bill Grimm chose to work out their animosities by riding their rivals bowlegged. The net was that the stroke of 12 found Franz and Bill leading the race.

Letourner Gets Rough.

The rough and tumble phase of the evening's doings started when Letourner pushed Steve Wagner with his hand to precipitate a bad spill. Later the little Frenchman, apparently angered that the applause that customarily had greeted his effort had turned to a thunder of disapproval, attempted to spill Bobbie Walthour and followed by slapping Saetta's face. Then a few minutes later Letourner was given the hip by Walthour, causing him to spill and go to his shanty for repairs.

While all these things were going on Deulberg and Grimm organized a campaign of challenging the Frenchmen at every opportunity. The challenge was accepted by the Franchies and some of the snappiest two team duels ever staged in a six day bike race ensued, with the German-American pair coming out on top, much to the delight of the howling customers. Most of the fans had been pulling for the red devils up till the spilling business occurred.

Italians Show Speed.

Another team that did a lot of riding during the night, especially after becoming a party to the fighting, was the Italian combination of Avanti Martinetti and Tom Saetta, who rode from tenth place into a tie for second place, one lap behind the leaders.

Von Buggenhout and Buysse went wild during the early part of the evening but apparently shot their bolt, for, after getting up near the leaders, they slumped back to eleventh as the race wore on.

Other riders who showed great flashes, though some failed to sustain their attack, included Coupry and Pecqueux, who at one time led the race, Spencer and Crossley, and Bobby Walthour and Hill.

Action Starts at 8.

Much business was accomplished between 8 and 8:25 o'clock, a span in which 23 laps were stolen. McNamara and Guerra were pulled out of the lead and the teams of Deulberg-Grimm and Coupry-Pecqueux replaced Reggie and Learco in the mileage tie with Letourner and Guimbretiere for first place.

Under the point system the final big shuffle of the night found Coupry-Pecqueux leading the race, Deulberg-Grimm in second and Letourner-Guimbretiere third.

The three cornered mileage tie lasted a little less than a quarter of an hour, and at 8:45 o'clock Pecqueux-Coupry were leading with Deulberg and Grimm. Letourner and Guimbretiere were a lap behind and McNamara and Guerra had been tossed two laps back in a tie with the fast riding team of Von Buggenhout-Buysse, who in 45 minutes pedaled from twelfth place. The Belgian newcomers, who had been attracting little attention until last night got a lap in five of the six major jams between 8 and 9 o'clock. Sixty-two laps were stolen during the hour.

Coupry-Pecqueux took over the lead alone during a jam in the second sprint of the 9 o'clock series, but ten minutes later Duelberg-Grimm had pulled up into another mileage tie with the leaders.

Spills Halt Jams.

During the entire ten sprints after 9 o'clock all thirty riders were on the track jamming all of the time except when the race was suspended on account of severe spill injuries to W. Nickel, Saetta, Ritter, and Seufert.

All during the sprints Letourner and Guimbretiere drew the boos of hundreds of spectators who previously had been cheering them. They apparently were suspected of rough riding which caused one spill and almost another. Their antics drew no action from the track officials and when Duelberg and Grimm took them in a personal clash the crowd staged the wildest demonstration of the race.

CROWD BOOS AS STAGECRAFT IS OUT AT PIMLICO

High Devine Captures Home Bred Purse.

Pimlico, Md., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—It would be difficult to say which aroused the most discussion at Pimlico today, the good winning race of the Audley farm's High Devine in the Pimlico Home Bred, or the poor showing made by Joseph E. Widener's Stagecraft, which was greeted by boos on his return to the stewards' stand.

High Devine, a winner by a length and a half, was well applauded when Pete Walls pulled him up at the same place, but the demonstration was completely overwhelmed by that which greeted Mr. Widerner's filly. She was made an odds on choice, extra tickets had to be sold on her because of the heavy support, and then she finished far out of the money.

The value to the winner was $3,020, and High Devine flashed past the judges in the smart time of 1:11 2-5 for the six furlongs. In eleven starts he has won six and been in the money four times.

Coupled in the betting with Wise Count, a colt which showed some promise last spring, High Devine was well backed but nevertheless a much longer price than the favorite. Across the board the entry paid $9.30, $4.60 and $3.50. Espinaca closed with a rush and landed second. He paid $21.80 for $2. Two lengths away third went to Masked Knight.

Orphans' Race Card Will Be Run Today

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The turf's bluebloods will run in the blue grass tomorrow for Kentucky's orphans. Six races, including two stakes and a handicap event, have been arranged by Col. E. R. Bradley for his annual one day charity race meet at Idle Hour farm.

With all boxes already sold and with fair weather, Col. Bradley and Barry Shannon, manager of Idle Hour, expect a crowd of 5,000 and receipts of at least $50,000. Leading turfmen and sportswomen from several states gathered here today for the meeting. Their numbers were swelled by several hundred attending the national fox hunters' meeting. Col. Bradley and Shannon expected large delegations from Louisville, where racing patrons were deprived of their fall diversion this year when the Churchill Downs meeting was called off.

Entire proceeds from the racing will be given to orphan institutions in Kentucky. Box subscriptions, general admission receipts, the ten per cent mutuel take, and dividends from concessions will swell the general fund. The bulk of the revenue will be used to provide Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners for the orphans and trinkets and toys at Christmas.

The two stakes, the Orphan Matron stakes and the Orphan Junior stakes, drew excellent fields of two year olds. The first stake, for fillies, attracted 14 entries. The Orphan Junior stakes, for colts and geldings, drew ten juveniles. In addition to these the afternoon's card includes the Admiral Sims, the Armistice Day, the Gen. Pershing, and the American Legion.

Last year's receipts were approximately $27,000. Since 1928, when the meeting was inaugurated, receipts have averaged approximately $25,000.

Bang! 5 Times—and Bird Cheers Year's First Miss

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicagoland's hunting army which yesterday fired the opening shots of the Illinois quail, cock pheasant and rabbit season, found almost ideal conditions when sunrise formally inaugurated the day's quest. Observations on Lake county indicated this year's opening day crowd was smaller than that which was afield last season.

Last season one could count one car at least to every half or three quarters of a mile of highway in one part of Lake county. Yesterday we saw but five automobile loads of hunters over a stretch of about eight miles. Attacks on hen pheasants during the last two months; the posting of thousands of acres of farmlands to prohibit all kinds of shooting; and the rigid protection given farms by deputy sheriffs were responsible for the reduced number of huntsmen.

The alarm clock clanging at 5 a. m., breakfast at 5:30, a 20 minute drive, and then the march through the fields at sunrise was the program which started our pheasant hunt in Lake county. With the ground providing dry footing and a cool wind coming out of the northwest, conditions were excellent in the swales and meadows where the pheasants were found.

A hint of the action that was ahead on the John Grimth farm southwest of Mundelein was evident before our party of five had walked 150 feet from the road shortly after sunrise. Jack, our springer spaniel, was just getting limbered up, when one of the party all but stepped on a cock pheasant. The bird rose rapidly with much cackling, swung behind the gun and then squared away toward the north. We stopped in our tracks to watch five shots discharged toward this big bird, which kept right on going, unscathed, while five amazed gunners "cheered" the season's first miss.

From then on there was action galore. Several times Jack smashed into willow thickets to send three and four pheasants into the air. On one occasion the members of our party, Dr. Clifford P. McCullough and Frank Hoffman of Lake Forest, Malcolm Vail of Highland Park, and J. A. Bairnsfather of Chicago, stood on the top of a knoll and watched the flight of nine pheasants, driven from fields nearby, sailing into the fields we were hunting.

Adams, Ripley Lead Hawks to 2-0 Victory

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The Chicago Blackhawks won their second exhibition hockey game here tonight when they shut out the Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets of the International league, 2 to 0, for the second time in four days.

HAWKS OPEN TOMORROW

The National Hockey league will officially start its 1931-'32 race of 48 games in quest of the Stanley cup tomorrow night. Each team will play 24 games on the road and 24 games at home. The New York Rangers will meet the world's champion Les Canadiens at Montreal and the Chicago Blackhawks tackle the Maple Leafs at Toronto in opening games.

With the circuit reduced from ten to eight teams, eliminating the Ottawa Senators and Philadelphia Quakers, and the best of the players of these two clubs being used to strengthen the other outfits, the clubs will swing into action more evenly balanced than at any time in the history of major league hockey.

Canadiens Team to Beat.

The world's champion Canadiens of Montreal will set another new hockey record when the race opens. The French club will swing into the defense of its Stanley cup without a single addition to the ranks that swept through the Boston Bruins and the Chicago Blackhawks to its second straight world's title last April.

There never has been a club, no matter how strong nor how weak, that didn't experiment with some new material at the beginning of the season. With four of the game's greatest scorers—Howie Morenz, Aurel Joliat, Johnny Gagnon, and Pete Lepine—in its front line; George Hainsworth, a net minder on whom but 89 goals were scored last season, and with three defense players, Sylvio Mantha, Marty Burke, and Battleship Leduc, who class with any other defense line in pro hockey, it looks as though the Canadiens are the team to beat despite the absence of new talent.

Leafs Get Stars.

Toronto Maple Leafs benefited greatly in the acquisition of players. Manager Connie Smythe has thought better of his theory of going through a season with only two forward lines. Last season he played the entire schedule with only ten men. Smythe ought to mold an efficient front line out of Frank Finnigan, whom he secured from the Ottawa Senators, Hal Darragh, who came from Boston, and Sid Howe, one of last season's high scoring Quaker forwards. Andy Blair, Harold Cotton, and Ace Bailey and the famous kid line of Joe Primeau, Charlie Conacher, and Harvey Jackson make up the other two lines.

With King Clancy, Red Horner, and Happy Day, three tallying defense men, the Leafs boast the strongest scoring aggregation in the league.

Americans Improved.

New York Americans, the only American team in the international division, improved their goal getting outlook immensely when they took Joe Lamb, Wally Kilrea, Allan Shields, and Len Grosvenor in the Philly-Ottawa shuffle. They will be the Black Hawks' opponents at the Stadium Sunday night.

Montreal Maroons, famed as the big rough, tough team, again have gone in for the bulk on which they dote. When the Maroons had their chance at the Ottawa and Philadelphia players they signed Harold Starr, powerful Senator defense player, and D'Arcy Coulson, another player of the extremely rugged and hard hitting type, who served 103 minutes in penalties last season. Johnny Gallagher and Johnny MacVicar give the Maroons plenty of aggressive defensive material to help the three outstanding maulers of the Maroon front line, Hooley Smith, Babe Siebert, and Nelson Stewart.

The slightest mishap may prove the undoing of any of the four teams in the international division.

Swedish Soccer Champs Drill Inside for Game

Both the International league champions, the Swedish Americans, and their closest contenders, the Norwegian-American A. A., are working out in gymnasiums nightly in preparation for their soccer game on the N. A. A. A. field, Fullerton and Kilbourn avenues, Sunday. The Danes meet the Scotch Ravenswood booters in the preliminary on the same field.

Jugoslavs to Use Two New Players Sunday

Louis Pagliari and Mirko Atlagich, two soccer stars who are playing their first season in Chicago, will be in the lineup of the Jugoslavs when they meet the Carpenters in the first qualifying round of the national cup competition at Gaelic park, 47th street and California avenue, Sunday.

Fight Decisions

At Reading, Pa.—Tony Falco beat Bobby Burns [8]; Lou Raymond beat Pat Igoe [8]; Joe Smallwood and Tony Stein drew [8].

ABEL'S ABLE

American Football Can Call Soccer, Rugby "Uncle!"

were in trade or aspired to enter trade.

Set Rugby Rules in '71.

This is a generalization, but for general purposes it covers the ground. Soccer is played in most American schools but comparatively few Americans know anything about it, except that a round ball is used and that people from the foreign districts make up the crowds at professional games.

The rugby rules were formulated in 1871, and by this time a game of football, generally similar to the rugby game, had been played in the United States, with 15 or more players to a side. The lack of any general understanding as to rules or the point values of various scoring plays accounts for some of the oddities in the old scores which are still preserved in the intercollegiate records of Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Rutgers and other American pioneers of the game.

With the modern intercollegiate game as the standard, it can hardly be claimed that they were playing football at all. They were playing a friendly riot with a small, round football as the object, but that game and the present one were no more alike than poker and pinochle.

Still the germ of the original idea was there, whereas it had been legislated out of soccer. And the inferior classes did not get their game back until the pioneer coaches of football in the middle west began to hire local steamfitters, coal miners, prize fighters and the like, to play on their teams and stiffen the ranks of the immature sons of men who had enough wealth to send their sons through college.

Poor Boys Become Majority.

Education then became an American fad and the sons of the working and storekeeping classes began to go to college more or less in earnest. The football team became the honor society and the theory was that the sons of immigrant laborers and their sons were more hardy and bold than the sons of the well to do.

This may be a false idea. It is true that comparatively poor boys have always outnumbered the aristocrats on the American college teams in the colleges off the eastern seaboard, and have predominated even in the big eastern schools in the last twenty years. But that may be only because the inferior classes outnumber the rich and aristocratic families.

At Harvard recently a former Harvard coach was discussing the relative courage and physical hardihood of aristocrats and bourgeoise.

"I will take the aristocrat for my team every time if the weights and physical condition are equal," he said. "I have seen those sweet looking, pink cheeked kids from the swell eastern families fight until they were knocked crazy. They don't know anything about quitting and any one who thinks they are delicate doesn't know what he is talking about."

Still Prefers Rich Boys.

Another man in the discussion named two well known aristocrats and two sons of poor men who had been stars on recent teams.

"Would you say that the rich boys were better than the other two?" he asked.

"You are damn right I would," the ex-coach said. "You have to kill them to stop them. They have pride of class, ancestry, and all that. The other two are game, all right, but they are gamest when they are winning. I notice that difference between the two classes."

1894 FOOTBALL VETERANS GO TO VISIT PRESIDENT

Four members of the 1894 Stanford university football team, for whom Herbert Hoover served as treasurer, passed through Chicago yesterday. Joined by State Senator H. S. Hicks of Rockford, who managed the team, the men went on to Washington for a White House reunion.

The men were P. M. Downing, captain of the '94 team, vice president of a gas company in San Francisco; Dr. Hules Frankenheimer, half back, of San Francisco; W. C. Hazard of Buhl, Idaho, a center, and William A. Harrelson, quarter back of the team, and now a San Francisco banker.

Maroon Freshman, Chess Champion, Defeats 17

Samuel Reshevsky, 19 year old national chess champion, and now a freshman at the University of Chicago, yesterday defeated 17 of his fellow students in simultaneous play in an exhibition at the Reynolds club on the university campus. It took Reshevsky just two hours to checkmate 16 opponents, all members of the University Chess club, across the board, and to win one match by remote control. In the latter match Reshevsky was informed of his opponent's moves and called his plays from a distance during the face-to-face matches.

Shamrocks Battle for Regular Jobs

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—With the American Hockey league opening at Buffalo only five days away, the Shamrocks' training camp still is the site of a desperate fight for positions.

Bert Clayton and Ade Johnson are battling it out for the center job on the line with Brydson and Burns, and three rivals are contesting for the place beside Ralph Taylor on the second defense line. Taylor has rounded into form and only one spot remains open to Carbol, Burland, and Osler, the rookie from Cornwall. Osler's body checking has won him an extended trial from Manager Babe Dye.

Curley Headley and Walter Buswell, the young French-Canadian from Montreal, are certain of places in the first line defense.

Right now Manager Dye considers McFayden and O'Neill, wings, and MacKenzie, center, as his first forward line. The Prelesnik-Riley-Wiseman combination also is working in great form.

Of the 21 men who reported to Manager Dye two weeks ago, only one has been released—Lamontagne, goalkeeper. To replace him the Shamrocks signed Porky Levine, an American leaguer last year.

MORIARTY LEADS IN SECTIONAL CUE TOURNEY

Joseph Moriarty of Chicago holds the lead at the end of the first day of play in the northern sectional three cushion billiard tournament at Kiekhefer's Recreation. He defeated Len Kenney, also of Chicago, 50 to 39, in 69 innings yesterday, and is the only unbeaten player in the field of four. The winner will qualify to compete in the world's championship meet next January or February.

In the opening game Charles McCourt of Cleveland defeated Jack Henley of Des Moines, Ia., 50 to 34, in 56 innings. In the third game, played last night, Kenney beat McCourt, 50 to 40, in 67 innings.

Three games will be played today. At 2:30 o'clock Moriarty will oppose McCourt, at 4:30 Henley meets Kenney, and at 7:30 o'clock Henley and Moriarty clash. Standings:

|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Joseph Moriarty | 1 | 0 | 5 | 61 | 50 |
| Charles McCourt | 1 | 1 | 5 | 56 | 90 |
| Len Kenney | 1 | 1 | 5 | 67 | 89 |
| Jack Henley | 0 | 1 | 3 | .. | 34 |

Wife Sues Leonard Sacks for Separate Maintenance

Leonard Sacks, manager of Jack Dempsey, yesterday was sued for separate maintenance by his wife, Gladys, who filed her bill in the Circuit court. In the action, drawn by Attorney Emmett Byrne, Mrs. Sacks charged that her husband deserted her on Oct. 11. They were married, she recited, on Jan. 27 last in Jersey City. Mrs. Sacks asserted that her husband's income amounts to $5,000 a week. He resides at the Medinah Athletic club.

COLUMBIA DAILY HITS FOOTBALL A 'SEMI-PRO RACKET'

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—[illegible] student daily of Columbia university today fired an editorial broadside at intercollegiate football, terming it "semi-professional racket" conducted largely for the alumni and the public."

Members of college football teams under the present arrangement, the Spectator said, are "little more than semi-professional athletes hired by assistant coaches who make annual pilgrimages to prep schools and to other schools in search of 'football material'" and the coach, a "czar" who dominates the life and activities of his team."

Football now has no place on the college campus, the editorial continued, but belongs in professional stadiums.

Spectator urged that coaches be placed on the same salaries as professors, football players be required to have a high academic standing and that the game be given back to the students.

BEWARE THOSE BADGERS, YODELS OHIO GRID COACH

Second Place Hinges on Game Saturday.

Columbus, O., Nov. 10.—[Special.] Coach Sam Willaman of Ohio State today admitted that he was worried over the outcome of the game with Wisconsin next Saturday.

"Wisconsin is a better team than we have been given credit for," the Buckeye coach said. "Don't forget we played Minnesota almost to a standstill and walloped Purdue and our game is their homecoming event. They have pointed for Ohio State and we have a tough game before us."

This was the theme song tonight when the varsity players took the field to watch the first and second reserve teams battle in a regulation game.

The "first team" personnel during the scrimmage consisted of Conrad and Yarnes at ends; Baumgarten and Van Horn at tackles; Luks and Ellis, guards; Delich at center; Keefe and Greenberg at halves; Oliphant at quarter, and Wolever at full. Joe Vilsack, Gary, Ind., half back, received two broken ribs in the scrimmage.

Saturday's game will reduce the contenders for second place in the Big Ten race. Both Ohio and Wisconsin have lost one game.

BADGERS ON DEFENSE

Madison, Wis., Nov. 10.—[Special.] Wisconsin's football practice was devoted largely to defense today with an hour's scrimmage against the second who used Ohio State plays. First, second, and third teams were used during the workout and all lined up reasonably well against Ohio's plays and passes.

It is hoped that Wisconsin's familiarity with the double wingback formation, also used by Ohio, will result in a more effective defense Saturday.

The varsity presented a patched up line today with Capt. Hal Smith, Goldstein, Strain, and Kranhold absent from the lineup. Pacetti was at center, with Schnaller at full back, and Rebholz and McGuire, halves. Several of the first stringers nursed bruises sustained at Illinois. Smith's shoulder injury is proving less serious than was feared, and he will be able to play Saturday.

HORSE BACK FIELD POWER

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Capt. Hudson at quarter back, Fay and Heston at the halves, and Hewitt at full back—that appears to be the starting crew Michigan will start Saturday against Michigan State. Coach Kipke had this quartet in the back field during most of the workout.

This alignment removes Michigan's greatest passing threat, Harry Newman, but it provides greater power for a ground offensive and more defensive skill than any back field that has been used this year. It indicates that Kipke will try to match Michigan State's power attack with the same sort of offensive.

Hudson called signals during most of the workout, but Hewitt and Ivan Williamson also tried it and the Saturday game may find any one of the three serving as barber. Newman is certain to get into the contest and State will have this added threat to worry about.

The attendance will be the largest at a Michigan-Michigan State contest, 70,000 being expected. This exceeds by 5,000 the previous record. Michigan State has disposed of nearly 8,000 tickets, twice the number in any previous year.

RUSH IN LIGHT DRILL

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Notre Dame's football players left the classroom and their examinations today long enough for a light workout preparatory to Saturday's game at Baltimore with Navy. The practice session was short and consisted of passing defense work against Navy plays and a short skirmish on offense in which several new plays were rehearsed, probably for use against Southern California here next week.

Steve Banas, injured full back, was not in uniform, but he didn't get near the varsity. He alternated with the second and third teams while his successor, George Melinkovich, operated with the first team.

Anderson apparently was satisfied with the complete and workmanlike defense his players put up against Navy formations, which are the same as Notre Dame's. He said today that Notre Dame has not yet begun to think about the Southern California game and that he's going to take every "in stride."

By resting his men this week and letting them relax, he evidently plans to have them at their physical and mental peak for the Trojans. He said today that he will probably follow his custom of the past few weeks and start the varsity. How long the first eleven stay in will depend on how well they click.

FOR A SLICE OF SECOND PLACE

Culver Eleven Is Anything but Weak in Line

Although St. John's Military academy has the edge in poundage, a glance at the Culver line shows that the Maroons are by no means weak in that department for the charity football game between the rival academies at Soldiers' field, Saturday afternoon.

Bill Curry and Joe Brown of the Maroons are a pair of all round ends, strong tacklers, and good pass receivers. They probably form a better combination than any St. John's will be able to place on the field.

In Bill Hallett, weighing 230 pounds, Culver has a lineman who is rated superior to Park Wray, St. John's star. His running mate is the heavily built Jim Hack, a star at Loyola academy before entering Culver. Hack had to beat out two experienced men in Lewis Buckingham, 208 pounds, and Tom Uffelman, 197, to win his position.

The guard berths will be held down by Burton Smith and Dick Cooper, both dependable players. Capt. Jack Siegfried will be at center. Coach Peck says that Siegfried is one of the most promising pivot men he ever has coached.

Behind this line is a back field which lacks weight, but makes up for it with unusual speed. Culver, however, badly needs at least one battering ram type of back who can pick up two or three yards when necessary for a first down.

The parade through the loop to Soldiers' field will start from the Chicago and North Western station at 12:15 p. m. At 1:15 the review of the cadet battalions will be held and at 2 o'clock the game will begin. Between halves another drilling exhibition will be given. Two squadrons of planes from St. John's flying school will fly back and forth overhead and will drop hundreds of tiny parachutes carrying national and school colors. Culver's black horse troop, one of the finest bodies of horsemen in the country, will be one of the features of the pageant.

Seaton Pippin Wins 187th Blue Ribbon at Show

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Keeping intact one of the greatest records in the history of tanbark competition, Seaton Pippin, owned by Paul Moore of Morristown, N. J., swept through a field of heavy harness horses at the national horse show today to win her 187th blue ribbon in five years.

Starting five years ago as a 6 year old, Seaton Pippin has paraded through practically every important horse show in the country without defeat. Including in the collection of blue ribbons are 51 awards representing grand championships. Seaton Pippin's second consecutive victory in the Garvan Challenge cup today was the fourth time the aged mare had shown and won during the current show.

The Canadian army, which has been watching the United States army, France, Great Britain, and the Irish Free State carry away the majority of the jumping honors, got back into the running when four horses, owned by Lieut. W. M. Cleland, won as many ribbons in two events.

DePaulGuards Star in Two Hour Drill

Coach Eddie Anderson declared the Dakotans will present the toughest defense that De Paul has faced this season. The Aggies use a variation of the Notre Dame system, being strong in both running and passing departments. They have eight ball carriers of proven ability.

Capt. Everett McClane and Emmet Cowhey, guards, led the defensive workout. Another prominent performer was Art McGivern, full back.

All the Blue Demons were in action with the exception of Hal Cherne, tackle, who is suffering from badly bruised legs. Mat Steffen, offensive star of the squad, is back in shape, but is being used only sparingly in practice so his recovery may be complete for the Dakotans.

DE PAUL LOSES CATHOLIC PREP TITLE CHANCE

Officials of the Catholic league in a meeting last night at the Auditorium hotel announced that De Paul academy, which had used James Harrison, an ineligible player, when it triumphed over Weber, St. Philip and St. Michael, forfeits all three victories. The decision now leaves two teams, St. Philip and St. Mel, tied for the sectional lead.

St. Philip and St. Mel, each with ten points, will meet for the north section championship Sunday afternoon at Mills stadium. The winner of the sectional title will face Mount Carmel, south division champion, for the league crown on Nov. 22.

League Rivals Meet Nov. 28.

Brother Sylvester, president of the Catholic league, who failed to agree early yesterday with A. H. Pritzlaff, secretary of the City league, and J. Russell Forgan of the joint emergency relief fund to have the league champions meet the Chicago Public High School league titleholder in a charity game on Soldiers' field on Nov. 28, last night said the league rivals would probably play on that date.

De Paul, until last night's decision, was tied with St. Philip and St. Mel for the north section lead, and in the meeting at the relief fund headquarters yesterday afternoon Brother Sylvester said the winner of the title would not be determined until Nov. 29. But with De Paul now out of the race, the charity game is expected to be set for Nov. 28.

City Semi-finals Saturday.

Pritzlaff told the relief fund committee that the City league title winner would be ready for the game on Nov. 28. The semi-finals will be played on Saturday afternoon, Parker meeting Harrison and Schurz facing Tilden. The final City league contest is scheduled for Nov. 21.

Harrison, a guard on the De Paul squad, was a student at St. Mel before matriculating at De Paul. It was said he failed to mention that he had been at St. Mel for one semester when he entered De Paul. Officials at De Paul conducted an investigation when a north section team protested its triumphs over Weber, St. Philip, and St. Michael.

Two post season games are scheduled for City league teams this afternoon. Bowen and Calumet will meet at White City, while Austin opposes Lane at Mills stadium.

St. Rita, which will conclude its south section schedule at Joliet Sunday afternoon, will play Mooseheart Thanksgiving day at St. Rita field.

Harrison Tech is the 1931 soccer champion of the City league. It defeated Lake View, 2 to 0, in the final game at Winnemac park yesterday.

Cards Revive 10 Year Old Feud with Packers Sunday

The sixteenth meeting of the Chicago Cardinals and Green Bay Packers Sunday at Wrigley field will renew a rivalry in the National Professional Football league that has existed since 1921. The Packers need a victory to keep their record unblemished, while the Cardinals would rather trounce the Green Bay team than any other league eleven, except their Chicago rivals, the Bears. If the Cardinals can achieve an upset, they will become a contender in the league race.

The Packers will bring to Chicago one of the most versatile and diversified attacks of pro history. They have eight backs, and every one is a threat. Russ Saunders, Bo Molenda and Hurdis McCrary are three full backs who slash opposing lines to ribbons. Wert Engelmann and Hank Bruder can drive off tackle with the best backs of the country. Verne Lewellen is a fine punter, and the passing combination of Dunn to Blood is one of the most feared in pro circles.

Star Punters in Duel.

Several private controversies will be settled Sunday. Ernie Nevers, Card punter, and Verne Lewellen of Green Bay have met several times and honors in punting have been about even. This feud will be resumed Sunday and some long distance kicking should result.

Walt Holmer, Cardinal passer, and the Packer star, Dunn, have a few arguments to settle concerning their relative merits as passers. Both Dunn and Holmer pass with remarkable accuracy. If Holmer fails to start, Capt. Nevers will vie for tossing laurels with Dunn. Much of the yardage gained by the Cards this season has resulted from Nevers' passes to Rogge, Kassell, Creighton, and Flannigan, the ends.

At Grand Rapids Tonight.

The Cardinals play the Grand Rapids Maroons, an undefeated semipro club, at Grand Rapids tonight.

Coach Nevers probably will use the first string lineup at the start. The showing of Les Malloy, Chicago lad, in the Cleveland game may earn him the right to start against the Maroons. Hill, the regular quarter back, is rounding into shape, but the Card coach may be forced to save him for the Green Bay game. The probable lineup:

| CARDINALS. | | GRAND RAPIDS. |
|---|---|---|
| Rogge | L. E. | Milan |
| Tinsley | L. T. | Hultman |
| Kiesling | L. G. | Unsell |
| Erickson | C. | Griffin |
| Diehl | R. G. | Jacnig |
| Slater | R. T. | Zerundla |
| Kassell | R. E. | Woden |
| Malloy | Q. B. | Soclens |
| Rose | R. H. | Keister |
| Glasgow | L. H. | Weitzel |

THORNTON TRACK FILES AN APPEAL AGAINST SWANSON

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Describing the horse race act of 1927 as a "rank piece of privilege legislation which ought to stir the conscience of the court," the brief and argument for the Thornton Coursing club in its litigation against State's Attorney John A. Swanson and Sheriff William D. Meyering of Cook county was filed with the clerk of the Supreme court today.

The Thornton club is appealing from a lower court decision dissolving the injunction by which authorities were restrained from interfering with parimutuel betting at dog races, although it is legal for horse racing.

ORDER PROBE OF ROSENBLOOM AND BRADDOCK BOUT

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 10.—(AP)—A scheduled ten round bout between Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion, and Jimmy Braddock, New York, was stopped in the second round tonight and declared no contest.

Referee George Barton ordered them out of the ring after several warnings. Members of the state boxing commission supported Barton's action, suspended both fighters, and ordered an investigation of the bout and set a hearing for tomorrow afternoon.

I. W. A. C. SEEKS NEW SWIMMERS FOR TANK TEAM

Olympics' Coming Spurs Rebuilding Program.

BY BETTY ECKERSALL.

The search for Olympic prospects is on. With the approach of the 1932 games, clubs and associations are seeking to fill vacancies caused by marriage, school, and professional responsibilities. Among the organizations scurrying about for new talent is the Illinois Women's Athletic club, which has arranged an indoor swimming program designed to rehabilitate its aquatic team.

Mrs. Richard S. Folsom, chairman of the committee in charge of competitive sports, is convinced there are many girls in Chicagoland, who, with proper coaching, could be developed into skilled swimmers and divers. Thus the Olympic development program was devised. This program will enable girls to try for team positions throughout the winter months. Lillian Reilly, swimming coach, will conduct trials Friday evening, Nov. 20.

College Limits Practice.

The I. W. A. C. swimming team, the best in the city, has been diminishing gradually. Jane Fauntz lost the national low board diving championship to Georgia Coleman last year, being unable to defend her title because of scholastic obligations. Mary Lou Quinn, a sprinter, is also attending college, which makes practice hours and competitive meets difficult to attend. Both girls still are on the team, but their activity will be limited.

Dagny Van Maarth, free stylist and member of the relay team, turned professional and is coaching at the I. W. A. C. Isabelle Smith, one of the fastest free style swimmers on the team, also turned professional, taking a position as instructor at the Black Hawk natatorium.

Meet Is for Novices.

The Nov. 20 novice swimming meet will be open to all girls who have never won a first, second or third place in competition between swimmers of two or more clubs. All contestants must be registered with the Central Amateur Athletic union.

Contestants will be divided into two classes, of 12 years of age and under and 13 years and over. In the junior division, the swimmer will compete in the 40 yard free style, 40 yard breast stroke, 40 yard back stroke, and low board diving. The older group will compete in the same events, with the addition of a 60 yard medley swim.

Kansas City Hockey Club Suspends Byrne

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Pat Byrne, Kansas City goalie, was suspended indefinitely today by William F. Grant, owner of the Kansas City club and president of the American Hockey league, for refusal to report for practice. Grant said Byrne had ignored an order to report for practice here Oct. 28 and that he was allowed additional time but failed to appear.

STEEL BACKLOG NOW STANDS AT 3,119,432 TONS

Report Small Drop in October.

BY O. A. MATHER.

While anything is on balance only mild impetus is required to turn it one way or another. For example, some of the steel industry in the last year has been mildly cheerful, with some expansion both in production and demand. But the monthly report of the United States Steel corporation, issued yesterday and covering October, was rather negative. Therefore, it would appear that the upturn in steel has changed this month and as last month's record must be considered in that light.

U. S. Steel reported a decline of 83,000 tons in unfilled orders last month, bringing total forward business down to 3,119,432 tons on Oct. 31. This represents the smallest backlog in the corporation's books since Dec. 31, 1927. In October, last year, unfilled orders increased 58,375 tons and the total at the end of the month was 3,561,763 tons.

Industry Adjusts Operations.

Operations of the steel industry as a whole receded to slightly under 28 per cent of capacity last month, which was the lowest level since depression set in. This rate of operations, coupled with the relatively small decline in the U. S. Steel corporation's unfilled orders, indicates that the steel industry has attuned its operations rather closely to meager incoming business. Therefore there has been no material inroad into the relatively small backlog of unfilled orders.

Furthermore, the situation of the steel industry is different and more encouraging than it was a year ago. Although operations are considerably below a year ago, they have risen to 28 per cent of capacity in the last week and it is expected they will improve further during the remainder of the year. If this prediction is correct, October marked the low point. On the other hand, steel output declined during the last quarter of 1930 and reached its low point in December.

Some Bright Spots.

The American Machinist says: "One or two bright spots appear in the machinery and machine tool markets. Detroit developed cheerful news, one outstanding factor being a Studebaker order for a $250,000 cylinder block machine line. Metal working machinery exports for the first nine months of this year set a new high record and exceeded last year's total for the same period by a million dollars."

The movement of commodities by the railroads receded during the final week of October. This is a seasonal trend, although the current decline was somewhat larger than had been anticipated. Loading of revenue freight for the week ended Oct. 31 totaled 740,863 cars, a decline of 29,310 from the preceding week and also a decrease of 104,135 from the same week in 1930. The largest declines, compared with a year ago, were in miscellaneous freight, merchandise, and forest products and ore.

Petroleum production continued upward last week. The daily average gross crude oil output totaled 2,456,-[illegible] barrels, an increase of 25,550 barrels a day over the previous week, according to American Petroleum Institute. Refineries operated at 82.6 per cent of capacity, compared with 83.7 per cent in the preceding week. Gasoline stocks increased 626,000 barrels to a total of 82,071,000 barrels.

INSULL CONCERNS SLICE 11 MILLION RIGHTS MELON

Stock purchase rights, worth approximately $11,000,000, were announced last night by the Commonwealth Edison company and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. Subject to authorization by the Illinois commerce commission, stockholders of the Commonwealth Edison company of record Dec. 15 may purchase one additional share at $100 for each 10 shares held. At yesterday's closing price of 150¾ the value of the rights on each present share would be worth about $4.58 and the total value on all stock now outstanding would be around $7,190,000.

All classes of stockholders of the Public Service company of record Dec. 15 will be permitted to buy additional shares of no par common stock at $100 a share to the extent of 12½ per cent of their holdings. With the present market price of the common shares around 155 the rights on each share would be worth about $4.89 and the total value of the rights on all stock outstanding would be about $3,810,000.

Tidewater Reports Sharp Upturn in Its Earnings

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Tidewater Associated Oil company and subsidiaries today reported a sharp increase in September quarter earnings over the preceding quarter. Net profit for the quarter ended Sept. 30 was $1,253,-[illegible] before preferred dividends. This compares with a net loss of $385,889 before preferred dividends for the preceding quarter. Net for the first nine months this year, however, remained behind a year ago, amounting to $175,-[illegible] before preferred dividends, against $1,881,522 in the corresponding period of 1930.

Allen Strawn to Address Commerce Body Today

Allen H. Strawn will speak before members of the Chicago Association of Commerce at noon today in the La Salle hotel on "Since the Armistice." Mr. Strawn is president of the chamber of commerce of the United States. He is expected to analyze present business conditions in this country and abroad in today's speech.

Banking Pool to Issue Call for Pledges

BY SCRUTATOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Nov. 10.—The National Credit corporation has received subscriptions totaling four hundred million dollars and expects next Monday to issue a call for 10 per cent of the amount already pledged.

John M. Miller Jr., director of the corporation for the fifth federal reserve district, made this announcement here today after an address before the Investment Bankers association convention.

He anticipated that additional subscriptions would amount to between two and three hundred millions.

"There will probably be as many as 100 groups or associations in the United States," Mr. Miller said.

"It is hoped and believed that congress will make the corporation's notes eligible as security for postal savings. An amendment to the present United States statutes will probably be necessary. It is reasonable to expect that several states, counties, and municipalities will accept them as security for public funds."

Warns Against U. S. Control.

Today's meeting of the Investment Bankers association was marked by warnings against radical legislation and too stringent government regulation of private business.

"Two sinister tendencies emerge," stated a report on public utilities adopted by the convention. "One is to substitute state or executive management, under the guise of regulation for private management. The other is to put the government into business with all its powers of destructive competition."

Muscle Shoals, Boulder Dam, and the St. Lawrence river projects were referred to as different expressions of the same purpose, namely, "by any means, by any device, to put government into business."

"We deplore this move," the report states. "We urge its resistance by direct, above board, frank education of the public by those who believe otherwise." These recommendations were proposed by Francis E. Frothingham of Boston, chairman of the public service securities committee.

Electric Light Companies.

"In the case of the railroads," Mr. Frothingham said, "about 85 per cent of their business is done between states. In the case of the electric light and power companies 85 per cent of the business is done within individual states.

"Therefore if the state regulatory authorities can be given adequate authority and means to regulate effectively, there is no reason why the federal jurisdiction need be invoked, with its remoteness, with its bureaucracy, with its dead, blighting hand on the industry."

The municipal securities group, headed by Henry Hart of the First Detroit company, chairman, viewed with concern "programs adopted by some states calling for extensive road building under the expediency of giving employment and issuing bonds payable primarily from gasoline taxes and license fees." It was argued that these programs be scrutinized carefully to see that they are not based on a steady increase in such revenues beyond what should be reasonably expected.

Would Clarify Figures.

A further suggestion was that new sources of taxation be used for the payment of existing local debt rather than for new improvements.

The association has adopted, subject to the approval of its president, a plan to break down figures on brokers' loans so that they may reflect stock brokerage transactions, investment bankers' portfolios, and subscriptions to new stock. Present compilations lump these items. A more accurate index of the condition of the market is sought.

NEW SWITCHING RATE SCHEDULE IS SUSPENDED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—The interstate commerce commission today suspended from Nov. 10 until Dec. 10 the increased switching rates recently prescribed for switching movements in the Chicago district.

The commission recently refused to reopen the switching case for further hearings on the application of Chicago shippers, except as to intrastate rates. Thereafter the shippers' representatives informed the commission that there was a possibility of a compromise agreement being reached with the railroads as to modification of the increased rates.

To permit negotiations to go forward between the shippers and the railroads the commission suspended the rates, which otherwise would have become effective today.

Lord Ashfield to Head Canadian Rail Commission

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 10.—Lord Ashfield, chairman of the London, England, Underground Electric railways and head of the General Omnibus company, will be chairman of the commission which is to probe railway conditions in Canada. Four million running miles per year have been eliminated lately from the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways' operation for economy. Carl Gray of the Union Pacific and Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio are two Americans likely to be included in the commission personnel.

Expects Auto Production Involving 120 Million Loan

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The Free Press said today the automobile industry will produce approximately $120,000,000 worth of new cars in the next sixty days and that thereafter production will proceed at an even faster pace. Operations during the next eight months, the paper says, will be at levels ranging upward from 25 per cent above those of the past two months.

CHICAGO STOCKS SLIP AS OTHER MARKETS REACT

Chicago Inv. Passes Pfd. Dividend.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The reaction in wheat and other commodities and in the bond market was reflected in stock prices yesterday with shares on the Chicago exchange selling off on a moderate volume of liquidation. Net losses were nominal and distributed among all classes of securities.

The motor shares which have been most consistent gainers in the last few sessions sustained only slight losses and in only a few instances did losses in other groups exceed a point.

The action of Chicago Investors corporation preferred indicated that that the market had discounted the passing of the quarterly dividend of 75 cents. At the end of the day the stock was bringing a slightly better price than the previous quotation. The preferred stock is cumulative to the extent of $3 a year.

Bard Explains Action.

Ralph A. Bard, president of the investment company, said that because the decline in the market value of the securities held had impaired the stated value of the capital stock the directors decided to take no dividend action at the present time. He added that the company has substantial cash assets and no bank loans. The asset value of the preferred stock as of Nov. 9 was approximately $39 a share, he stated. The company has continued to purchase its preferred stock in the open market and contemplates no change of policy in this matter, he explained.

John R. Thompson stock crawled up another fraction in face of the declining trend. Charles A. McCulloch, chairman of the company, said yesterday that at the present rate of business the company will show net profit for the year of at least $900,000 or $3 a share on the outstanding common stock. Last year the company earned $1,126,585 or $3.75 a share. Mr. McCulloch stated that the company has added 400,000 new customer since last July.

Studebaker Issues Report.

Clement Studebaker, Jr., president of North American Light and Power company, yesterday released the firm's earnings report for the year ended Sept. 30. The balance of earnings available for common stock dividends and surplus for the period was $3,867,-626 equivalent to $2.40 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year. This compares with $4,243,130 or $2.85 a share on the smaller capitalization in the preceding twelve months. The company's stock did not appear on the tape yesterday.

AM. STEEL FOUNDRIES CORPORATION OMITS QUARTERLY DIVIDEND

Directors of the American Steel Foundries corporation decided today, "in view of the present business conditions and the outlook for the immediate future," to omit the dividend due at this time on the common stock. At the same time it was reported that the company had sustained a consolidated net loss of $155,707 for the first nine months of 1931, compared with net income of $2,720,369 for the same period of 1930.

For the September quarter consolidated net loss amounted to $295,786 against net income of $73,684 in the previous quarter and net income of $580,881 for the corresponding period last year.

George E. Scott, president, said that the company is in a strong cash position and its current assets are more than ten times its current liabilities. In June of this year the board voted to reduce the common dividend from 75 cents to 25 cents. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share was declared today on the preferred stock.

A quarterly dividend of 15 cents a share was declared on the stock of Iron Fireman Manufacturing company, placing it on a 60 cent annual basis, against $1.80 a year heretofore.

SEE SLIM CHANCE OF SO. AMERICA ADOPTING SILVER

Mexico Remains on a Gold Standard.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 10.—There is little likelihood that the nations of South America will adopt silver as a monetary standard, however high its price may soar, in the opinion of leading New York bankers.

At present, the only outright silver standard in the western hemisphere is that of the little Central American republic of Honduras. And as everybody knows, United States currency is vastly more popular down there than is the republic's own money. Mexico coins the white metal on a large scale, something like 75 per cent of all monetary transactions of the country being conducted on the basis of the silver peso, but the republic is still officially on a gold standard basis, as are all other countries of Central and South America, except Honduras.

Any serious movement looking to the establishment of silver as a monetary standard, or even of bimetallism, in our neighbors to the south would necessarily have to originate in the countries themselves—not here in this country where something like three-fourths of the world's silver production is owned or controlled, the bankers point out.

Hear No Silver Talk.

Certainly any thought there may be of any such monetary "reform" has not been dignified so far as the records show with proposals in the halls of any of the lawmaking bodies of the countries affected. In fact, such bankers as could be reached in a canvass on the question today agreed in saying that they had not heard any "serious" talk of silver as a monetary standard in the west since the echoes of William Jennings Bryan's campaign declamations on the merits of the free and unlimited coinage of the metal at a ratio of 16 to 1 died away back in 1896 or thereabouts.

Nor is there any thought here that the bimetallism talk will gain any real headway in the capitals of Europe, however far the suspension of gold standards inaugurated by Great Britain may carry. Also, the bankers here do not see how the fluctuating prices of the white metal is going to affect seriously the purchasing power of India and China where coined silver is still the monetary medium of exchange. They point out that the price of silver has been fluctuating sharply at intervals for more than a quarter of a century without seriously disturbing the monetary structures of either of these countries.

Low Price in 1902.

The low price for the metal before the world war was in 1902, when it went to 47.38 cents a fine ounce here in New York. The war created an additional demand to settle trade balances with the east, however, and the price ran up as high as $1.30 in 1920. From that peak the price worked down below 28 cents this year before the "boom" got under way a few weeks ago.

Recently there has been much talk of "stabilization" of the price by concerted government action—emanating, the bankers here say, from pretty much the same sources as propaganda for bimetallism. The disposition is to link the two "movements"—and dismiss them, at least for the present.

Winchester Arms Sale to Take Place December 15

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 10.—The properties of the Winchester Repeating Arms company will be sold at New Haven Dec. 15, under the terms of a foreclosure decree signed today by Judge Carroll C. Hincks in the United States District court. The reorganization committee is expected to bid in the properties at $4,000,000. A plan providing for the sale of the assets to the Western Cartridge company has been formulated by the committee.

Farelly Lake Levee District.

I have a $1,000 bond of the Farelly Lake Levee district, Ark. Kindly advise me of the status of it.—E. M. B.

From reports of the bondholders' protective committee, dated Aug. 27, 1930, and Sept. 23, 1931, we have the following information:

Farelly Lake Levee district contains about 108,000 acres, of which approximately 60 per cent can be cultivated. Crops consist of cotton, corn, oats, alfalfa, rice, wheat, and hay. Population is approximately 15,000.

There are outstanding $1,636,000 of bonds. Past due bonds and coupons were about $250,000 as of Aug. 27, 1930.

The district is affected by the backwaters of the Mississippi river and comes under the supervision of the Mississippi river commission. In 1931 the war department made necessary levee repairs which cost about $120,-000, and the receivers report that the land owners are now receiving 100 per cent protection from the floodwaters of the Arkansas river.

In addition to the 108,000 acres originally contained in the district, there are 22,000 acres which were not included in the original formation, but which receive the benefits of flood protection. The bondholders' protective committee is attempting to have this property subject to taxation of the district.

The committee believes that agricultural conditions are such that it is impossible for the receivers to dispose of much land at the present time.

The receivers report that they have a large delinquent list and that the land owners are not redeeming their property. The sheriff of Jefferson county reported that 1930 levee taxes payable in 1931 totaled $25,000, of which $5,864 was paid to receivers. The sheriff of Arkansas county reported that 1930 levee taxes payable in 1931 totaled $25,000, of which $10,-798 was paid to the receivers. The receivers have on hand about $30,000 available for distribution to the bondholders, but no definite plan has yet been decided on by which this should be paid. The taxes payable in 1930 were considerably less than those collected in 1928 and 1929.

An increase in the price of crops should reduce the amount of delinquent land and increase the amount of taxes collected, which would materially better the bondholders' position, especially in view of the fact that complete flood control is now afforded. There are, however, legal questions which are still unsettled.

Bears Buffet Bulls About in Wheat Pit

Chicago security and commodity markets and the banks will be closed today, Armistice day. The New York markets will be open as usual, with trading suspended for two minutes at 11 o'clock.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Bullish sentiment, which has been running rampant in the grain markets for somewhat over a month, received a severe setback yesterday when the long anticipated natural reaction got under way and, with general selling by longs, wheat declined 4⅛@5¼c; corn, 3⅝@4¼c; oats, 2@2¼c, and rye, 5⅛@6¼c over the high of the previous day. A heavily overbought condition was disclosed on the way down, with stop loss orders uncovered.

Selling of wheat futures during the day was as persistent as was the buying recently, with houses with eastern connections aggressive on the former side, while the buying was on scale and resting orders and by holders of bids. Toward the last there was a rally of over 1c from the inside price on reports of frost in Argentina. The upturn was not maintained, due to another wave of liquidation by traders who were evening up for the Armistice day holiday and the close was within a fraction of the bottom.

Net losses were 2⅞@3c, with December wheat finishing at 63⅜@63½c; March, 67c; May, 68⅛@63¾c, and July, 63⅝@63¾c. May at the inside was 68c, or 5c below the best figure of Monday, and the largest decline that had been sustained since the current advance started on Oct. 5.

There was a marked change in the character of the news regarding the new Argentine wheat crop during the day, but the average trader paid as little attention to it as he had the bearish developments when the price was advancing.

According to reports received by the U. S. weather bureau light frosts were experienced Sunday night and Monday morning in southwestern Buenos Aires and the pampas, with temperatures of 32 degrees in the northwest pampas and southwestern Cordoba; with 30 in northeastern and central Buenos Aires, and 25 in the northwestern pampas. The wheat acreage map posted with the weather data indicated the frost or low temperatures appeared to have occurred in some of the heaviest producing areas in Argentina.

Cold Weather in Wheat Area.

Whether the new wheat crop has been damaged or not could not be determined, although cables indicated that there had been more or less. Bartlett Frazier company had cables quoting the official minimum temperatures in the pampas at 23 degrees; Buenos Aires, 29; Santa Fé, 28, and in Cordoba 30 degrees.

Frost in past years has caused considerable damage to the Argentine wheat crop. The late James A. Pat-

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 10.—Exuberance over the latest uplift movement on the New York stock exchange began to flatten out today. It looked as though the advance had carried about to the limit of its endurance without important outside help.

The sudden drop in wheat, the setback in cotton, and the disappointing flop in the silver metal boom helped to cool off enthusiasm. The far east war cloud did not look so potential as it did yesterday. Finally, the reports on industrial activity were not so inspiring as they might have been, the steel corporation's report on unfilled orders showing a drop of 25,401 tons, and advance figures on the car loadings report indicating a seasonal decline of about 29,000 cars.

"Technical Readjustment."

More than all of these influences, however, the market's turnabout was probably due to a general feeling that a "technical readjustment"—to use the high sounding phrase of the street—was in order before the list can make much further progress, even with the high class sponsorship it is reported to have been receiving here of late. As the averages showed yesterday the recovery had made up something like 40 per cent of the ground lost in the long downward sweep between late June and early October, and the trading community is pretty well agreed that the "comeback" has been developing too rapidly for comfort to its friends.

This view of the situation was emphasized by the fairly heavy selling which dragged down certain of the popular stocks which have been in the van of the forward movement. Most of the pivotals were under pressure throughout the session and the losses among them ranged anywhere from 1 to 3 points. Brokerage houses which usually act for interests close to the company were reported on the selling side of General Motors and one or two other blue chip issues of the list.

Chemical Under Pressure.

Allied Chemical was under no little pressure and the gossip was that some of its weakness was to be at-

NATIONAL REAL ESTATE BOARD WIRES HOOVER

Urges Federal Mortgage Institution.

BY AL CHASE.

President Harry S. Kissell of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, last night made public the telegram sent to President Hoover containing the resolution recently passed by the board of directors of the realty body in Chicago approving the creation of a federal mortgage bank for the rediscount of urban residential mortgages. The directors represented 567 realty boards in thirty-four states with more than 16,000 active realtors. By adopting this resolution the directors reaffirmed the position taken at the annual convention in Baltimore last May relative to long time or mortgage credits.

The telegram which urges the president to include in his message to the forthcoming congress a recommendation for the establishment of such a bank and pledges the support of the national realty body to the measure reads in part as follows:

"The board of directors of the National Association of Real Estate Boards feels that emergency measures are demanded to correct, first, the evils resulting from the unprecedented number of foreclosures on homes which recently have occurred, especially on those in the medium and lower priced groups, and, second, to correct the frozen condition of many of the savings institutions of this country, which condition is not only working untold hardship upon the people of many sections of the country, but also is retarding the stabilization of our financial structure and therefore the return of normal business conditions.

Praise President Kissell.

"Our officers and committees being thoroughly conversant with the problems involved and also recognizing that nothing but the soundest economic and financial remedies should be made use of, have given most serious study to the subject and feel that the financial structure of this country should include a federal mortgage bank to serve the needs of the institutions dealing in long time paper much as the Federal Reserve bank assists the institutions dealing in short time paper."

The board of directors also adopted a resolution of praise for President Kissell in part as follows: "We commend the energetic action of the president of the association in presenting suggestions for the solution of this problem so important to the financial structure and the interests of the home owner. We hereby pledge our support and active cooperation."

Urge Aid for Home Buyer.

Two other resolutions were passed by the board. In one manufacturers and employers of labor were urged to protect, so far as possible, the home buying employe by retaining him in his position, or by such other means as may be available.

In the other the fire and casualty companies are urged to change present investment policies and establish definitely a practice of placing a substantial portion of their funds in real estate mortgages.

President Kissell went to St. Louis yesterday morning and spoke last night before the St. Louis Real Estate exchange. He then is going to Chattanooga, Tenn., to address the state convention of realtors. He has not been summoned to Washington by President Hoover to attend a meeting of the conference on home building and ownership, as was reported yesterday.

Members of the Cook County Real Estate board yesterday elected the following nominating committee, headed by William H. Lohde; N. E. Christenson, William C. Bender, John T. Kelly, Gerrit Pon, T. P. Quinn, Paul Schwarzlose, and George J. Blankenhein. This group will meet with the directors' committee of seven to select candidates for office for the year 1932. The ticket must be posted within ten days from yesterday.

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., today reported for the fiscal year ended Aug. 29 total net loss for the company and subsidiaries amounting to $7,918,604 after allowing all charges. For the previous fiscal year the company reported net income of $7,074,621.

H. M. Warner, president, in his report to stockholders, said that net loss from operations in the production, distribution and exhibition of pictures was $1,146,694. The operations of the music record and music divisions showed a loss of $2,389,161, in addition to which a special write down of $3,293,393 was made in respect to inventories and accounts receivable of the radio and record division.

Mr. Warner said neither the company nor its subsidiaries have any bank loans, and added that as of Oct. 1 her cash balances totaled more than $5,000,000, representing an increase of more than $1,200,000 as compared with Aug. 29, 1931.

NEW $5,000,000 BANK ORGANIZED IN TOLEDO, OHIO

Toledo, O., Nov. 10.—Agreement to form a new $5,000,000 bank out of the wreckage of five closed ones was signed here today. The institution will be the Guaranty Trust company and will open for business Dec. 15, replacing those institutions that suspended business this summer. At the same time it was announced definitely that the fourth closed bank here, the Commercial Guardian Trust and Savings bank, also would reopen Dec. 15.

Its reorganization plans calls for an immediate cash payment of approximately 25 per cent to the 110,000 persons who have more than one billion dollars tied up in the closed banks.

BULLS RECEIVE SEVERE SETBACK IN WHEAT MARKET

Price Drops About 4½c on Heavy Selling.

tem in his book, "In the Wheat Pit." In commenting on frost in that country said:

"Conflicting reports about the severity of the frost continued to come by cable, and I finally said to my associates, 'The only way to settle the question is to find out what the temperature was on the night of the frost.' We cabled, and the reply came back: 'Rosario, 28 degrees; Buenos Aires, 26 degrees.' That was all it was necessary to know. No wheat can escape damage in such a temperature. I said then that I was going to buy wheat, and I proceeded to do so."

The forecast indicated rising temperatures, with generally fair weather in all provinces in Argentina. Buenos Aires December wheat closed unchanged for the day at 51¼c, ignoring the late break in American markets and in Winnipeg. The latter was 2¼@2¾c lower with December at 67¼c in Canadian currency.

Liverpool wheat futures advanced equal to 1¾c per bu for the day, with December quoted at 67⅜c, figuring sterling at $3.82. Export sales of 800,000 bu, largely Manitobas, were reported during the day. Scattered showers fell in parts of the southwest but they were regarded as too light to be of material benefit.

Local Longs Sell Corn.

Local longs were sellers of corn and the professional element was also fairly aggressive on that side at times, but the main weakness came from sympathy with wheat. Closing trades were at net losses of 2@2¾c, with December finishing at 44⅝@44¼c; March, 47¾c; May, 49⅝@50c, and July, 51⅝@51⅜c.

Country offerings of corn continued light with purchases of 45,000 bu reported, while the eastern demand was better and sales aggregated 101,000 bu. The break in futures was not fully reflected in the cash market, with the basis of new ⅛@1c higher as compared with the December.

Rye Leads Decline.

Rye, which has developed a great deal of activity and strength in the last few days as the result of commission houses proved just as volatile when it started to decline in sympathy with wheat and showed more weakness than other grains, closing 3⅛@4¼c lower, with December at 52c; May, 57⅛@58c, and July, 57¼c.

New high figures for the season were made on May and July oats at the opening yesterday, but the market weakened later with corn and closed 1@1¼c lower, with December finishing at 26¾c; May, 29⅝@29¾c, and July, 29⅜@29¾c.

U. S. CORN REPORT

A corn crop of 2,647,000,000 bu, or 29,000,000 bu less than a month ago, was suggested by the government November report issued late yesterday. It showed 23,000,000 bu above the average of the recent private returns, placing the average yield per acre at 25.3 bu, against 20.6 bu last year and a 10 year average of 28 bu. Quality was given as 85, against 78.6 in 1930 and a 10 year average of 79.6.

Farm reserves of 93,000,000 bu were larger than anticipated in view of the near crop failure of 1930, and compared with 72,000,000 bu last year. Aggregate supplies of corn for the 1931-'32 season, based on the crop, carryover and the visible supply is 2,774,000,000 bu, comparing with the subnormal amount of 2,170,000,000 bu the previous year and a 5 year average of 2,872,000,000 bu. No new estimates were made on other grain crops. Details follow, last six ciphers omitted:

|---|---|---|---|
| Corn | 2,674 | 2,094 | 2,761 |
| Wheat | 884 | 863 | 822 |
| Oats | 1,174 | 1,358 | 1,317 |
| Rye | 36 | 48 | 48 |
| Barley | 216 | 335 | 265 |
| Total bu | 4,984 | 4,698 | 5,211 |

COTTON MARKET EASY

Cotton markets had an easier undertone, with a range of about 25 points and a final an adverse influence on prices. Hedge selling on bulges is an important factor for the present, and the buying power was not so snappy as of late, while reports from the textile industry were generally favorable. Textile merchants of New York reported sales of standard cotton cloths during October as equaling one and a half times those of the preceding period.

The government crop report gives the crop of Texas as 5,250,000 bales, compared with 4,038,000 bales last year and 3,940,000 bales in 1929. Mississippi has 1,760,000 bales, compared with 1,464,000 bales last year and 1,918,000 bales two years ago. Prices follow:

Hog receipts yesterday at 35,000 were largest for Tuesday since early in the year, but with current quotations attractive to the consumers, all interests were eager to buy. Small local packers and city butchers who waited too long the day before and ran short of hogs, were the most aggressive. They were first on the scene yesterday and order buyers were hard pressed in some divisions to get their quota. Shippers bought 10,000 more, selling the two days' shipment to almost 27,000 head, against 20,453 last Monday and Tuesday and 16,957 a year ago when receipts were larger.

The improvement in the local wholesale market for fresh pork, consisting of an advance of 1@2c per pound since late last week, added zest to the trade, and those dealing mostly in fresh meats did not display that wary attitude in making purchases. The size of offerings blocked another rise in prices, but the low end of the bulk of sales moved up a trifle and the range of prices is as narrow as it ever gets in November. The top and average prices were unchanged at $5.15@4.95, respectively, the two prices showing a spread of only 20c. The average spread between the top and average on the corresponding day in the last eight years stands at 40c.

Futures Are Unchanged.

No change was recorded in the futures market yesterday. Light weight hogs for January delivery and medium and weighty stock for December and January carried bids of $4.50, but the lowest offer listed was in December heavy when one seller offered to take $5.00 delivery for the last half of that month. March light were offered at $6.50, medium at $6.25, and heavy at $6.00.

Developments in the cattle yards yesterday further emphasized the scarcity of choice grades of steers. While the rank and file of cattle moved over the scales slowly at barely steady prices, buyers scrambled for the top kinds at new high levels. The peak set up a new mark of $12.15, which goes back to January for a higher quotation.

Yesterday's bulk of sales ranged from $6.50 to $11.75, clearly showing the premium paid for high quality stock. Prime 1,389 lb Iowa steers sold at $12.15. Plainer kinds of equal weight sold at $9.25 and common light steers sold down to $4.50. Cows and heifers were slow and ruled steady to 25c lower yesterday. Calves slumped 25@50c. Stockers and feeders showed more action, but were weak to 25c lower.

Country Buyers Active.

Feeder lambs were plentiful again yesterday, but got more attention from country buyers and prices held firm despite the liberal supply of thin stock from the range. Prices for feeding stock are lowest in 20 years, or since June, 1911, and farmers are finding it less difficult to obtain financial backing for their lamb feeding operations on the present basis. Large bands are going into corn belt feed lots at $4.50@4.85, one string of 2,500 selling at the outside figure yesterday, while plainer kinds ranged downwards to $3.50@4.00.

LIQUIDATION IN LARD

Scattered selling ordered by commission houses and traders, largely in the way of liquidation, combined with the break in grains and an easy tone in cotton, carried prices down to a close 2¼@27½c lower for the day, December and January leading the break. Liverpool was 6d higher, the latter on May. Cash trade was fair. Bellies were firmly held with January up 5c. Hog prices were generally steady, with receipts larger than a week ago but smaller than last year. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGGS STEADY

Closing prices of butter, egg and potato futures were about unchanged on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, trading being quiet. Butter was unchanged to ½c higher, eggs, ½c lower to ½c higher, and potatoes 1c higher to 1c lower. Support was fair in butter and eggs at the opening, prices moving up slowly, but pressure developed later, the markets dropping back. The holiday and the fact that the monthly storage report is due after the close tomorrow tended to check activity. Sales: Butter, 1,305,000 lbs; eggs, 828,000 doz; potatoes, 360,000 lbs. Deliveries: Butter, 5 cars storage standards; eggs, 14 cars refrigerator standards. Prices follow:

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The Nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Household's rate on all loans above $109 is almost one-third lower than the maximum permitted by the small-loan law. We voluntarily established this low rate in 1929, and our customers have benefited ever since. This rate remains the same until the loan is paid off. It does not increase as the unpaid balance decreases.

FOR EXAMPLE:
The average monthly cost of a $200 loan repaid in 20 equal monthly payments is $2.63. This is the lowest cost in Chicago.

Commonwealth Customers Pay LESS for LOANS

$2.93 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

COMMONWEALTH'S rate on amounts above $100 is substantially lower than the lawful rate usually charged.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signature of husband and wife usually are all that is necessary to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

THERE ARE NO fees or deductions. You may take 25 months or any all or part sooner. Interest, at the Reduced Rate, is charged only while you keep the money.

Also Salary and Auto Loans.

Hoover's Brother-in-Law Arrested as Dry Law Violator—City to Celebrate Armistice Signing Today

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

"FOUR OF A KIND" PROVES TO BE THE WINNING HAND IN RECENT ELECTION AT LANSING, MICH. Capitalizing the publicity he obtained in May, 1930, when he became the father of quadruplets, Carl A. Morlok used the above picture on his campaign card when he ran for constable. He was overwhelmingly elected over six opponents.
